Israel Mobilization Charged By Nasser

U.A.R. Leader Tells U.S. Keep Out Of Dispute

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—President Nasser accused Israel Monday of ordering mobilization and massing troops on the tense Syrian frontier, scene of recent clashes.

"Declarations are being made that the situation in the Middle East is deteriorating," the United Arab Republic's President told a rally called to celebrate the second anniversary of the Egypt-Syria union. He was referring to U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold's recent statement that the Middle East situation is worsening.

No Israeli Announcement

"But while these declarations are being made," Nasser continued, "Israel is massing troops and has declared mobilization of its armed forces."

(There has been no mobilization announcement from Israel).

Nasser in effect told the United States, Britain, and France to stand clear of the dispute between Israel and its Arab neighbors.

He said their tripartite declaration of 1950 guaranteeing Middle Eastern frontiers against attack "was buried in Port Said" in 1956 when the British and French attacked the Suez Canal Zone. Now, he added, the three powers want to revive the declaration.

Syrians Hail Nasser

This was a reference to a recent statement by British Foreign Minister Selwyn Lloyd that the Big Three Western powers were consulting about the situation in the Middle East and that the tripartite declaration still stands.

Syrians gave Nasser a tumultuous welcome as his plane arrived from central Syria, where he has been making a series of speeches. Crowds broke through police lines and embraced Nasser. Women showered him with roses as he drove through Damascus.

34 Arrests Halt Sitdown By Negroes

Richmond Students Defy Ban, Booked As Trespassers

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Thirty-four Negro students were booked on trespassing charges here Monday when they refused instructions to leave the food-serving areas of a big downtown department store.

At Hampton, Negroes staging a sitdown demonstration in protest of segregated eating facilities were served for the first time at a white lunch counter — but at exorbitant prices.

They bought coffee at $1 a cup, hot dogs at $1.45, barbecue buns at $1.50.

The Negroes arrested in the Richmond incident were students at Virginia Union University. Another 100 students perhaps were saved from arrest when university faculty members showed up and asked them to go home.

The students had crowded into Thalhimers Department Store to resume their sitdown protest of downtown Richmond eating establishments which began last Saturday.

Magistrates Summoned

When they were refused admittance to a fourth-floor tea room, some minor pushing and shoving occurred. Store officials asked them to leave.

They refused, and when another group stood fast at a first-floor lunch counter, two magistrates were summoned. Thalhimers officials swore out warrants after asking each individual:

"Will you please leave the store?" and "Do you realize we are charging you with trespassing if you stay?"

The Negroes were led away one by one and taken to jail, where they were released on $50 bond as fast as they were brought in. Their trial was set for March 4 in Police Court.

Maximum $100 Fine

Police said the trespassing charge, a misdemeanor, carried a maximum $100 fine.

In Florida, the state branch of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People called for more public protests against segregated eating facilities in business licensed to serve the public. The Rev. A. Leon Lowery, head of the Florida NAACP, said the NAACP would fully support such protests conducted in a peaceful way.

The Hampton lunch counter where Negroes were given high-priced service was at the Langley Sweet Shop. A waitress said she had been instructed to serve from the special list if any Negroes demanded service.

Ike Responds To Cheers

Eisenhower Hails Island As "Unique"

Two Rival Groups Demonstrate For, Against U.S. Ties

RAMEY AIR FORCE BASE, Puerto Rico (AP) — President Eisenhower, off on a visit to Latin American neighbors, stopped Monday in the United States' Commonwealth of Puerto Rico and hailed it as an example to other aspiring peoples.

He declared in an arrival speech that Puerto Rico is "truly unique" and said he was happy it is a "proud, free, self-governing commonwealth, joined to the United States of America by her own choice."

Two bands of demonstrators, both dissatisfied with Puerto Rico's status as a commonwealth, clamored outside San Juan's airport. One demanded independence, the other statehood.

But the President could have caught only a glimpse of them as his jet plane flashed by to a landing on the other side of the terminal at the Puerto Rican capital.

Placards Confiscated

One red 10-foot banner demanding "Independence Now" was stretched across the airport boundary by two men. They were luckier than other would-be demonstrators. Security police halted most outside the airport and confiscated their placards.

"These sticks are mighty handy as weapons if there is any trouble," said one officer of the placards.

An automobile caravan organized by those who want Puerto Rico to become the 51st state kept moving past the airport Administration Building. Signs reading "Fifty-One" — meaning 51st state —had been erected in San Juan and elsewhere in preparation for the President's coming.

A crowd of about 5,000, limited by police who closed some roads to the airport, greeted the President as his silver and orange plane touched down. Some on the observation platform held up signs reading "Welcome, Mr. President" in English and "Bienvenido" (welcome) in Spanish.

Schoolchildren, in a block of seats reserved for them, shouted "We like Ike, We like Ike."

Ike Naps En Route

Looking refreshed after a 90-minute nap on his flight from Washington, the President waved his hat and shook hands warmly with Gov. Luis Munoz Marin and members of a reception line that included Felisa Rincon de Gautier, San Juan's woman mayor.

The wind whipped the Stars and Stripes and Puerto Rico's one-star commonwealth flag as a 21-gun salute was fired and the American and Puerto Rican anthems were played. The temperature was in the mid-80s, and a brilliant sun was shining.

For mustached Munoz Marin, a staunch defender of the commonwealth, this was a great day. Welcoming the President, he said despite differences here as to how union with the United States should develop, so far as the great majority is concerned there is no difference "as to the fact that that union should be permanent."

The President and his party then accompanied Munoz Marin and the mayor to the VIP room of the modern airport building where they conferred for 20 minutes.

Ice Floe Taking 2 Fliers' Bodies Toward Siberia

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP)—A drifting ice floe was believed carrying bodies of two American polar bear hunters into Siberian waters Monday.

Ward Carroll, pilot and guide, and Stan Gordon, both of Anchorage, were killed when their light plane crashed Friday near Cape Lisburne, 300 miles north of Nome on the arctic coast.

Word relayed to Anchorage by George Kitchen, of Alaska Aeronautical Industries, indicated their plane hit an ice pressure ridge and was wrecked attempting a landing.

Monday Wien Alaska Airlines here said radio reports indicated the ice floe had broken off and was being pushed by strong winds to the northwest across the Chukchi Sea toward Siberia.

Parties set out from Kotzebue Saturday to recover the bodies. They could not find the wreckage or the ice area. No flying was scheduled out of Kotzebue Monday because of the weather.

Solon Says IRS Lie Tests Seek Scandal Tipster

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John J. Williams (R-Del.), said Monday the Internal Revenue Service has subjected some of its men to lie detector tests, trying to find out how he uncovered scandals in some of its affairs.

Williams charged that one of the tax agency's officials was fired after refusing to take a lie detector test on grounds it was an insulting request. Actually, the senator said, the man had never been one of his tipsters.

The revenue service confirmed the man was fired, but a spokesman said it was because he was involved in a multiplicity of things and not because of any information he had given Williams. The discharged official was not identified.

Williams told reporters the whole inquiry was undertaken without the knowledge of Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson, presumably a year or so ago. Williams said it was last April or May when he learned about the investigation and raised questions which, he said, resulted in a swift and embarrassed termination of the probe.

Newsweek magazine broke the story Monday.

Williams said he believes the investigation was started on orders from Russell C. Harrington, then internal revenue commissioner.

The senator said a Senate speech he had made set off the inquiry. This speech alleged that a New Jersey firm had been allowed to claim about $1,800,000 in payoffs to officials of the Dominican Republic as tax exempt business expenses.

Senate Leaders Face Decision On Rights Bills

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) Monday put off a decision on whether to lay aside the civil rights bill in order to pass appropriation bills.

He told reporters the Senate won't make the decision until faced with an actual money bill ready for debate and passage. When that time will come is uncertain.

Johnson spoke as majority leader of the Senate. The Republican leader, Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, said he would not oppose interrupting civil rights debate for appropriation bills if "it is only for an agreed, definite period."

Dirksen and Johnson face a bigger question, which they may act on this week: Should the Senate pass a bill of its own or adopt whatever the House passes.

Johnson obviously inclines to the latter action, reasoning that if there are two bills to be adjusted the whole thing might bog down in a parliamentary swamp.

Dirksen favors the Senate's going ahead on its own so it can pass a broader bill than the House is likely to favor. The House is not expected to go much beyond a provision under which federal officials could help Negroes vote in the Southern areas where they report discrimination.

Johnson referred to the question of laying aside the Senate's pending business—civil rights legislation—in favor of money bills.

"Our decision now is to pass a civil rights bill," he said. "We will decide when the appropriation bills are ready whether to lay civil rights aside.

Monday was the beginning of the second week of civil rights debate.

Nixon Entry Set In Pa. Primary

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hugh Scott (R-Pa) said Monday petitions will be filed Tuesday entering Vice President Richard M. Nixon's name in the Pennsylvania Republican presidential preference primary.

Scott said Nixon was aware of this intention by his supporters and was pleased.

However, Nixon's office said the vice president would not decide until Tuesday whether to authorize entering of his name in the primary.

Sukarno Wants Asian-African Summit Seats

SURABAJA, Indonesia (AP)—President Sukarno demanded Monday seats for Asia and Africa at the May summit conference in Paris. He challenged the ability of his guest, Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, and three Western leaders to settle the issues of the earth among themselves.

"Let all the leaders who are going to attend the summit meeting be convinced that there will not be world peace without a real solution of the Asian and African problems," Sukarno told 50,000 Indonesians at a rally for the visiting Khrushchev.

This Communist-run city is a Red stronghold on East Java, but Sukarno's ringing speech drew greater applause than the words of Khrushchev, who once more made light of U.S. strength and endurance in the cold war. He compared the United States to a worn-out marathon runner.

Khrushchev, however, got the biggest welcome of his Indonesian tour on his arrival from Jogjakarta. Officials estimated 300,000 had turned out to cheer his ride through the city's streets.

The Soviet Premier spoke first in the public square, smiling from the palm-fringed platform at a sea of cheering, flag-waving Indonesians.

"The Soviet Union openheartedly is prepared to extend to countries in the East not only moral or political support but also material support which will grow every year," Khrushchev said.

"Our competition in the economic field with the United States can be compared to a marathon race," he said. "We are still trailing the United States, but this does not mean anything because they started first. Now the speed of the United States is slower. They are exhausted."

After the 65-year-old Khrushchev had sat down to applause, Sukarno took over with an arm-waving speech that had the crowd applauding thunderously and yelling until his words were all but lost in the din.

E. German Mine Blast Kills 15 And Traps 45

BERLIN (UPI) —An explosion in the Karl Marx mine in Communist East Germany Monday killed at least 15 miners and trapped 45 others deep below ground, the East German ADN news agency announced.

It said the explosion occurred at 8:20 a.m. (2:20 a.m. e.s.t.) at the coal mine in Zwickau, when 100 miners were in the shaft during a change in shifts.

Forty of the men were rescued and 15 bodies were recovered. The other 45 men were trapped, ADN said they still were trapped at nightfall.

Zwickau is about 37 miles from Leipzig. ADN said the rescued miners suffered only slight injuries.

A government commission was sent to the scene to supervise rescue operations, the news agency said.

"The entire mine rescue service" of East Germany was called into action, it said.

The agency said cause of the explosion was not yet known. The 20-line ADN dispatch said the early day shift was "suddenly surprised by fire" as it entered the pit.

Flu Toll Reaches 39

BRESCIA, Italy (AP) — The death toll in a two-week onslaught of influenza at a neuropsychiatric hospital in nearby Pontevico rose Monday to 39. Five women patients died during the day. Among the 39 deaths since Feb. 9 were two nuns of the staff and 37 patients.

Ingrid Bergman's Daughter Married

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI)—Jennie Ann Lindstrom, 21, daughter of actress Ingrid Bergman, and Fuller E. Callaway III, 28, San Francisco, were married in Elko, Nev., Sunday night, it was announced Monday.

Callaway, who lives in San Francisco, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fuller E. Callaway Jr. of La Grange, Ga. His father is a textile manufacturer.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Georgia Tech and received a master's degree at Harvard graduate school.

The bride's father is Dr. Peter A. Lindstrom, who is divorced from Miss Bergman.

U.S. Red Party Wrecked By Stalin, Browder Says

NEW YORK (UPI) — Earl Browder said Monday that no less a personage that Joseph Stalin wrecked the U. S. Communist Party.

Browder, former chief American Communist who was purged from the party in 1945 as a "revisionist," said in an article in Harper's magazine that the late Russian dictator's decision to maintain the cold war was responsible for the U.S. party decaying into a group of "hard core fanatics."

Browder traced what he called the decline of the U.S. Red party to his own dismissal as party head because he favored "coexistence." Stalin, he said, wanted the cold war to replace the hot war of World War II to maintain his power.

Browder, writing in the March issue of Harper's, said the party "announcement" of his dismissal appeared in an article written by French Communist Jacque Duclos in a French journal. Browder said he was severely criticized in the article, and he feels certain now that Stalin was responsible for the attack.

"The Duclos letter condemned the American Communist Party to death," Browder said. "It put as its head William Z. Foster, an ultra-left sectarian who for 25 years had wrecked every organization on which he could place his hands. Foster ran true to form and soon wrecked the party which he sought to control."

Prior to this, Browder said, the party under his direction had been moving "steadily to the right."

Plane Located, Four Rescued

HELENA, Mont. (AP)—A private plane missing 24 hours in a Montana snowstorm was found Monday and the four persons aboard were rescued by helicopter.

The unidentified pilot of a searching plane radioed the Helena Airport he had made contact with the downed craft in mountains 12 miles southeast of here.

"A woman's voice in the airplane radioed, 'All okay'," he said.

The pilot said the plane appeared to have made "a light landing, coming down all right." One wing was buried in the snow.

Later a helicopter crew picked up the four—two men and two women—and carried them to Winston, Mont.

The plane disappeared Sunday on a flight from Great Falls, Mont., to Las Vegas, Nev.

It carried Jack Flynn Sr., 36; his wife, Florence, 34; Flynn's attorney, Ernest McCabe, 41, and McCabe's wife, Aileen, 40. Flynn is a Great Falls steel building contractor.

Rumors Of Royal Romance Revived

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Two-year-old rumors of a romance between Princess Maria Gabriela of Savoy and Prince Juan Carlos of Spain were revived Monday by their being together at a wolf hunt. The 20-year-old princess, whose name was linked romantically with that of the Shah of Iran last year, is the daughter of ex-King Umberto II of Italy. Juan Carlos, 22, is the son of the pretender to the Spanish Throne. Both are in a hunting party at the estate of Dr. Augusto Correia at Palmela in northern Portugal.

Harrisonburg Fire Kills Five

HARRISONBURG, Va. (AP)—Fire raged through a rooming house in this Shenandoah Valley city early Monday, killing five and sending eight others to a hospital. Two of the dead were children.

"When I awoke the whole house was in flames," said Mrs. Harry Hoffman, 29, mother of the two young victims. "My husband had to throw three babies out of the (second story) window. But he couldn't get the other two. We lost everything."

Mrs. Hoffman was not hurt. Her husband, Harry, 34, was hospitalized with head and shoulder burns.

Dead in the fire that wrecked the three-story, 40-year-old brick building were the Hoffman children, Mary Elizabeth, 5, and Harry Jr., 4; Otis Rowan, 57 and Claude Bowman, 70. Clarence B. Davis, 67, a blind cripple, died a few hours after the fire in a local hospital.

Three other Hoffman children were among the eight hospitalized with burns. None of the eight was injured critically.

Authorities did not make public any speculation or findings on the fire's cause.

U. Of Calif. Dean Accepts Police Post At Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — Orlando W. Wilson, dean of the University of California School of Criminology and an expert in police administration, Monday was named commissioner of Chicago's scandal-scarred police department.

Mayor Richard J. Daley announced the appointment upon recommendation of a special five-man committee which said it preferred the 60-year-old Wilson for his "integrity, professional skills and on the test of experience."

The committee also proposed broad sweeping revisions in the set up of the department.

Wilson had been chairman of the committee which interviewed 53 prospects for the post, but stepped down when prevailed upon by the committee to take the job himself.

Daley cited Wilson as "one of the most outstanding men in the country" and said he will make the appointment March 2, 1960 and will recommend a salary of $30,000 a year.

Timothy J. O'Connor, former commissioner, made $22,500 a year when he stepped down Jan. 23 in the wake of a scandal which linked several police officers to a burglary ring.

"Ben-Hur" Wins Dozen Oscar Race Nominations

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — "Ben-Hur," the most expensive motion picture ever made, won 12 nominations Monday in the 32nd annual Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences Oscar race.

The fifteen million dollar film led "The Diary of Anne Frank" which tied the "Nun's Story" with eight nominations. "Anatomy of a Murder" won seven.

"Ben-Hur" star Charlton Heston was nominated for best actor of 1959, along with Laurence Harvey (Room at the Top), Jack Lemmon (Some Like it Hot), Paul Muni (The Last Angry Man) and James Stewart (Anatomy of a Murder).

Best actress nominees were: Doris Day (Pillow Talk), Audrey Hepburn (The Nun's Story), Simore Signoret (Room at the Top), and Elizabeth Taylor and Katharine Hepburn (Suddenly Last Summer).

In addition to "Ben-Hur" the other pictures nominated for an Oscar were "Anatomy of a Murder," "The Diary of Anne Frank," "The Nun's Story" and "Room at the Top."

Finalists in the race for best supporting actress were Shelley Winters (The Diary of Anne Frank), Thelma Ritter (Pillow Talk), Juanita Moore and Susan Kohner (Imitation of Life), Hermione Baddeley (Room at the Top).

Best supporting actor nominations went to Ed Wynn (The Diary of Anne Frank), Robert Vaughn (The Young Philadelphians), George Scott and Arthur O'Connell (Anatomy of a Murder) and Hugh Griffith (Ben-Hur).

The awards will be presented April 4 during a nation-wide telecast.

Johnson spoke as majority leader of the Senate. The Republican leader, Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, said he would not oppose interrupting civil rights debate for appropriation bills if "it is only for an agreed, definite period."

Dirksen and Johnson face a bigger question, which they may act on this week: Should the Senate pass a bill of its own or adopt whatever the House passes.

Johnson obviously inclines to the latter action, reasoning that if there are two bills to be adjusted the whole thing might bog down in a parliamentary swamp.

Dirksen favors the Senate's going ahead on its own so it can pass a broader bill than the House is likely to favor. The House is not expected to go much beyond a provision under which federal officials could help Negroes vote in the Southern areas where they report discrimination.

Johnson referred to the question of laying aside the Senate's pending business—civil rights legislation—in favor of money bills.

"Our decision now is to pass a civil rights bill," he said. "We will decide when the appropriation bills are ready whether to lay civil rights aside.

Monday was the beginning of the second week of civil rights debate.

Nixon Entry Set In Pa. Primary

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hugh Scott (R-Pa) said Monday petitions will be filed Tuesday entering Vice President Richard M. Nixon's name in the Pennsylvania Republican presidential preference primary.

Scott said Nixon was aware of this intention by his supporters and was pleased.

However, Nixon's office said the vice president would not decide until Tuesday whether to authorize entering of his name in the primary.

Sukarno Wants Asian-African Summit Seats

SURABAJA, Indonesia (AP)—President Sukarno demanded Monday seats for Asia and Africa at the May summit conference in Paris. He challenged the ability of his guest, Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, and three Western leaders to settle the issues of the earth among themselves.

"Let all the leaders who are going to attend the summit meeting be convinced that there will not be world peace without a real solution of the Asian and African problems," Sukarno told 50,000 Indonesians at a rally for the visiting Khrushchev.

This Communist-run city is a Red stronghold on East Java, but Sukarno's ringing speech drew greater applause than the words of Khrushchev, who once more made light of U.S. strength and endurance in the cold war. He compared the United States to a worn-out marathon runner.

Khrushchev, however, got the biggest welcome of his Indonesian tour on his arrival from Jogjakarta. Officials estimated 300,000 had turned out to cheer his ride through the city's streets.

The Soviet Premier spoke first in the public square, smiling from the palm-fringed platform at a sea of cheering, flag-waving Indonesians.

"The Soviet Union openheartedly is prepared to extend to countries in the East not only moral or political support but also material support which will grow every year," Khrushchev said.

"Our competition in the economic field with the United States can be compared to a marathon race," he said. "We are still trailing the United States, but this does not mean anything because they started first. Now the speed of the United States is slower. They are exhausted."

After the 65-year-old Khrushchev had sat down to applause, Sukarno took over with an arm-waving speech that had the crowd applauding thunderously and yelling until his words were all but lost in the din.

E. German Mine Blast Kills 15 And Traps 45

BERLIN (UPI) —An explosion in the Karl Marx mine in Communist East Germany Monday killed at least 15 miners and trapped 45 others deep below ground, the East German ADN news agency announced.

It said the explosion occurred at 8:20 a.m. (2:20 a.m. e.s.t.) at the coal mine in Zwickau, when 100 miners were in the shaft during a change in shifts.

Forty of the men were rescued and 15 bodies were recovered. The other 45 men were trapped ADN said they still were trapped at nightfall.

Zwickau is about 37 miles from Leipzig. ADN said the rescued miners suffered only slight injuries.

A government commission was sent to the scene to supervise rescue operations, the news agency said.

"The entire mine rescue service" of East Germany was called into action, it said.

The agency said cause of the explosion was not yet known. The 20-line ADN dispatch said the early day shift was "suddenly surprised by fire" as it entered the pit.

Flu Toll Reaches 39

BRESCIA, Italy (AP) — The death toll in a two-week onslaught of influenza at a neuropsychiatric hospital in nearby Pontevico rose Monday to 39. Five women patients died during the day. Among the 39 deaths since Feb. 9 were two nuns of the staff and 37 patients.

Ingrid Bergman's Daughter Married

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI)—Jennie Ann Lindstrom, 21, daughter of actress Ingrid Bergman, and Fuller E. Callaway III, 28, San Francisco, were married in Elko, Nev., Sunday night, it was announced Monday.

Callaway, who lives in San Francisco, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fuller E. Callaway Jr. of La Grange, Ga. His father is a textile manufacturer.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Georgia Tech and received a master's degree at Harvard graduate school.

The bride's father is Dr. Peter A. Lindstrom, who is divorced from Miss Bergman.

U.S. Red Party Wrecked By Stalin, Browder Says

NEW YORK (UPI) — Earl Browder said Monday that no less a personage that Joseph Stalin wrecked the U. S. Communist Party.

Browder, former chief American Communist who was purged from the party in 1945 as a "revisionist," said in an article in Harper's magazine that the late Russian dictator's decision to maintain the cold war was responsible for the U.S. party decaying into a group of "hard core fanatics."

Browder traced what he called the decline of the U.S. Red party to his own dismissal as party head because he favored "coexistence." Stalin, he said, wanted the cold war to replace the hot war of World War II to maintain his power.

Browder, writing in the March issue of Harper's, said the party "announcement" of his dismissal appeared in an article written by French Communist Jacque Duclos in a French journal. Browder said he was severely criticized in the article, and he feels certain now that Stalin was responsible for the attack.

"The Duclos letter condemned the American Communist Party to death," Browder said. "It put as its head William Z. Foster, an ultra-left sectarian who for 25 years had wrecked every organization on which he could place his hands. Foster ran true to form and soon wrecked the party which he sought to control."

Prior to this, Browder said, the party under his direction had been moving "steadily to the right."

Rumors Of Royal Romance Revived

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Two-year-old rumors of a romance between Princess Maria Gabriela of Savoy and Prince Juan Carlos of Spain were revived Monday by their being together at a wolf hunt. The 20-year-old princess, whose name was linked romantically with that of the Shah of Iran last year, is the daughter of ex-King Umberto II of Italy. Juan Carlos, 22, is the son of the pretender to the Spanish Throne. Both are in a hunting party at the estate of Dr. Augusto Correia at Palmela in northern Portugal.

Harrisonburg Fire Kills Five

HARRISONBURG, Va. (AP)—Fire raged through a rooming house in this Shenandoah Valley city early Monday, killing five and sending eight others to a hospital. Two of the dead were children.

"When I awoke the whole house was in flames," said Mrs. Harry Hoffman, 29, mother of the two young victims. "My husband had to throw three babies out of the (second story) window. But he couldn't get the other two. We lost everything."

Mrs. Hoffman was not hurt. Her husband, Harry, 34, was hospitalized with head and shoulder burns.

Dead in the fire that wrecked the three-story, 40-year-old brick building were the Hoffman children, Mary Elizabeth, 5, and Harry Jr., 4; Otis Rowan, 57 and Claude Bowman, 70. Clarence B. Davis, 67, a blind cripple, died a few hours after the fire in a local hospital.

Three other Hoffman children were among the eight hospitalized with burns. None of the eight was injured critically.

Authorities did not make public any speculation or findings on the fire's cause.

U. Of Calif. Dean Accepts Police Post At Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — Orlando W. Wilson, dean of the University of California School of Criminology and an expert in police administration, Monday was named commissioner of Chicago's scandal-scarred police department.

Mayor Richard J. Daley announced the appointment upon recommendation of a special five-man committee which said it preferred the 60-year-old Wilson for his "integrity, professional skills and on the test of experience."

The committee also proposed broad sweeping revisions in the set up of the department.

Wilson had been chairman of the committee which interviewed 53 prospects for the post, but stepped down when prevailed upon by the committee to take the job himself.

Daley cited Wilson as "one of the most outstanding men in the country" and said he will make the appointment March 2, 1960 and will recommend a salary of $30,000 a year.

Timothy J. O'Connor, former commissioner, made $22,500 a year when he stepped down Jan. 23 in the wake of a scandal which linked several police officers to a burglary ring.

"Ben-Hur" Wins Dozen Oscar Race Nominations

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — "Ben-Hur," the most expensive motion picture ever made, won 12 nominations Monday in the 32nd annual Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences Oscar race.

The fifteen million dollar film led "The Diary of Anne Frank" which tied the "Nun's Story" with eight nominations. "Anatomy of a Murder" won seven.

"Ben-Hur" star Charlton Heston was nominated for best actor of 1959, along with Laurence Harvey (Room at the Top), Jack Lemmon (Some Like it Hot), Paul Muni (The Last Angry Man) and James Stewart (Anatomy of a Murder).

Best actress nominees were: Doris Day (Pillow Talk), Audrey Hepburn (The Nun's Story), Simore Signoret (Room at the Top), and Elizabeth Taylor and Katharine Hepburn (Suddenly Last Summer).

In addition to "Ben-Hur" the other pictures nominated for an Oscar were "Anatomy of a Murder," "The Diary of Anne Frank," "The Nun's Story" and "Room at the Top."

Finalists in the race for best supporting actress were Shelley Winters (The Diary of Anne Frank), Thelma Ritter (Pillow Talk), Juanita Moore and Susan Kohner (Imitation of Life), Hermione Baddeley (Room at the Top).

Best supporting actor nominations went to Ed Wynn (The Diary of Anne Frank), Robert Vaughn (The Young Philadelphians), George Scott and Arthur O'Connell (Anatomy of a Murder) and Hugh Griffith (Ben-Hur).

The awards will be presented April 4 during a nation-wide telecast.

U.S. Industry May Export Know-How To Red Bloc

Commerce Dept. Approves Project

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Commerce Frederick H. Mueller said Monday U.S. industry soon may be exporting millions of dollars worth of American know-how to Communist countries.

In a quarterly report to Congress on East-West trade, Mueller said the Commerce Department has given advance approval of such a development.

At the same time, Mueller said, 30½ million dollars worth of American goods were licensed for shipment to the Communist countries in the final three months of 1959. This was the highest level in eight years.

In addition to licensing goods, the commerce chief said, advance approval was given for the possible transfer later of technical data in a wide range of industrial fields.

Whether the data actually will be exported depends on whether the American companies involved win contracts for setting up industrial plants for the Communists.

Mueller said that if private American offers are accepted by the Red countries, U.S. business will collect "many millions of dollars." He said the various projects would call for exporting design, technical data, engineering and construction services, and materials and equipment.

Plants may be set up in such fields as the production of plastics, pulp and paper, tire cord, manufactured gas, phosphoric acid, fertilizer, textiles, heating equipment for railway cars, and other industrial items.

Businessmen sought advance approval for the projects because of the expense involved in preparing bids. Approval was given under the export control law which is designed to curb exports that would harm national security, thwart U.S. foreign policy, or threaten the economy.

School Walkout 'Notice' Ignored

TOWSON, Md. (AP)—Two students at Towson Senior High School were suspended Monday for trying to organize a student walkout to protest attending school on George Washington's birthday.

Principal W. Horace Wheeler said one boy was found writing a call for the walkout on a blackboard and the other was found posting a written notice in a hallway calling for students to "file out in an orderly manner" at 12:15 p. m.

The notice urged students to leave for the rest of the day "so we may start the beginning of a holiday in honor of the father of our country."

Leaders of the movement apparently objected to students in Baltimore City and other counties having the day off.

After learning of the proposed walkout, school officials announced over classroom loudspeakers that anyone failing to return after lunch would be suspended. Wheeler said the 1,700-member student body ignored the posted notice.

The principal said one of the youths was reinstated after a talk with his parents. A conference was being arranged with parents of the other boy.

Hopkins White, Negro Students Stage Protest

BALTIMORE (AP) — A group of 35 students at Johns Hopkins University — including five Negroes — staged a brief sitdown demonstration at a small restaurant near the campus Monday.

They visited the Blue Jay Restaurant twice but got inside only once. Police were waiting for them and there was no disturbance either time. The students said they would be back Tuesday.

Five students, identifying themselves as leaders of the group, said the purpose was to protest the restaurant's refusal to serve students of all races.

One of the leaders is Robert Reinhold, Brooklyn, N. Y. sophomore, who is news editor of the News-Letter, Johns Hopkins student newspaper.

Reinhold said the student paper has been running editorials for the past three or four weeks urging equal facilities for Hopkins students of all races in the area near the North Baltimore campus. Restaurants — including the Blue Jay —have been mentioned by name.

Besides Reinhold, the leaders are Donald Perry of Baltimore, a junior and the only Negro among the leaders, and three seniors—John Katz of Ridgefield, Conn.; Carl Rinzler of Passaic, N. J., and Jack Alpert of Maplewood, N. J.

The students gathered on the campus at 4:15, walked four blocks south to the restaurant, sat down and asked to be served. The proprietor, Fred Paxenos, refused.

A sergeant in charge of 13 policemen told the students the place was closing and they must leave. The students, and several other customers left.

When they returned a short time later with three or four more students in the group, they found the restaurant open again. Paxenos met them at the door. He told them they must leave or face arrest, calling to a policeman half a block away as he said it.

South American Pronunciations May Stump Ike

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—President Eisenhower will run into all sorts of pronunciations in South America.

Brazil speaks Portuguese, while the other three countries on his route—Argentina, Chile, and Uruguay — converse in Spanish. But things don't stop there. In Buenos Aires the Spanish word for street, Calle, is pronounced cah-zhey. In Chile a street is a cahl-yay, the pronunciation favored in most of the Spanish-speaking world.

In Brazil Eisenhower may sample a squash called the xu-xu and pronounced shoe-shoe, with the accent on the second shoe. The hotel Eisenhower will visit at Bariloche, Argentina, is called the llao-llao, pronounced approximately zhaow-zhaow.

Bargain-Hunting Crowds Storm D.C.-Area Stores

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bargain hunters—some after an all night wait — flocked into Washington area stores Monday for the annual Washington's Birthday sale.

Among the advertised items were an automobile for $9 and typewriters for 99 cents.

One hardy soul, Michael Ostergard, 16, of Arlington, Va., braved snow and cold to wait in front of a pawnshop from 11 p.m. Sunday night to 7:30 Monday morning when the shop opened.

He charged home with a press camera under his arm — price, $19.

The sale proved a tourist attraction for Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Ditto, of Mays Landing, N.J. They lined up in front of an appliance store.

"My wife has always wanted to go to one of these sales," Ditto said, "so here we are."

In Baltimore, downtown crowds were of pre-Christmas size as bargain hunters stormed the stores. A class of 60 recruits from the Police Academy helped regular policeman to control traffic.

One large department store, which offered mink at 20 per cent off as one of its discount enticers, said almost 1,000 customers were ready for the 9:30 a.m. opening.

Another store official said most of its office help and maintenance personnel was used to help handle the crowds.

One store observed the holiday by offering the first 200 customers a crisp one dollar bill—bearing George Washington's picture, of course—for 87 cents.

Four-foot cherry trees were offered to the first 500 women to visit one shopping center.

Kennedy Grant Funds Received By University

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Johns Hopkins medical institutions Monday received the first installment of a $1,261,000 grant to establish extensive research into the causes of mental retardation and to help erect a new children's medical center.

The presentation was made to Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, president of the university, by Edward M. Kennedy and Robert Sargent Shriver on behalf of the Joseph P. Kennedy Jr. Foundation.

The grant includes one million dollars to be used in mental retardation research over a 10-year period and $150,000 for establishment of 10 beds at the proposed children's medical center.

Dr. Eisenhower said the new program "will be able to make a contribution of real significance to the nation and to the advance of medical science.

"The Kennedy scholars will be chosen from among the most distinguished medical research scientists in the world, and they will work here in close association with scholars of known excellence in the basic and applied sciences related to medicine," he said.

The Kennedy Foundation was established by Joseph P. Kennedy, former Ambassador to Great Britain, in memory of his son who was killed in World War II. Among its officers are Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) and his brother, Robert, former counsel for the Senate Rackets Committee.

FTC Accuses Giant Chain Of Deception

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Trade Commission Monday charged that Giant Food, Inc., operating more than 40 retail stores in Maryland, Virginia and Washington, D.C., has made deceptive pricing and savings claims.

The commission complained of Giant's advertising of small appliances and housewares. The advertisements listed prices substantially below what were described as the "regular price" or "manufacturer list price".

FTC said the advertising misrepresented that the "regular price" amounts were the usual retail prices charged by Giant in the regular course of business, and that the "manufacturer" prices were not the usual retail price of the products but were "greatly excessive."

Jobless Man, 38, Ends Life As His Son, 11, Watches

BALTIMORE (AP) — Baltimore police reported Monday that a 38-year-old, unemployed shipyard worker shot and killed himself as his 11-year-old son watched.

Police summoned by the son, Joseph, Sunday evening, found the body of Robert Lewis between the kitchen and dining room at his home in southwest Baltimore.

Joseph told police that when he came indoors from playing, his father shouted for him to leave. As the boy turned toward the door he saw his father lift a rifle to his face and fire.

Mrs. Lewis told police her husband had been drinking heavily since he was laid off four days previously and was despondent. She said he had threatened suicide on other occasions.

Cubans Renew Blasts At U.S. For Aid Raids

HAVANA (AP) — The semiofficial newspaper Revolucion renewed Monday Cuban accusations that Florida is being used as a base for air bombing attacks like the one that shook Havana's suburbs Sunday.

The newspaper repeated demands that Washington crack down on sneak flights.

The United States apologized to Cuba last Friday after a private Florida - based plane crashed Thursday killing the two Americans aboard. Prime Minister Fidel Castro said the plane was attempting to bomb a sugar mill 100 miles east of Havana when it's explosive cargo went off prematurely.

Sunday night the army said a B25 bomber of World War II vintage dropped four bombs in the towns of Cojimar and Regla, about eight miles northeast of downtown Havana.

The apparent targets were the adjoining American-owned Shell and Esso oil refineries in the industrial town of Regla. Castro has a villa in nearby Cojimar.

Revolucion called the American expression of regret "feigned sorrow" and asked for "something more than statements by the North American Department of State."

The raids have served to rally pro-Castro spirit here.

Mysterious light planes have been reported flying over Havana or landing nearby almost every night in recent months. The Cuban air force says it has watchdog patrol planes in the air day and night. These never have managed to intercept any intruders.

Extradition Of Accused Abortionist Is Refused

Tawes Bases Decision On Name Mixup

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. Tawes refused Monday to extradite to Pennsylvania a 54-year-old Baltimore County dairy farmer charged with performing three abortions in York County, Pa. Nov. 21, 1958.

His refusal was based on grounds that the indictment and extradition papers named Charles Christopher Campbell whereas the defendant's real name is Christopher Columbus Campbell.

The decision was read some two hours after Gov. Tawes and special Asst. Atty. Gen. Joseph D. Buscher completed a two-hour hearing in the case.

"I am shocked," York County District Atty. Frank B. Boyle told Buscher. "It is absolutely fantastic you can do this . . . the preponderance of evidence shows this is the same man."

Boyle had shown the governor pictures taken during a raid on an alleged abortion mill in a house in Heidelberg Township the night of Nov. 21, 1958.

Cpl. James D. Knipple of the Pennsylvania State Police, who took the pictures, testified that Campbell was the same man shown in the pictures with his "abortion" paraphernalia, as did Cpl. Alfred J. Corkran, who conducted the raid. One of the pictures was a close-up "mug shot" made by the police.

Other Pennsylvania witnesses testified that Campbell was the same man booked at the State Police barracks and at the York County jail before his release under $25,000 bond.

All of the Pennsylvania papers, however, including those with his purported signature, bore the name Charles Christopher Campbell or Charles C. Campbell.

Campbell testified that was the name of his 19-year-old son. He denied the signature on a receipt under which police said they returned $9,000 in cash and a driver's license taken from the man arrested.

A Baltimore County farm neighbor, Henry Lory, testified that Campbell was known to all residents of that area as "Chris Campbell."

He also testified they were together at a cattle sale in Frederick, Md. the day of Nov. 21, when Campbell is alleged to have committed the Pennsylvania crimes that night. He said he left him at home about 7 or 8 o'clock.

James A. Pine, Campbell's attorney and a Maryland state senator from Baltimore County, produced Campbell's social security card and driver's license, bearing the names Christopher C. and Christopher Columbus Campbell.

Gov. Tawes cited previous extradition findings in Maryland for refusing to grant extradition because of a different name in the requesting state's indictment.

He said he was aware that the state's attorney could amend the indictment but "this mistake is one of substance and the indictment, as drawn, is not sufficient to support for extradition."

The Pentagon is the world's largest office building.

When they returned a short time later with three or four more students in the group, they found the restaurant open again. Paxenos met them at the door. He told them they must leave or face arrest, calling to a policeman half a block away as he said it.

Bargain-Hunting Crowds Storm D.C.-Area Stores

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bargain hunters—some after an all night wait — flocked into Washington area stores Monday for the annual Washington's Birthday sale.

Among the advertised items were an automobile for $9 and typewriters for 99 cents.

One hardy soul, Michael Ostergard, 16, of Arlington, Va., braved snow and cold to wait in front of a pawnshop from 11 p.m. Sunday night to 7:30 Monday morning when the shop opened.

He charged home with a press camera under his arm — price, $19.

The sale proved a tourist attraction for Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Ditto, of Mays Landing, N.J. They lined up in front of an appliance store.

"My wife has always wanted to go to one of these sales," Ditto said, "so here we are."

In Baltimore, downtown crowds were of pre-Christmas size as bargain hunters stormed the stores. A class of 60 recruits from the Police Academy helped regular policeman to control traffic.

One large department store, which offered mink at 20 per cent off as one of its discount enticers, said almost 1,000 customers were ready for the 9:30 a.m. opening.

Another store official said most of its office help and maintenance personnel was used to help handle the crowds.

One store observed the holiday by offering the first 200 customers a crisp one dollar bill—bearing George Washington's picture, of course—for 87 cents.

Four-foot cherry trees were offered to the first 500 women to visit one shopping center.

Kennedy Grant Funds Received By University

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Johns Hopkins medical institutions Monday received the first installment of a $1,261,000 grant to establish extensive research into the causes of mental retardation and to help erect a new children's medical center.

The presentation was made to Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, president of the university, by Edward M. Kennedy and Robert Sargent Shriver on behalf of the Joseph P. Kennedy Jr. Foundation.

The grant includes one million dollars to be used in mental retardation research over a 10-year period and $150,000 for establishment of 10 beds at the proposed children's medical center.

Dr. Eisenhower said the new program "will be able to make a contribution of real significance to the nation and to the advance of medical science.

"The Kennedy scholars will be chosen from among the most distinguished medical research scientists in the world, and they will work here in close association with scholars of known excellence in the basic and applied sciences related to medicine," he said.

The Kennedy Foundation was established by Joseph P. Kennedy, former Ambassador to Great Britain, in memory of his son who was killed in World War II. Among its officers are Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) and his brother, Robert, former counsel for the Senate Rackets Committee.

Jobless Man, 38, Ends Life As His Son, 11, Watches

BALTIMORE (AP) — Baltimore police reported Monday that a 38-year-old, unemployed shipyard worker shot and killed himself as his 11-year-old son watched.

Police summoned by the son, Joseph, Sunday evening, found the body of Robert Lewis between the kitchen and dining room at his home in southwest Baltimore.

Joseph told police that when he came indoors from playing, his father shouted for him to leave. As the boy turned toward the door he saw his father lift a rifle to his face and fire.

Mrs. Lewis told police her husband had been drinking heavily since he was laid off four days previously and was despondent. She said he had threatened suicide on other occasions.

Jewish Youth Heads Catholic High Class

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — The president of Catholic High School's senior class is Maurice Cawn, 17. He's also the "most popular" senior by vote of his classmates at the Roman Catholic school.

Maurice is Jewish.

He's in his third year at the school, where he says his class work is getting attention he found it couldn't get in larger schools.

"I like the teaching, and I like the students," he said.

Investment Banker Dies At Baltimore

Born in Frederick County, Kidd was a veteran of World War I. He was a partner of Stein Brothers and Boyce, Bankers, of Baltimore.

Cubans Renew Blasts At U.S. For Aid Raids

HAVANA (AP) — The semiofficial newspaper Revolucion renewed Monday Cuban accusations that Florida, is being used as a base for air bombing attacks like the one that shook Havana's suburbs Sunday.

The newspaper repeated demands that Washington crack down on sneak flights.

The United States apologized to Cuba last Friday after a private Florida - based plane crashed Thursday killing the two Americans aboard. Prime Minister Fidel Castro said the plane was attempting to bomb a sugar mill 100 miles east of Havana when it's explosive cargo went off prematurely.

Sunday night the army said a B25 bomber of World War II vintage dropped four bombs in the towns of Cojimar and Regla, about eight miles northeast of downtown Havana.

The apparent targets were the adjoining American-owned Shell and Esso oil refineries in the industrial town of Regla. Castro has a villa in nearby Cojimar.

Revolucion called the American expression of regret "feigned sorrow" and asked for "something more than statements by the North American Department of State."

The raids have served to rally pro-Castro spirit here.

Mysterious light planes have been reported flying over Havana or landing nearby almost every night in recent months. The Cuban air force says it has watchdog patrol planes in the air day and night. These never have managed to intercept any intruders.

Extradition Of Accused Abortionist Is Refused

Tawes Bases Decision On Name Mixup

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. Tawes refused Monday to extradite to Pennsylvania a 54-year-old Baltimore County dairy farmer charged with performing three abortions in York County, Pa. Nov. 21, 1958.

His refusal was based on grounds that the indictment and extradition papers named Charles Christopher Campbell whereas the defendant's real name is Christopher Columbus Campbell.

The decision was read some two hours after Gov. Tawes and special Asst. Atty. Gen. Joseph D. Buscher completed a two-hour hearing in the case.

"I am shocked," York County District Atty. Frank B. Boyle told Buscher. "It is absolutely fantastic you can do this . . . the preponderance of evidence shows this is the same man."

Boyle had shown the governor pictures taken during a raid on an alleged abortion mill in a house in Heidelberg Township the night of Nov. 21, 1958.

Cpl. James D. Knipple of the Pennsylvania State Police, who took the pictures, testified that Campbell was the same man shown in the pictures with his "abortion" paraphernalia, as did Cpl. Alfred J. Corkran, who conducted the raid. One of the pictures was a close-up "mug shot" made by the police.

Other Pennsylvania witnesses testified that Campbell was the same man booked at the State Police barracks and at the York County jail before his release under $25,000 bond.

All of the Pennsylvania papers, however, including those with his purported signature, bore the name Charles Christopher Campbell or Charles C. Campbell.

Campbell testified that was the name of his 19-year-old son. He denied the signature on a receipt under which police said they returned $9,000 in cash and a driver's license taken from the man arrested.

A Baltimore County farm neighbor, Henry Lory, testified that Campbell was known to all residents of that area as "Chris Campbell."

He also testified they were together at a cattle sale in Frederick, Md. the day of Nov. 21, when Campbell is alleged to have committed the Pennsylvania crimes that night. He said he left him at home about 7 or 8 o'clock.

James A. Pine, Campbell's attorney and a Maryland state senator from Baltimore County, produced Campbell's social security card and driver's license, bearing the names Christopher C. and Christopher Columbus Campbell.

Gov. Tawes cited previous extradition findings in Maryland for refusing to grant extradition because of a different name in the requesting state's indictment.

He said he was aware that the state's attorney could amend the indictment but "this mistake is one of substance and the indictment, as drawn, is not sufficient to support for extradition."

The Pentagon is the world's largest office building.

South American Pronunciations May Stump Ike

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—President Eisenhower will run into all sorts of pronunciations in South America.

Brazil speaks Portuguese, while the other three countries on his route—Argentina, Chile, and Uruguay — converse in Spanish. But things don't stop there. In Buenos Aires the Spanish word for street, Calle, is pronounced cah-zhey. In Chile a street is a cahl-yay, the pronunciation favored in most of the Spanish-speaking world.

In Brazil Eisenhower may sample a squash called the xu-xu and pronounced shoe-shoe, with the accent on the second shoe. The hotel Eisenhower will visit at Bariloche, Argentina, is called the llao-llao, pronounced approximately zhaow-zhaow.

FTC Accuses Giant Chain Of Deception

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Trade Commission Monday charged that Giant Food, Inc., operating more than 40 retail stores in Maryland, Virginia and Washington, D.C., has made deceptive pricing and savings claims.

The commission complained of Giant's advertising of small appliances and housewares. The advertisements listed prices substantially below what were described as the "regular price" or "manufacturer list price".

FTC said the advertising misrepresented that the "regular price" amounts were the usual retail prices charged by Giant in the regular course of business, and that the "manufacturer" prices were not the usual retail price of the products but were "greatly excessive."

Plots, Revolts Unknown In Uruguay, Last Stop On Ike's Tour

Editor's Note — This is the last in a series of four background stories on the South American countries President Eisenhower will visit this month. It was written by an Associated Press staff man stationed in Uruguay — the last stop on the President's four-nation tour.

By JOSE MARIA ORLANDO

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) —Uruguay, President Eisenhower's last stop on his South American tour, is a cultured pro-Western country with a history of free and easy living.

But Uruguay is painfully waking up to some harsh realities after a welfare state dream that has been choking the country's finances for years while giving its people a feeling of plenty.

A new conservative government is putting the country on a strict diet to put it back on its feet. Most observers believe the plan will succeed, but it's going to take time.

Meanwhile, the three million Uruguayans pride themselves on being the only Latin American nation where plots and revolts are unknown, where elections are clean and politicians serve out their terms and then retire peacefully.

This country, with a cattle-and-wool and small industry economy, shares with Argentina the lowest illiteracy rate in Latin America.

Uruguay is called sometimes "The Switzerland of the Western Hemisphere." And even the government is modeled on that of Switzerland's.

A nine-man "board of directors" heads the administration instead of a single president. It includes six men from the majority party and three from the second best.

President Martin Echegoyan is a 67-year-old lawyer and teacher. But the day before Eisenhower gets here, a new president will take over the government council. The council's presidency rotates yearly among four of the six majority members, for the body's four-year term.

The new president is Benito Nardone, 53, a newcomer to Uruguayan politics. A fierce anti-Communist, he blasts Reds and anybody else in a daily radio program. He won election to the government council on the conservative National party ticket, with the backing of his peasant following.

Although governments have been always staunchly pro-Western, the Communist party is legal here. Uruguayans believe in letting everybody do or say what he wants.

The Reds got 5 per cent of the votes in the last election and put two men in the 99-member House of Representatives. As in many other Latin American nations, they have successfully infiltrated some students organizations and unions. The Soviet Embassy here, with an over-sized staff of 80 people, against six Uruguayans in Moscow, is believed the center of a propaganda and subversive ring for South America.

Today we have 65 million people at work. Ten years from now we'll have 81 million people at work. These new jobs can be provided because our swelling population will be needing new buildings, new roads, new products, new services—more of everything.

Creating these 16 million new jobs and financing all this growth is going to take dollars.

If we don't take steps now to stabilize the purchasing power of the dollar, we run the risk of another round of inflation with prices going still higher and purchasing power of paychecks dropping even lower.

There are two equally important ways of providing this growth money without inflation: individual savings . . . and prudent government spending. And one can't do the job without the other.

Individual savings are usually thought of in a personal sense—something we do just for ourselves and our family's future. But life insurance and other forms of savings do much more. They will help finance the millions of new jobs we're going to need in the Sixties. And because these dollars we save are dollars we don't spend now, they also help curb inflation and help preserve the purchasing power of the dollar.

Prudent government spending. Of course, government must provide for many projects and services in the Sixties. But prudent government spending may require that some projects, however desirable, either have to be reduced or postponed . . . or taxes increased to pay for them. We can all help by letting our representatives know that we expect government to live within its income and thus help preserve the value of the dollar in this expansion.

If we step up our savings . . . and insist on prudent government spending, we can enjoy the greatest expansion we've ever known. And we can get those 16 million jobs without inflation.

Miss Orpha-Bonita Pritchard, president of the Maryland Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs, and members of the local club, will preside at the meeting of the state board of directors at the Francis Scott Key Hotel in Frederick on February 27. Nine other members of the Cumberland club will also attend the meeting.

During the meeting, seven clubs in the Maryland Federation will receive special recognition and citations for outstanding service in contributing to the development of uniform traffic signs and signals. The Cumberland club will be one of this group. The work done on this project was completed and reported last year by Mrs. Kathleen Burke, who was then serving as president.

On Saturday the awards will be made by Mrs. Louise Hammel, state chairman of the health and safety committee, and by Miss Orpha-Bonita Pritchard. Other clubs in the federation, receiving this award, are Cecil County, Frederick, Hagerstown, Reistertown, Salisbury and Silver Spring.

The Frederick club, under the direction of the president, Mrs. Mae Shankle, and the chairman on arrangements, Mrs. Hammel, will hold a coffee hour in the hotel, from 8:45 to 9:45.

Included on the business agenda, besides routine reports, will be the convention plans as reported by Mrs. Ruth Fleming of Silver Springs, general chairman; the state workshop at the University of Maryland as reported by Miss Geraldine Tolker of Baltimore, state career advancement chairman, and the register o. women in elective and appointive posts as reported by Miss Grace Lotz, of Baltimore state women in government chairman.

Attending from Cumberland will be Mrs. Ethel Northcraft, local club president and state corresponding secretary; Miss Gerardine Pritchard, state program coordinator and member of the nominating committee; Mrs. Burke; Mrs. Jean Cioni; Miss Edith Scharf; Miss Mary Jo Logsdon; Miss Marion Dennison; Miss Ann Nicht, state parliamentarian, and Miss Theresa Nicht, state chaplain.

Friday Miss Pritchard and the program coordinator will confer in special committee session with representatives of the Silver Spring 1960 convention committee. Saturday afternoon, following a luncheon in the Wedgwood room, there will be meetings of the nomination committee; executive committee and Miss Margaret Bowers of Mariottsville, will conduct a membership clinic.

HOW DO I START A SAVINGS ACCOUNT?
Nothing could be easier! You simply deposit your money, sign a signature card for identification purposes, and receive your passbook. All deposits and withdrawals are noted in your passbook. Dividends are added twice yearly. We put your money to work by loaning it on first mortgages on homes in this community, nothing else. The homes securing these mortgages are worth, on the average, nearly twice as much as the mortgages and the security is increased monthly as payments are received.
We have consistently paid 4% dividends on savings for the past 20 years and have built up reserves to over 11% of our total savings accounts.

"I can't tell you how much the telephone meant to me for the last six weeks," writes Mrs. Long

MRS. CARROLL G. LONG, of Salisbury, arranging rides for Joanne and Mike while she was convalescing.

"My foot and leg have been in a cast for the past six weeks. As a result, the telephone has been all-important to me—chatting with friends to relieve the boredom of having to stay home; getting rides for the kids; calling my twin sister and friends to do errands and take me shopping."

Mrs. Long went on to say, "A telephone seems to be the No. 1 necessity to kids. (She has two, Mike 16 and Joanne 11½.) The time and peace of mind which the telephone saved us are worth much more than the money involved."

The comforting knowledge that your telephone is always ready to keep you in touch with all the world outside your home, can't be measured in money alone. And yet if you were to keep a telephone diary, you too would probably find your phone more than pays for itself in money saved, as well as in time and travel.

Mrs. Long's telephone diary shows the money her phone saved her in just two weeks—and the time and mileage it saved her, and those who phoned to chat or lend a hand.

Local BPW To Take Part In State Meeting Saturday

Miss Orpha-Bonita Pritchard, president of the Maryland Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs, and members of the local club, will preside at the meeting of the state board of directors at the Francis Scott Key Hotel in Frederick on February 27. Nine other members of the Cumberland club will also attend the meeting.

During the meeting, seven clubs in the Maryland Federation will receive special recognition and citations for outstanding service in contributing to the development of uniform traffic signs and signals. The Cumberland club will be one of this group. The work done on this project was completed and reported last year by Mrs. Kathleen Burke, who was then serving as president.

On Saturday the awards will be made by Mrs. Louise Hammel, state chairman of the health and safety committee, and by Miss Orpha-Bonita Pritchard. Other clubs in the federation, receiving this award, are Cecil County, Frederick, Hagerstown, Reisterstown, Salisbury and Silver Spring.

The Frederick club, under the direction of the president, Mrs. Mae Shankle, and the chairman on arrangements, Mrs. Hammel, will hold a coffee hour in the hotel, from 8:45 to 9:45.

Included on the business agenda, besides routine reports, will be the convention plans as reported by Mrs. Ruth Fleming of Silver Springs, general chairman; the state workshop at the University of Maryland as reported by Miss Geraldine Tolker of Baltimore, state career advancement chairman, and the register o. women in elective and appointive posts as reported by Miss Grace Lotz, of Baltimore state women in government chairman.

Attending from Cumberland will be Mrs. Ethel Northcraft, local club president and state corresponding secretary; Miss Gerardine Pritchard, state program coordinator and member of the nominating committee; Mrs. Burke; Mrs. Jean Cioni; Miss Edith Scharf; Miss Mary Jo Logsdon; Miss Marion Dennison; Miss Ann Nicht, state parliamentarian, and Miss Theresa Nicht, state chaplain.

Friday Miss Pritchard and the program coordinator will confer in special committee session with representatives of the Silver Spring 1960 convention committee. Saturday afternoon, following a luncheon in the Wedgwood room, there will be meetings of the nomination committee; executive committee and Miss Margaret Bowers of Mariottsville, will conduct a membership clinic.

BETTER-BRAKES...BUICK '60

BRAKES HATE HEAT!

Buick's fin-cooled Aluminum Drums get rid of heat quicker so you're safer!

Brakes generate their own worst enemy—terrific heat. Excessive heat is bad because it may cause brakes to lose part of their effectiveness. So the faster you can dissipate it, the better off you are.

Buick gets rid of heat faster by using fin-cooled brake drums. On the front wheels, where most of the braking is done, the drums are aluminum. They cost more to make but they shrug off heat much faster than drums made of ordinary metal. Buick is the only American car that makes them standard, at no extra cost, because you will be safer with them.

Best time to buy a Buick '60 is now because you will get top dollar on your old car and have a wide selection of colors and body styles from which to choose. You can own a quality Buick for less than you might think, and your Buick Dealer can arrange terms to suit your budget.

THE MANUFACTURER'S SUGGESTED LIST PRICE FOR THIS BUICK LESABRE TWO-DOOR SEDAN WITH HEATER AND DEFROSTER, EASY EYE GLASS, BACK-UP LIGHTS, GLARE-PROOF MIRROR, PARKING BRAKE SIGNAL LIGHT, SAFETY BUZZER, MAP LIGHT, WHITEWALL TIRES, AND DELUXE WHEEL COVERS IS LESS THAN $3000*. Standard equipment on this popular model includes Mirro-Magic instrument panel • Direction signals • Fin-cooled brakes with aluminum drums on the front wheels • Electric windshield wipers • Instrument panel safety padding • and Trip mileage indicator.

Including reimbursement for Federal Excise Tax and Suggested Dealer Delivery and Handling Charge. Transportation, state and local taxes, other accessories and optional equipment additional.*

Relentless Ethan Frome

Edith Wharton's "Ethan Frome" has a granitic New England hardness of surface to it that I found thoroughly satisfying in this age of mushy insecurities. It's a great story—all sharp angles and straight lines and hard clear motives and you don't hardly find that kind no more.

I well remember the play written by Owen and Donald Davis with Ruth Gordon playing the homeless waif Matty and Raymond Massey as the inarticulate farmer, Tom Ewell as Dennis Eady, and Pauline Lord as Zenobia. It was a tremendous dramatic experience because I had never seen a play quite so unrelenting.

On DuPont's Play of the Month the other night, it was again a great story of simple emotion powerfully expressed. Julie Harris played Matty with her accustomed sweetness and sureness of touch. It is the sort of role she was almost predestined to play well. The big surprise was Sterling Hayden, who was tremendously moving and marvelously well controlled as Ethan Frome. Perhaps I'm doing him an injustice in being surprised since Hayden turned in an awfully good performance as the inarticulate convict in "Old Man."

This is a story about a gnarled, almost throttled, farmer tied to an embittered hypochondriac of a wife on a bleak and frozen and poverty-ridden farm. Into his life comes a bankrupt girl, who brings sunshine and laughter and the stirrings of long suppressed passions.

As the hypochondriac wife howls and turns her bitter rage deeper on girl and husband, they go to church socials together, find beauty in the woods and in each other, and gradually get entangled in an impenetrable web. There were some fine Yankee scenes of great honesty and simplicity. I loved the church socials with their square dances and lap suppers. I particularly liked a gaunt scene in which one Yankee tried—and failed—to buy three acres of land from Ethan Frome, a scene which had great character and freshness about it.

When the two lovers decide to end it all in a mad sled ride down the hill, there are no avenues of escape open—Ethan is tied to the farm and to his wife and as Matty says: "God'll forgive us because we didn't know what else to do." There was a flat, horrifying, but dramatically sound and satisfying inevitability about it that has been missing from most TV drama this season. The savage irony of the epilogue—in which there is a complete reversal of the roles, the wife taking care of a bitterly complaining and crippled Matty—flashed by so fast that I feared those not familiar with the story might miss its full implications. But I guess no one did.

Anyhow, "Ethan Frome" was just about the most distinguished dramatic presentation of this undistinguished season. I can't close without a word of high praise for Clarice Blackburn as the hypochondriac wife, who snarled and hissed and scowled with splendid savagery and intensity through an extremely difficult, complex, and very rewarding role. Actually Zenobia is a very interesting character, a pre-Freudian study in the psychology of imaginary illness that is remarkably far in advance of its time.

The camera work was lovely to look at and Alex Segal's direction was cool, forceful, and uncluttered.

And there's just space here for a belated hello to Max Liebman, who re-entered the program dodge with a very amusing and adult spoof of Westerns starring Fred MacMurray, Wally Cox, Edie Adams, Carol Burnett, and Hans Conreid. It had some dull passages but it had many more sprightly ones. I particularly liked a bit where Hans Conreid was selling MacMurray the latest in guns, a medley of Western songs that didn't quite make the hit parade and for a very good reason, and the home life of a cowboy played by MacMurray and his wife, Carol Burnett. Anyhow, it's nice to have Mr. Liebman back.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN: I just returned from a funeral. It was the saddest thing I've ever witnessed — and so unnecessary. My head is splitting, but instead of sitting around weeping, I decided to write you this letter in the hope that such tragedies might be averted in the future.

A three-year-old neighbor boy climbed on the bathroom sink, opened the medicine cabinet and helped himself to an assortment of high-powered pills. No doubt he thought it was candy.

His mother found him lying on the bathroom floor but it was too late. He was dead when the ambulance arrived.

This was the only son in a family of four girls. The mother is filled with guilt. She keeps saying over and over, "It's my fault. It's my fault."

I urge every mother who reads this to make a complete check of her household at once. Look in the medicine cabinets, the broom closet, the cupboard. Any liquid or pill-type medicine, cleaning fluid, fly spray or rat poison should be locked up, out of the reach of curious hands. A few moments of checking may spare you the most heartbreaking tragedy of a lifetime.

Thanks, Ann, for letting me get this off my chest. — SAD FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: My thanks to you for your letter. I'd like to join in a plea that mothers all over the nation act on your excellent suggestion at once.

DEAR ANN: Will you settle a family fight? Our 10-year-old son is selling his homework. My husband says Nicky is an enterprising kid and will amount to something. I say his materialistic approach to life is shocking and if he's encouraged along these lines he'll be a grasping, greedy adult.

Nicky has always been precocious and gets top marks without too much effort. Last evening when his best buddy left I heard him say "I'll pay you tomorrow — a dime for the arithmetic answers and a nickel for English."

I asked Nicky what it was all about and he told me. I was shocked and said we'd discuss it when his father came home. We did. His father praised the boy and I lost out completely. If I'm wrong I want to know. If my husband is wrong I think he'll listen to you. Please step forth.— V.J.

DEAR V.J.: What with rigged TV, payola and corruption on every side, it's small wonder a 10-year-old would take to selling his homework. Some of our young people are growing up with the philosophy that The Buck is king and how you get it doesn't much matter.

Parents must counteract this 20th Century moral decay by setting high standards at home and encouraging personal integrity.

Nicky should be told that selling answers is dishonest and will not be tolerated. He should be encouraged to help his friends and to be of service.

DEAR ANN: I'm 16 and unhappy. A certain fellow takes me out about three times a month. I am crazy about him and he says he likes me very much but never mentions love. The problem is, he has never taken me to a movie, a dance or anyplace really nice. We only go for rides and wind up necking.

Last week I made up my mind if he didn't take me to a movie I would break up with him. I told him how I felt and he called me a "gold-digger" and left. I miss him very much and wonder now if I did the right thing. — TORCH CARRIER

DEAR CARRIER: Use that torch to light the way to a decent relationship. This boy was using you for his own amusement. Don't make the same mistake again. If you want to be treated like a lady you'll have to behave like one.

To learn the knack of feeling comfortable with the opposite sex, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Be Date Bait," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

The Australian ladybird beetle once saved the citrus industry of the California coast. The beetle was introduced in San Francisco to counteract an insect war on the orange and lemon groves. The beetle did a good job.

The crucible process is the oldest of the four leading methods for the manufacture of steel. Benjamin Huntsman is credited with discovering it.

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
4♠	Pass	Pass	5♣
Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: King of ♠

A bit of carelessness on the part of the defense cost the United States several hundred points in today's hand taken from a recent international team match.

When the Americans held the East West cards, West elected to open somewhat aggressively with a preemptive bid of four spades. This was passed around to South who was reluctant to surrender without a struggle, so he bid five clubs. Here, the bidding subsided.

The king of spades was opened and East, in uninspired fashion, followed suit with the five. A spade continuation at this point puts the declarer out of business for, while he can pick up the queen of clubs, he cannot dispose of the other spade loser.

When a heart shift came at trick two, South took East's king with the ace and returned the jack to set up dummy's ten. Declarer had only to ruff one spade, discard the other on the ten of hearts and come home when the club finesse succeeded.

At the other table, the United States made up all but 100 points of the margin. West opened with three spades, and East made an unsound commitment by bidding three no trump. The American player seated South was reluctant to drive the opponents back into spades, so he elected to defend and led the ace of clubs. North dutifully played the jack and South gave himself two chances to get partner into the lead.

His ace of hearts drew forth an eloquent trey. He then shifted to the six of diamonds. This permitted partner to cash the ace and come through with the club lead which set the contract down five tricks. This netted the Americans 500 points, almost enough to offset the game scored at the other table.

Deputies Will Return Valentine To City

Two deputies from the Allegany County Sheriff's Office will travel to Akron today to return Jesse James Valentine, this city, who is wanted in connection with a series of safecrackings.

Valentine was apprehended in Hudson, Ohio, last week on a warrant obtained by the Maryland State Police at LaVale. He has indicated he will waive extradition.

HOLLYWOOD—To give you a rough idea of how 6-year-old Tammy Marihugh rates at MGM, she's the first child signed on a term contract there since Margaret O'Brien. Boss Snell fell head over heels for little Tammy in "The Last Voyage" in which she plays the daughter of Bob Stack and Dorothy Malone. When I ran the picture at my house several weeks ago, all my guests were enchanged with the little redheaded charmer.

Tammy clicked last year, when she was a snappy five on Bob Cummings' and Art Linkletter's TV shows. And she also picked off a prize as the juvenile with the prettiest smile. Meanwhile, until MGM selects her next picture, she goes to school every day where she is a second grade student at Van Ness Grammar School.

The Indians (native breed) are banding together to do more than complain to Congress that movies and TV are distorting history about their tribes. Backed by some non-Indian money supplied by financier Milton Gordon, representatives of the top Indian tribes are producing a movie called "The American Indian" for world wide release. The idea is to tell the world about the Indian from the days when they owned America, up to the present satus.

Michael Ansara, of NBC's "Law of the Plainsman" TV program, has been signed to commentate, and Luther Davis is working on the original script. Guess you might call this, "Lo the Poor Indian Strikes Back,"—and that's a joke, son, not to be taken seriously.

Relentless Ethan Frome

Edith Wharton's "Ethan Frome" has a granitic New England hardness of surface to it that I found thoroughly satisfying in this age of mushy insecurities. It's a great story—all sharp angles and straight lines and hard clear motives and you don't hardly find that kind no more.

I well remember the play written by Owen and Donald Davis with Ruth Gordon playing the homeless waif Matty and Raymond Massey as the inarticulate farmer, Tom Ewell as Dennis Eady, and Pauline Lord as Zenobia. It was a tremendous dramatic experience because I had never seen a play quite so unrelenting.

On DuPont's Play of the Month the other night, it was again a great story of simple emotion powerfully expressed. Julie Harris played Matty with her accustomed sweetness and sureness of touch. It is the sort of role she was almost predestined to play well. The big surprise was Sterling Hayden, who was tremendously moving and marvelously well controlled as Ethan Frome. Perhaps I'm doing him an injustice in being surprised since Hayden turned in an awfully good performance as the inarticulate convict in "Old Man."

This is a story about a gnarled, almost throttled, farmer tied to an embittered hypochondriac of a wife on a bleak and frozen and poverty-ridden farm. Into his life comes a bankrupt girl, who brings sunshine and laughter and the stirrings of long suppressed passions.

As the hypochondriac wife howls and turns her bitter rage deeper on girl and husband, they go to church socials together, find beauty in the woods and in each other, and gradually get entangled in an impenetrable web. There were some fine Yankee scenes of great honesty and simplicity. I loved the church socials with their square dances and lap suppers. I particularly liked a gaunt scene in which one Yankee tried—and failed—to buy three acres of land from Ethan Frome, a scene which had great character and freshness about it.

When the two lovers decide to end it all in a mad sled ride down the hill, there are no avenues of escape open—Ethan is tied to the farm and to his wife and as Matty says: "God'll forgive us because we didn't know what else to do." There was a flat, horrifying, but dramatically sound and satisfying inevitability about it that has been missing from most TV drama this season. The savage irony of the epilogue—in which there is a complete reversal of the roles, the wife taking care of a bitterly complaining and crippled Matty—flashed by so fast that I feared those not familiar with the story might miss its full implications. But I guess no one did.

Anyhow, "Ethan Frome" was just about the most distinguished dramatic presentation of this undistinguished season. I can't close without a word of high praise for Clarice Blackburn as the hypochondriac wife, who snarled and hissed and scowled with splendid savagery and intensity through an extremely difficult, complex, and very rewarding role. Actually Zenobia is a very interesting character, a pre-Freudian study in the psychology of imaginary illness that is remarkably far in advance of its time.

The camera work was lovely to look at and Alex Segal's direction was cool, forceful, and uncluttered.

And there's just space here for a belated hello to Max Liebman, who re-entered the program dodge with a very amusing and adult spoof of Westerns starring Fred MacMurray, Wally Cox, Edie Adams, Carol Burnett, and Hans Conreid. It had some dull passages but it had many more sprightly ones. I particularly liked a bit where Hans Conreid was selling MacMurray the latest in guns, a medley of Western songs that didn't quite make the hit parade and for a very good reason, and the home life of a cowboy played by MacMurray and his wife, Carol Burnett. Anyhow, it's nice to have Mr. Liebman back.

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN: I just returned from a funeral. It was the saddest thing I've ever witnessed — and so unnecessary. My head is splitting, but instead of sitting around weeping, I decided to write you this letter in the hope that such tragedies might be averted in the future.

A three-year-old neighbor boy climbed on the bathroom sink, opened the medicine cabinet and helped himself to an assortment of high-powered pills. No doubt he thought it was candy.

His mother found him lying on the bathroom floor but it was too late. He was dead when the ambulance arrived.

This was the only son in a family of four girls. The mother is filled with guilt. She keeps saying over and over, "It's my fault. It's my fault."

I urge every mother who reads this to make a complete check of her household at once. Look in the medicine cabinets, the broom closet, the cupboard. Any liquid or pill-type medicine, cleaning fluid, fly spray or rat poison should be locked up, out of the reach of curious hands. A few moments of checking may spare you the most heartbreaking tragedy of a lifetime.

Thanks, Ann, for letting me get this off my chest. — SAD FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: My thanks to you for your letter. I'd like to join in a plea that mothers all over the nation act on your excellent suggestion at once.

DEAR ANN: Will you settle a family fight? Our 10-year-old son is selling his homework. My husband says Nicky is an enterprising kid and will amount to something. I say his materialistic approach to life is shocking and if he's encouraged along these lines he'll be a grasping, greedy adult.

Nicky has always been precocious and gets top marks without too much effort. Last evening when his best buddy left I heard him say "I'll pay you tomorrow — a dime for the arithmetic answers and a nickel for English."

I asked Nicky what it was all about and he told me. I was shocked and said we'd discuss it when his afther came home. We did. His father praised the boy and I lost out completely. If I'm wrong I want to know. If my husband is wrong I think he'll listen to you. Please step forth.—V.J.

DEAR V.J.: What with rigged TV, payola and corruption on every side, it's small wonder a 10-year-old would take to selling his homework. Some of our young people are growing up with the philosophy that The Buck is king and how you get it doesn't much matter.

Parents must counteract this 20th Century moral decay by setting high standards at home and encouraging personal integrity.

Nicky should be told that selling answers is dishonest and will not be tolerated. He should be encouraged to help his friends and to be of service.

DEAR ANN: I'm 16 and unhappy. A certain fellow takes me out about three times a month. I am crazy about him and he says he likes me very much but never mentions love. The problem is, he has never taken me to a movie, a dance or anyplace really nice. We only go for rides and wind up necking.

Last week I made up my mind if he didn't take me to a movie I would break up with him. I told him how I felt and he called me a "gold-digger" and left. I miss him very much and wonder now if I did the right thing. — TORCH CARRIER

DEAR CARRIER: Use that torch to light the way to a decent relationship. This boy was using you for his own amusement. Don't make the same mistake again. If you want to be treated like a lady you'll have to behave like one.

To learn the knack of feeling comfortable with the opposite sex, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Be Date Bait," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Two City Crews

Wants Schedule Kept

Mr. Long said that if city crews do their work well in advance, contractors will be able to proceed with their part of the program on schedule.

Slightly over $100,000 is available in budget and bond funds for the street resurfacing program and Mr. Long has pledged that every dollar that can be spared from the Street Department budget will be allotted toward the city's share of light surface treatment program on the mud streets.

Even though light surface treatment is not considered a permanent surface, each mile of such improvement will boost the city's share of state gas and auto revenues by more than $800 a year.

Eventual plans call for blacktop to be applied on the light surface treated streets before the base is worn out, giving the areas a permanent type of surface on a "pay as you go" plan.

Lists Schedule

The schedule for proceeding with the street resurfacing program was listed by Mr. Long as:

February 29, introductory ordinances for the 11 streets will be introduced.

March 14, ordinances authorizing the city to proceed with the improvements will be introduced.

March 15 is the date set for advertising for bids.

March 28, opening of bids.

April 4, awarding of contracts.

AT FORT KNOX — Charles Edward Miller Jr., 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Miller Sr., C-11 Jane Frazier Village, has completed his basic training with the Army at Fort Knox, Ky. He is a former student of Fort Hill High School and prior to entering the service he was employed at Central YMCA here. He joined the Army on November 15.

Civic Symphony Plans Concert For Wednesday

Although music lovers of the Tri-State area were disappointed by the postponement of the Sunday concerts by the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra, they still will have an opportunity to hear live musicians in a local concert Wednesday night.

The Cumberland Civic Symphony Orchestra, directed by Dr. Ward Cole of Frostburg State Teachers College, will present its second concert of the season at 8 p. m. Wednesday in the Allegany High School auditorium.

Among selections planned tomorrow night are "Oberon" overture by Weber, "Der Rosenkavalier" waltz by Richard Strauss and "Song of India" by Rimsky-Korsakoff. Musicians from Frostburg and Keyser are augmenting the orchestra.

Clothing Construction Class To Continue

Women in the area of Eckhart School are invited to a class on clothing construction and fitting at the school from 9 to 11 a. m. today under the direction of Mrs. Marie Farrell.

Miss Ruth C. McColly, supervisor of home economics in the Allegany County public schools, said the sessions which started last Tuesday will continue each Tuesday through March 22. The first hour will be devoted to demonstrating simple methods of clothing construction. The rest of the time will be used to help individuals with personal fitting problems.

This is a service of the adult education program of the Board of Education.

Panel To Discuss Camp Operations

The Cumberland Kiwanis Club will hold a panel discussion on the operation of its Sunshine Camp at the weekly luncheon meeting Thursday at 12:30 p. m. at Central YMCA.

Members of the panel will be Dr. John Robinson, who will serve as moderator, C. Eugene Mason, city recreation director, William E. Daw, YMCA program secretary, and Albert D. Darby, club secretary.

Deaths

Sunday at the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. Ellen Harris, Wiley Ford, will be conducted tomorrow at 1 p. m. at the Scarpelli Funeral Home.

Rev. George H. Jeffrey, pastor of Old Furnace Church of the Brethren, will officiate and burial will be in Mt. Herman Cemetery.

FRED JENNINGS

FROSTBURG—Fred Jennings, 62, of Lake Lynn, Pa., died Sunday in a Morgantown hospital following an illness of a month.

Born at Corinth, W. Va., a son of the late Ervin and Isabelle (Boyce) Jennings, he had resided here prior to moving to Lake Lynn.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Emma (Filsinger) Jennings; a son, William H. Jennings, Williamsport, Va.; two daughters, Mrs. Mildred Gage, Lake Lynn, and Mrs. Emily Bussard, Washington; two brothers, William Jennings, Frostburg, and James E. Jennings, Lake Lynn; a sister, Miss Mary Jennings, Frostburg, and six grandchildren.

The body is at the Herod Funeral Home, Point Marion, Pa., where services will be conducted Wednesday at 2 p. m. by Rev. Harry Harrier. Interment will be in Cedar Grove Cemetery, New Geneva, Pa.

MORRIS N. MERRILL

OAKLAND — Morris Newton Merrill, 83, died suddenly Saturday at his home near North Glade.

Born near Oakland, he was a son of the late Isaac and Mary (Savage) Merrill.

Surviving are his widow, Elizabeth (McRobie) Merrill; eight children, Charles Merrill, Alexandria, Va.; Lloyd Merrill and Mrs. Betty Lazzelle, both of Morgantown, W. Va.; Mrs. Grace Miller, Hyattsville; Truman Merrill, Canton, Ohio; Mrs. Helen Bittinger, Louisville, Ohio; Russell Merrill, Cumberland, and Bobey Merrill, Baltimore; a brother, Austin Merrill, Gormania, W. Va.; 18 grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren.

Services will be conducted tomorrow at 10:30 a. m. at North Glade Methodist Church by Rev. Clarence Walker. Burial will be in McRobie Cemetery.

The body is at the Leighton Funeral Home.

Garrett Schools Closed Today

School children of Garrett County are in for another holiday today but the public schools are expected to reopen tomorrow, Willard L. Hawkins, superintendent, said last night.

Since a number of back roads of the county are still closed and some of the roads are open to one-way traffic only, the school official decided to declare another holiday today.

Highway travel by school buses on some of the secondary roads is still rather dangerous as the passageways are narrow. More light snow was reported falling in Garrett County last night.

Former Local Youth On Yearbook Staff

Charles LeFew, Hagerstown, has been elected business manager of the senior yearbook at Western Maryland College, Westminster, for 1961.

LeFew, a sociology major, is a son of Rev. and Mrs. Charles LeFew, Hagerstown. Rev. Mr. LeFew is a former pastor of Grace Methodist Church here.

Marriage Licenses

Area Man Dies From Exposure

A Hampshire County coroner's jury yesterday ruled that Estel Lee Martin, 31, whose body was found Saturday on Tearcoat Road, died from exposure.

A. L. Russell, coroner, said last night that an autopsy had been performed on the man's body.

He was found about a mile and a half south of the Tearcoat Church of the Brethren, Augusta, by two Potomac Edison employes, who were working in the area to restore electric service knocked out by the snow storm last week. The victim resided in the Tearcoat Road section.

Simmons To Speak At Lions Meeting

Richard F. Simmons, former district governor of the Lions International, will be the guest speaker at Wednesday's 12:15 p. m. meeting of the Cumberland Lions Club at Central YMCA. He will be here in recognition of International Counsellor Month.

In addition Harry I. Stegmaier, local attorney, will tell of "Washington's Last Visit To Cumberland."

Meter Collections Dip

Parking meter collections for the week ending February 14 totaled $687.05, according to Harry M. Whisner, meter collector. This was $22.13 less than the week before.

The first adhesive postage stamps were five and 10 cent issues of Benjamin Franklin and George Washington.

A new concept is born, with an exciting word to describe it...

SECURANCE

Se·cur'ance (sē·kūr'ăns), n. A new program for true family security, originated by Nationwide Insurance. A method of providing through one representative all (or part) of one's insurance—life, health, home, car, property; may include car and home financing. Also refers to the unique system of democratic participation through which member-customers help determine direction and scope of company services.

TODAY, SECURANCE becomes a vital word in our language. It rhymes with insurance...it adds to insurance. SECURANCE is insurance-plus. SECURANCE is Nationwide's original new formula to help you plan the financial future of your family.

In 1926 when Nationwide was founded, a new insurance approach was born. Working together with its policyholders, Nationwide decided to provide, through one agent, all kinds of insurance—at low cost. Then, other services, allied to insurance were added. Today, most Nationwide representatives can provide:

1. Insurance for your car, home, health, life, family, business . . . even group insurance coverages—129 plans in all.
2. Financing assistance for car purchases and home mortgages.

SECURANCE is your first real opportunity to save while you simplify your security problems. Now one agent can provide you with insurance of all kinds plus financing facilities. In addition, you have the opportunity for democratic participation in the affairs of Nationwide. In fact, our policyholders helped develop this new SECURANCE concept through their representatives (on Nationwide Mutual's Board of Directors) and through their own participation in Nationwide's unique Advisory Committees of Policyholders.

SECURANCE comes in many sizes—a full program to cover every need, or just a single coverage. No matter how much SECURANCE you need, your Nationwide representative has the plan for you.

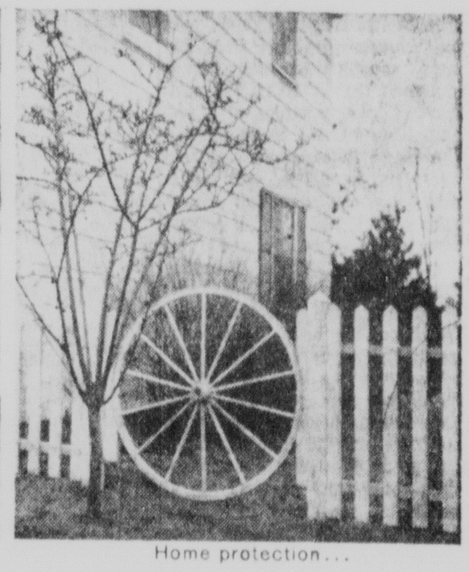

You'll like the convenience of having one agent take care of all or any of your needs. You'll like the low rates on just about any insurance you need. And you have the added satisfaction of knowing that you can have a voice in determining future services. For like no other big business in America, Nationwide is committed to the ideal of economic democracy.

Call your Nationwide agent today and ask him about SECURANCE—or mail coupon to nearest office listed below for your free Securance Catalog.

(In addition to the services described above, most Nationwide agents are authorized to sell shares of Mutual Income Foundation, a mutual fund. An M.I.F. prospectus can be obtained from your Nationwide agent – or from Heritage Securities, Inc., 246 No. High Street, Columbus 16, Ohio.)

Walsh Cites FSTC Needs To Del. Boone

The obvious and urgent need for more dormitory space at Frostburg State Teachers College was pointed out in a letter forwarded from a former attorney general of Maryland to the chairman of the House of Delegates Ways and Means Committee.

William C. Walsh, local attorney, wrote Del. A. Gordon Boone (D-Balto Co.) after reading the report of Thursday's hearing on FSTC financial needs that was carried in the Sunday Times.

When informed at the Thursday hearing at Annapolis by R. Bowen Hardesty, FSTC president, of the need for housing, Del. Boone asked if Hardesty was trying to make a Notre Dame in Frostburg.

Mr. Walsh said in his communication yesterday:

"You are quoted in Sunday's Cumberland Sunday Times as objecting to the State providing additional dormitory facilities at Frostburg State Teachers College, and suggesting that students from other parts of the state go to Towson State Teachers College in your county rather than to Frostburg.

"The State Teachers College at Frostburg is the only state-supported institution of higher education in this area, and I am sure that you will agree that the state should offer the young men and women who live here the same opportunities for higher education that it offers the residents of other sections of Maryland. Nor, are we to be blamed if some of these other residents prefer the beauty of our mountains anod the education advantages of living in a small college town to the other, but different, attractions of more populous Towson.

"Actually, the enrollment at Frostburg has been steadily increasing for years and particularly during the past five years. The college now has 850 students, it expects a thousand next year, and I understand that not more than 30 or 40 of the present students come from parts of Maryland which are closer to Towson than they are to Frostburg. Also Frostburg is the second largest state teachers college in Maryland, with Towson being the largest, and Salisbury the third largest. The need for additional dormitories at Frostburg is obvious and urgent, and should the Governor decide to provide for such additional facilities, I certainly trust that you will interpose no objections, and I can assure you that your support of such a program would be warmly approved by us mountaineers."

City Accepts Bid For New 50-Ton Scale

The Mayor and Council yesterday accepted the bid of the Washington Scale and Equipment Company for a new 50-ton scale to be installed at the city's Street Department warehouse.

The firm submitted a low bid of $5,113. The scale will replace one which has been condemned as unfit by the State Department of Weights and Measures.

Council held a short routine session yesterday.

It ordered payment of $3,637.18 to Walter N. Yoder for emergency replacement of the boiler at the Lake Gordon filtration plant. Franklin J. Blaney, sanitary engineer, said the boiler went out of commission in January but was quickly repaired including installation of new chimney. The improvement is expected to reduce fuel costs.

Council rejected the bid of $200 made by Milton Lee Sarver for Lots, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16 17 and 18 on Brown Avenue. The amount was termed not sufficient.

Payment of $45.91 to First Federal Savings and Loan Company for taxes overpaid on property at 315 Fifth Street in the name of Loris Shaffer Hagen was authorized.

Ali Ghan Shrine Club To Build Pool, Expand

A $125,000 project for improvements and new facilities at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club on the Baltimore Pike was approved at a membership meeting, according to J. Wallace Close, president of the board of directors.

Plans are being prepared and some of the work will be completed by May, according to Close.

Principal part of the program will be the erection of an addition on the rear of the present structure linking the ballroom to the new area.

This building will be 50 by 75 feet in dimension and will provide space for handling dinner meetings of approximately 600 persons.

The new addition will have movable dividing partitions so that it can be arranged to handle three dinner parties simultaneously.

A basement section in the new addition will contain headquarters of various Shrine units.

The new section will have a stage the full width along the south end and will be suitable for style shows, plays and similar theatrical type programs.

A swimming pool measuring approximately 30 by 60 feet will be installed in front of the present club building near the west end of the structure. The pool is expected to be ready for use late in May, Close said.

Also planned is the installation of a glass front in the section where the cocktail lounge is located. This will provide an excellent view of the surrounding hills and scenery.

The present Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club was erected in 1938 and is built of stone. It overlooks U. S. Route 40 and has been the site of many dinners and dance events through the years. The new addition will conform to the present architecture.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Protect your skin — it's a valuable asset.

Proper Complexion Care

Can you face your face? Or would you like to turn every mirror you see around to avoid your blemished complexion?

A girl with clothes, poise, and other attributes of charm, can ruin them all by improper skin care. And, only when you have solved your skin problems will you be able to gather confidence and charm to radiate real beauty.

Absolute cleanliness is the first step. But many young people do not realize that the skin does not stop at the hairline. Nor do they know that most skin conditions start with the scalp, and spread very easily. If you have a hair condition, always put a large bath towel around the shoulders when brushing the locks. No infectious blemishes will spread to the back and keep you from wearing a strapless gown for the next formal dance. Also, always wash the hands each time after combing or brushing the hair. This keeps infection from spreading when you touch your face.

Many have cleared up a complexion difficulty by ridding the hair of a scalp dermatitis. Others have found quick relief by discovering they were allergic to certain foods or cosmetics.

Sun baths (Vitamin D) are often helpful in clearing up skin conditions. Sun lamps can be substituted during the winter months.

Cleanliness applies not only to the skin itself but to all the items used in its care — tissues, cottons, towels, complexion brushes —right down the line. Powers Models protect their skin like a trainer watches a champion athlete. You never see a model borrow a brush, or use a soiled powder puff. All my models wash their faces two or three times a working day, always with a brush or the fingers — wash cloths lodge harmful bacteria.

Beauty comes from within. And often the "cure" of your blemishes could originate from unbalanced diet, lack of sleep or not enough exercise.

Lots of water (8 to 10 glasses daily) and milk are a must. Models know the value of drinking water. This is the most natural and best thing for healthy elimination, and it will keep their complexions in top shape.

And for the same reason, many smart girls make a habit of drinking a glass of lukewarm water with lemon juice every morning. They also eat quantities of fresh fruits and vegetables. They shun fried, fatty and heavy foods, as well as sweets. Doctors recommend supplementing the diet with Vitamin A to help clear up an acne condition.

With it all — the old saying, "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure" applies very definitely. As every girl's best preventives against poor complexions are good habits of health and cleanliness.

City States Policy On Huge Cross

The Mayor and Council took a "hands-off" policy yesterday on a proposal to locate a massive illuminated cross on city property in Constitution Park.

The plan had been suggested by the El Fidel Club, Inc., of Cumberland and was given tentative approval last week with the understanding Commissioner of Streets and Public Property John J. Long would meet with representatives of the social organization.

Long told council yesterday he had met with Burland E. DeBolt and Harry W. Young of the El Fidel Club Saturday at the park. He told the representatives he had been receiving many complaints about locating the cross on public property and said that a decision should be held in abeyance.

Yesterday, Long said he believed any action on the proposal should be stopped.

And he emphasized, "no site has been given for the project in the park nor has one been selected."

Other members of council earlier had said they had also received calls and been contacted in opposition to the proposal.

The El Fidel Club adopted the project last fall to erect a cross on one of the highest elevations as a reminder to all faiths that there is a living God.

The cross is to be 72 feet high with 24-foot cross arms and club officials said it would be the largest in the United States. It would be outlined with neon lighting and could be visible for many miles. A target date of Easter, 1961, has been selected as dedication time.

In other action yesterday, council filed a letter from the Bedford Road Optimist Club opposing addition of fluoridation to the water supply.

Approved was a proclamation naming the week of March 6 as "Save Your Vision Week," a program sponsored by the Maryland Optometric Association in cooperation with the American Optometric Association.

Holy Name Section To Host Meeting

The Holy Name Society of the Archdiocese of Baltimore will holds its 46th annual convention Sunday, April 3, at the Lord Baltimore Hotel, Baltimore.

The Western Maryland Section of the Archdiocesan Society will serve as official host for this year's gathering of over 1,000 priests, officers and delegates from every section of the state. Francis L. Werner of Cumberland, president of the Western Maryland Section, has been named general chairman of the convention.

The archdiocesan president, Frederick L. Dewberry Jr., of Baltimore, has announced that the convention will open with mass at 12:15 p. m. in the Baltimore Cathedral with Archbishop Francis P. Keough presiding.

The opening general session will begin at 2 p. m. at the Lord Baltimore Hotel where Rev. Francis E. Montgomery, director of the Western Maryland Section and pastor of St. Michael's Church, Frostburg, will deliver the keynote address.

Werner will preside at the election of archdiocesan officers for the coming year and will also report to the convention on the activities of the twelve-parish Western Maryland Section.

The convention will close with a dinner in the main ballroom of the Lord Baltimore Hotel at 6:30 p. m., Werner said.

The following members of the Western Maryland Section have been named by Werner to head convention committees:

James Coyle, registration and information; Charles Brode and Donald Palmer, co-chairmen, reception; William Walsh, resolutions. Thomas Carroll will sing the Holy Name hymn at the opening of the general session.

Other members of the Western Maryland committee are George Loar, Francis Comer, Marcus Naughton, Earl Humbertson, Francis Mattingly, T. E. Danahy, Robert Burkey, Bernard Rafferty, George Aldom, Francis Peretti, James Reinhart, Norman Fearnow, John Kreidler, Patrick Quinn, Harry Stegmaier, John Blough and Lino Franchi.

Officers of the Western Maryland Section besides Werner, are Bernard Rafferty, vice president; John G. Burke, secretary; Charles Keating, treasurer; Glenn Kimberlin, marshal.

Reforestation of cut over timber land in the American Northwest is now being accomplished by helicopter. To provide an even distribution of seed, the copter flies over an area twice, the second time at right angles to the first.

Walsh Cites FSTC Needs To Del. Boone

The obvious and urgent need for more dormitory space at Frostburg State Teachers College was pointed out in a letter forwarded from a former attorney general of Maryland to the chairman of the House of Delegates Ways and Means Committee.

William C. Walsh, local attorney, wrote Del. A. Gordon Boone (D-Balto Co.) after reading the report of Thursday's hearing on FSTC financial needs that was carried in the Sunday Times.

When informed at the Thursday hearing at Annapolis by R. Bowen Hardesty, FSTC president, of the need for housing, Del. Boone asked if Hardesty was trying to make a Notre Dame in Frostburg.

Mr. Walsh said in his communication yesterday:

"You are quoted in Sunday's Cumberland Sunday Times as objecting to the State providing additional dormitory facilities at Frostburg State Teachers College, and suggesting that students from other parts of the state go to Towson State Teachers College in your county rather than to Frostburg.

Hoffa At The Dock--Again

James Riddle Hoffa, who used to boast, "I got a list of arrests maybe as long as your arm," now faces a two-front attack that could reduce him to the state of sleazy if well-heeled oblivion now endured by his predecessor as Teamsters Union president, Dave Beck.

Monitors appointed by a federal court two years ago to oversee Hoffa's safeguarding of union funds now want him ousted on charges that he improperly invested $675,000, partly to help finance a Florida real estate development. The monitors are scheduled to report to a Washington, D. C., district court today. And a federal grand jury in Orlando, Fla., is looking into Hoffa's conduct in the real estate deal. A long series of court actions is in prospect, and Hoffa has proved an extremely capable defendant in previous cases.

The monitors were appointed as a compromise of a suit against Hoffa by 13 dissident union members who accused him of rigging the 1957 convention that elected him president. Hoffa was allowed to take office provisionally under the surveillance of the monitors. They now have brought 39 charges of union misconduct against him.

Aside from the court action, Hoffa comes under renewed attack from both union and political foes. Walter P. Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers and head of the AFL-CIO industrial union department, has accused him of teaming up with building trade unions to raid industrial unions. The Teamsters were expelled from the labor amalgamation in December 1957.

And recently it was disclosed that the 56 House members Hoffa singled out as targets in the 1960 elections have banded together to form a "Committee to Re-elect Hoffa-threatened Congressmen." Hoffa's outright opposition at the outset of the 1959 session to any kind of labor bill earned him few friends among his labor colleagues, and fewer friends on Capitol Hill — where, eventually, unpopularity could prove quite damaging.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

They Can't Take It

There must be something about play-acting and politics which disturbs the balance of an individual. I know politicians better than I do comedians, but both suffer from this similar illness which is some kind of a social psychosis that has not yet been described in the books.

Take an upcoming politician. He is usually a good guy, an extrovert, who believes that he ought to be liked because he has never done anything to bother anybody. His task is to put his foot on the first rung of the political ladder and that requires subservience to a professional politician. Nobody can get anywhere any other way. Some have tried it by a publicity blitz. Others have tried to be great reformers outside of practical politics but they usually die on the vine. The technical requirement is to be moved upward and onward. Many persons and groups enter into the production of a single political personality. It can truly be said that no politician is a self-made man.

However, the moment the politician arrives, he is a different man. His voice changes. It takes on the coloration of his profession. His walk grows weightier and slower. If once he was an idealist, he is now a pragmatist. His ear becomes elongated so that he can keep it to the ground and hear the tremblings before they become noticeable to the opposition.

Some politicians recover from this functional personality. They revert to their original ways, whatever they may have been, but must protect the image which they have presented to the public.

Actors used to play to small audiences, a few hundred persons who, on the whole, were predisposed to them because they paid to see and hear the actors. Great stars, like Sarah Bernhardt and Richard Mansfield, to cite two instances of the truly great, were fortunate if their audiences amounted to perhaps 1,000 persons. Few theaters existed which could hold many more.

Today, an untrained actor by a slip of fate, might be playing to 10 or 15 million persons on television.

Although this is not a select audience nor does he hear its applause, he does follow his rating which is as soothing to his soul as the 3,600 who applaud Robert Merrill in the Metropolitan Opera House. Who needs applause, if he can get a rating?

Suddenly the person to whom $100 looked like real money, even in inflationary times, is earning half a million a year which less taxes and less agents' fees, etc., is still money. He no longer depends upon the quips which brought him to fame. He now hires professional gag-writers and the word, gag, is just right for what they do to him, for "to gag" means to strangle, imitative of the sound made when choking; it also means to retch. Macauley used the phrase: "The time was not yet come when eloquence was to be gagged, and reason to be hoodwinked."

Well, that gives you an idea of what happens to the comedian when he hires a gag-writer. He is gagged which as a verb means putting something in the mouth both to choke and silence the victim. It also has some effect on the head which becomes unbelievably swollen. This is not surprising for to have an audience of millions of hearers easily could make a person, without the balance of philosophy and the humility of religion, believe that he is a god.

The man who did most for television was no actor. Television owes its existence to such men as Edison, De Forest, Marconi, Alexanderson, Baird, Zworykin and many others who created the device. Give comedians a few years of applause and they begin to believe in their own perfection. They become imperious to criticism.

I once asked Eddie Cantor who apart from being a comedian, is also a human being, why comedians always tell the same jokes which we heard when we were seven years old. To this he replied: "There is always somebody who is seven years old."

It is when the comedian imagines himself a sage that he usually suffers defeat. Artemus Ward and Mark Twain did possess sagacity although they were humorists. Will Rogers was one of the greatest comedians this country ever produced. These men did not need gag-writers nor did they have audiences of millions.

Dictator Trujillo Promises Free Elections In Dominican Republic

By Jack Anderson

Editor's Note — While Drew Pearson is on the West Coast his column is being written by his associate, Jack Anderson.

WASHINGTON — While President Eisenhower is giving the Dominican Republic a wide berth on his hopscotch tour of Latin America, dictator Trujillo is showing the first signs of relaxing his iron rule over the last surviving dictatorship in the Caribbean.

He has promised to invite the organization of American States, which takes a critical view of him, to oversee free elections in his tight little country within 15 months. Chatting with Florida Sen. George Smathers around a coffee table in his hilltop palace, Trujillo gave his solemn word that he will turn his dictatorship into a democracy before he dies.

Smathers called upon Trujillo at the urging of Dominican leaders who fear an extremist like Cuba's Fidel Castro will take over unless the people are given their freedom.

"I am not going to live forever, and you are not going to live forever," Smathers began bluntly. "Either by natural causes or by intended causes, you will vacate your office some day."

The dictator's soft, brown eyes turned cold, and his graying mustache seemed to bristle.

"You are proud of the 30 years of economic progress you have brought to this country," Smathers went on. "When you are gone, a political vacuum will be created. Into this vacuum will flow your opponents — some sincere about modifying the government, others seeking power for the sake of power, and the Communist vultures waiting for the chance to strike.

"These Communists — best organized, best disciplined, best trained, and best financed — are the ones most likely to win the struggle for power in the Dominican Republic," Smathers warned.

He predicted they would tear down Trujillo's pictures, destroy his statues, and obliterate the memory of his name — "unless," Smathers added, "you take steps to transform your government into a democracy."

What Is Democracy?

The dictator was now leaning forward intently.

"You talk about democracy," he said softly. "What are the characteristics of a democracy?"

"The most basic characteristic is a free election," the Senator replied.

"If we held free elections tomorrow," Trujillo shrugged, "I think I would win."

"That may be true, but nobody in this hemisphere would believe it was a free election," Smathers argued.

Trujillo finally offered to hold free, local elections within 15 months and free national elections within two years. He promised they would be wide open to all political parties except the Communists.

"Does this mean you will not be a candidate?" Smathers asked.

Trujillo nodded his agreement.

"If any Trujillo appears on the ballot, the outside world will think the election is rigged," Smathers persisted.

"I do not want to run," the dictator declared almost wearily. "And none of the Trujillos will run."

Smathers then suggested outside observers should be invited in to guarantee that the elections are free.

In quiet, measured words, Trujillo agreed to let the Organization of American States oversee the election.

More Payola

Victorious over the Federal Trade Commission in a race to see who would inspect disc jockey Dick Clark's financial records first, Congressional investigators have now discovered that the teen-agers' idol accepted gifts of jewelry and furs from record publishers and once received $7,000 from a songwriter.

Clark also operated his own record company, disc pressing plant, and music publishing corporation which he has now turned over to his former producer, Anthony Mammarella.

This petty payola is no worse, however, than what some Congressmen themselves have accepted. The three Congressmen who fought hardest for tough labor restrictions — House labor chairman Graham Barden of North Carolina, Republican leader Charlie Halleck of Indiana, and Congressman Phil Landrum of Georgia — have accepted $700 apiece from an organization that lobbied for labor restrictions.

The money was paid as lecture fees by the National Association of Manufacturers. Landrum also was paid to speak to the American Retail Federation which he now is helping in its battle against increasing the minimum wage from $1 to $1.25 an hour.

Yet these speaking fees are the same kind of gratuities the Congressmen helped outlaw for labor leaders.

Not even Speaker Sam Rayburn can afford to throw the first stone at the disc jockeys. For he has just squeezed $95,000 out of the taxpayers to reward Roscoe DeWitt, the Dallas architect who designed the Rayburn Library without charge.

The grateful Rayburn hired DeWitt's firm to design the new $1,300,000 garage beneath the old House Office Building. Now the taxpayers must pay him a $95,000 fee, which should make up for the free work he did for Mr. Sam.

But the man who has set the pattern for payola in Washington has been President Eisenhower who has accepted everything from free farm machinery to a putting green with a $1,000-a-year maintenance policy.

Chicken Farming

Walter Reuther and Jim Carey, rival leaders of the auto workers and electrical workers respectively, swapped recollections the other day on how they broke into the labor movement.

"As a boy, I started raising chickens," recalled Reuther. "For a while, I debated whether to become a chicken farmer or a labor leader."

"What did you decide?" asked Carey sweetly.

Soviet Spending May Produce Internal Revolt

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — While Soviet Premier Khrushchev tours Asia and boasts about how many billions of dollars of "aid" the Soviet Union is giving to "underdeveloped" nations, he never lets his own people know what he is spending abroad.

For the Soviet Union itself is in many respects one of the most underdeveloped countries in the world. If the censorship within Russia didn't prevent the people there from knowing how the product of their labor is being wasted abroad, they would surely revolt.

The greater part of the Soviet Union, for instance, is a country of darkness. It does not have electric lights in most of its territory. The total generating capacity of the Soviet Union—both electric light and power—at present is about equal to the normal increase the United States will have made from 1958 to 1961. In other words, it is estimated that the Russians by 1965 will have less than half of the electric light and power of the United States.

As for coal, crude petroleum, natural gas, canned foods, cotton fabrics, railroad mileage, freight cars, and many other articles, the Soviet Union is anywhere from 30 to 50 years behind the United States.

Wages are much lower in the Soviet Union. The approximate buying power of the worker there is about $1,000 a year, as compared with $4,700 for the average worker in the United States. The farm situation is even worse on the Soviet side. In the United States the average farmer produces enough for himself and 20 other persons, plus more to spare, whereas in the Soviet Union the average farmer produces enough for himself and four other persons—with nothing left to spare.

The latest figures, however, show that the Soviet Union is throwing more than $3.6 billion around the world to aid "underdeveloped" countries, which sums could be much better spent on the Soviet people directly.

Credits granted by the Soviet Union to the United Arab Republic alone total $1,182,000,000, of which $304,000,000 went to Syria, and the rest Egypt, a large part of this for the Aswan Dam.

India gets steel mills from Russia, and the total aid is about $773,000,000 thus far. As for Indonesia, it has received $411,000,000, while $252,000,000 has gone to Afghanistan, and $257,000,000 to Iraq. Ethopia has gotten $112,000,000.

Even in points as far away as Latin America, the Soviets have put $104,000,000 in Argentina, and have promised $100,000,000 to Cuba.

The Soviet government grants credits, of course, to "satellite" countries inside the Soviet bloc, and these advances now amount to about $7.5 billion according to Moscow's own claims. Western experts, however, say this is an exaggeration and that the total runs to around $2.25 billion since 1956.

All this money could do much today for the Soviet people if used directly to improve their standard of living. Premier Khrushchev boasts of his program in speeches outside the Soviet Union. He said a few day ago in an address to the Indian Parliament:

"Our wealth, our industry, have been created within a historically short time by the intensive labor of the Soviet people. Although we have no surplus capital, we are rendering ever-increasing assistance to states needing such aid. At the present time the Soviet Union is tendering assistance in the construction of hundreds of industrial plants and power stations in underdeveloped countries.

"We want these countries to get on their own feet, we want them to create their own industry, capable of producing not only consumer goods but means of production as well. This will help underdeveloped countries to develop their own industrial base and speed up their economic development. . . .

"The Soviet Union's assistance in the economic development of underdeveloped countries mostly takes the form of credits and loans granted on most easy terms. We get no profit out of that, since we cannot and do not want to enrich ourselves at the expense of countries to which we are rendering assistance. We are guided by a sincere desire to help the peoples of former colonial countries in every way possible to attain real economic independence as soon as possible, and sharply raise their standard of life."

Much of the money loaned will never come back. The Soviet people will have to continue their "intensive labor" as they live in austerity. Families often are crowded into a single room. Millions of homes are without sanitary facilities on the premises.

Then why does the Moscow regime keep on exporting capital which could be better devoted to providing the necessities of life, not only to the people of the Soviet Union but to the Red Chinese? Plainly, the Communists believe that they can infiltrate and ultimately conquer many underdeveloped countries. They can succeed only if their own people are kept ignorant of what the leaders are doing. It might be asked, incidentally, if the various propaganda organizations in the free world, including America's own agencies, are stressing in broadcasts across the Iron Curtain this waste of the Soviet people's funds.

As for the United States, it is continuing to plan for about $4 billion a year of aid to other countries, both in military and economic programs. It is important to be competitive with the Soviet Union and to force Moscow to strain more and more to spend the Soviet people's substance. It's one way to hasten the day of internal revolt within Russia and China, which must come eventually if there is to be a relaxation of tension and an assurance of world peace.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

CAPITOL HILL — Capitol Hill, its grounds, buildings and their contents have been officially valued at $2,716,714,015.62. The total was arrived at in the course of a Congressional committee's inventory of all United States government-owned property.

One usually thinks in terms of buildings and grounds as making up the bulk of the dollar value of such inventories. However, this is not so in the case of the Capitol.

By far the largest single items is the $2,233,695,000 value placed on the books, periodicals and other manuscripts in the Library of Congress. The Library's collection is probably the most valuable and most extensive in the entire world.

Everything else on the Hill—buildings, grounds, equipment and supplies right down to paper clips comes to a relatively small, but nonetheless whopping total of $483,019,015.62.

The report is by far the most comprehensive listing of government assets ever undertaken. It includes up-to-date valuations of many items for the first time in the nation's history. Yet, some values are historic rather than actual. The White House grounds, in the heart of Washington, are carried on the books at $1,000. If they were for sale, the price would be several millions.

All federal government buildings and land in Washington are valued at $748,000,000, excluding Capitol Hill. The Capitol, its office buildings, garages, power plant, Supreme Court building, and other sundry pieces of real estate are worth $367,600,000.

Truly, government has become "big" business.

Who's The Market?

By Leslie Gould

What kind of people make up the stock market?

The biggest brokerage firm—Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith—"We the People"—to find the answer queried 357,000 of their customers.

Here are some of the things the firm found out:

Males outnumber the women 5 to 1.

The men are between 31 and 40. The women somewhat older—just how much so is "confidential."

About 60 per cent are in the $7,000 to $20,000 income bracket and their investment portfolio exceeds $10,000.

About 22 per cent are in the $4,000 to $7,000 bracket.

About 11 per cent have $20,000 to $50,000 income.

About 9 per cent make less than $4,000.

The average investor has been a shareowner only five years, which is a surprising fact.

The average investor's No. 1 interest is in capital gains—more than two-thirds of those polled stated this as their investment objective, against only 25 per cent who put "safety of capital" first. Only 10 per cent gave "liberal income" as their first requirement.

The emphasis on capital appreciation increases with the investor's income.

The ladies are more conservative—contrary to general opinion. They put safety first with capital gains second. Men overwhelmingly look for capital gains.

Most of the customers—80 per cent—made their first stock purchase on their own through a broker. About 10 per cent received their first stock as a gift or by inheritance. About 6 per cent first bought through an employe stock purchase plan.

Close to 80 per cent work for a living—about half are salaried.

About 20 per cent are professional people—doctors, lawyers, etc.

About 10 per cent are proprietors of a business.

Housewives account for 7 per cent.

About 11 per cent are retired.

The survey shows there is a bigger market to be developed in the under the 30 group—the ones who should be starting a dollar averaging program of investing. That is putting a fixed amount of dollars regularly in soundly selective stocks.

Only 10 per cent of the firm's customers are in the under 30 age group. The biggest is the 31 to 40 age bracket—about 26 per cent and the next biggest—about 25 per cent—in the 41 to 50 age group. Only 20 per cent are in the 51 to 60 age group and about 18 per cent are over 60.

The shareowners—there are more than 14 million—are the best market for American industry, and 90 per cent of those polled said high interest rates—contrary to political claims—did not stop them from buying a house, a car or a major appliance. The other 10 per cent said that they were going to make such purchases later.

When the first survey of its customers was made two years ago, 72 per cent predicted a Democrat would be elected President this year. The new survey shows a complete turnabout—more than 57 per cent now believe a Republican will win in November.

Women are found to be less active traders than the men. While 40 per cent of the men planned to both buy and sell stocks in the next six months, only 25 per cent of the women said they would trade. About 10 per cent of the men said they intended to sit tight—neither buy nor sell—but 21 per cent of the women expected to make no change in their investments.

Also interesting was this conclusion:

"With more investment experience, customers became more cautious."

Many Viruses Cause Respiratory Ailments

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The virus has become a convenient label for many illnesses, especially those that produce coldlike symptoms. Isolating viruses is a time consuming and costly procedure, and the disease subsides quickly. For those two reasons alone we are willing to accept the diagnosis and are only too glad to be well again.

I talked to a writer not long ago who had just returned from a two-day illness. "It was miserable," he said. "My head pounded and my abdomen ached. I felt like a dishrag but had no fever. My physician said it was a 'virus.'" This man was completely well by the end of 48 hours.

The virus is blamed also for epidemics of abdominal cramping and diarrhea that occur from time to time. Generalized aching, fever, and sore throat may coexist; severe fatigue often is the most distressing symptom. It is this "all gone" feeling that suggests a viral origin, probably stemming from the toxic properties of the organism.

Most viral infections attack the respiratory passageways. The common cold, influenza, and grippe are the best known by the layman. The ECHO virus is a frequent culprit. The adenovirus is another variety; the most marked manifestations are sore throat and reddened eyes.

Our modern influenza vaccine protects against four of the common viruses and, in this respect, is a good preventive. But it would have to contain at least 25 distinct viral antigens to protect against the majority of respiratory infections. Luck enters the picture, as the best vaccine will fail should the user come into contact with viruses not included in the vaccine.

Infectious mononucleosis, which has been dubbed the "kissing" disease, is an example of a viral disease that spreads throughout the body. Sore throat, some lethargy, and swollen glands in the neck are the commonest symptoms but the liver may become involved as well as the brain, skin, and other organs.

FALSE HEART

H. H. writes: Is there such a thing as an artificial heart?

REPLY

Yes. This machine is used to take over the job of pumping blood while the heart is undergoing surgical repair.

RADIOACTIVE GOLD

C. C. B. writes: How do radioactive gold treatments help recovery in a cancer patient?

REPLY

This treatment is used chiefly in cancers involving the abdominal and pleural (chest) cavities. Radioactive gold is injected into the space, where it reduces the amount of fluid in 25 to 30 per cent of cases. The cancer cells are not destroyed.

CHIN ELIMINATION

D. C. writes: Is there any way for a thin person to lose a double chin?

REPLY

Plastic surgery is the best way unless you gain weight and fill in the flesh on your second chin.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

Biggest drawing card for New York's Yiddish theater is Molly Picon. Her recent limited engagement was sold out weeks in advance. Nevertheless, one devoted Picon fan subwayed all the way from the darkest Bronx and sought a ticket for the matinee. The box office treasurer reported, "We haven't had a ticket left for a month." The lady shook her fist in his face and shouted, "It's because of bad service like this that your Yiddish theater is dying!"

When Alan Jay Lerner, author of "My Fair Lady," was an undergraduate at Harvard, he wrote a musical for the Hasty Pudding Club about New York's ebullient mayor, Fiorello La Guardia (the subject, also, of a current hit on Broadway). La Guardia attended the opening of the Hasty Pudding effort, and later young Lerner rushed over to hear the "Little Flower's" comment. What Fiorello said was, "I envy you, young man — your mouth, not your talent!"

You're Telling Me!

By William Ritt

Moscow, we read, is conducting a vigorous campaign to combat pollution of its air. Now, don't tell us the capital of Communism is suffering from such a capitalistic problem as smog!

The TV viewing public seems to be taking very calmly that war between a network and one of its stars. After all, it's bigger than both of 'em.

Names for 1960's tropical storms will range from Abby to Winny, the Weather bureau announces. That last one sounds like a nightmare!

A patronage row over city jobs caused a walkout of Chicago city laborers, virtually halting collection of refuse and garbage. This, suggests Grandpappy Jenkins, sounds like a real mess.

Two Dutch mathematicians declare it's impossible to put a satellite in orbit around the moon. Where'd they dig up that out-of-date word—"impossible"?

Hoffa At The Dock - - Again

James Riddle Hoffa, who used to boast, "I got a list of arrests maybe as long as your arm," now faces a two-front attack that could reduce him to the state of sleazy if well-heeled oblivion now endured by his predecessor as Teamsters Union president, Dave Beck.

Monitors appointed by a federal court two years ago to oversee Hoffa's safeguarding of union funds now want him ousted on charges that he improperly invested $675,000, partly to help finance a Florida real estate development. The monitors are scheduled to report to a Washington, D. C., district court today. And a federal grand jury in Orlando, Fla., is looking into Hoffa's conduct in the real estate deal. A long series of court actions is in prospect, and Hoffa has proved an extremely capable defendant in previous cases.

The monitors were appointed as a compromise of a suit against Hoffa by 13 dissident union members who accused him of rigging the 1957 convention that elected him president. Hoffa was allowed to take office provisionally under the surveillance of the monitors. They now have brought 39 charges of union misconduct against him.

Aside from the court action, Hoffa comes under renewed attack from both union and political foes. Walter P. Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers and head of the AFL-CIO industrial union department, has accused him of teaming up with building trade unions to raid industrial unions. The Teamsters were expelled from the labor amalgamation in December 1957.

And recently it was disclosed that the 56 House members Hoffa singled out as targets in the 1960 elections have banded together to form a "Committee to Re-elect Hoffa-threatened Congressmen." Hoffa's outright opposition at the outset of the 1959 session to any kind of labor bill earned him few friends among his labor colleagues, and fewer friends on Capitol Hill — where, eventually, unpopularity could prove quite damaging.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

They Can't Take It

There must be something about play-acting and politics which disturbs the balance of an individual. I know politicians better than I do comedians, but both suffer from this similar illness which is some kind of a social psychosis that has not yet been described in the books.

Take an upcoming politician. He is usually a good guy, an extrovert, who believes that he ought to be liked because he has never done anything to bother anybody. His task is to put his foot on the first rung of the political ladder and that requires subservience to a professional politician. Nobody can get anywhere any other way. Some have tried it by a publicity blitz. Others have tried to be great reformers outside of practical politics but they usually die on the vine. The technical requirement is to be moved upward and onward. Many persons and groups enter into the production of a single political personality. It can truly be said that no politician is a self-made man.

However, the moment the politician arrives, he is a different man. His voice changes. It takes on the coloration of his profession. His walk grows weightier and slower. If once he was an idealist, he is now a pragmatist. His ear becomes elongated so that he can keep it to the ground and hear the tremblings before they become noticeable to the opposition.

Some politicians recover from this functional personality. They revert to their original ways, whatever they may have been, but must protect the image which they have presented to the public.

Actors used to play to small audiences, a few hundred persons who, on the whole, were predisposed to them because they paid to see and hear the actors. Great stars, like Sarah Bernhardt and Richard Mansfield, to cite two instances of the truly great, were fortunate if their audiences amounted to perhaps 1,000 persons. Few theaters existed which could hold many more.

Today, an untrained actor by a slip of fate, might be playing to 10 or 15 million persons on television.

Although this is not a select audience nor does he hear its applause, he does follow his rating which is as soothing to his soul as the 3,600 who applaud Robert Merrill in the Metropolitan Opera House. Who needs applause, if he can get a rating?

Suddenly the person to whom $100 looked like real money, even in inflationary times, is earning half a million a year which less taxes and less agents' fees, etc., is still money. He no longer depends upon the quips which brought him to fame. He now hires professional gag-writers and the word, gag, is just right for what they do to him, for "to gag" means to strangle, imitative of the sound made when choking; it also means to retch. Macauley used the phrase: "The time was not yet come when eloquence was to be gagged, and reason to be hoodwinked."

Well, that gives you an idea of what happens to the comedian when he hires a gag-writer. He is gagged which as a verb means putting something in the mouth both to choke and silence the victim. It also has some effect on the head which becomes unbelievably swollen. This is not surprising for to have an audience of millions of hearers easily could make a person, without the balance of philosophy and the humility of religion, believe that he is a god.

The man who did most for television was no actor. Television owes its existence to such men as Edison, De Forest, Marconi, Alexanderson, Baird, Zworykin and many others who created the device. Give comedians a few years of applause and they begin to believe in their own perfection. They become imperious to criticism.

I once asked Eddie Cantor who apart from being a comedian, is also a human being, why comedians always tell the same jokes which we heard when we were seven years old. To this he replied: "There is always somebody who is seven years old."

It is when the comedian imagines himself a sage that he usually suffers defeat. Artemus Ward and Mark Twain did possess sagacity although they were humorists. Will Rogers was one of the greatest comedians this country ever produced. These men did not need gag-writers nor did they have audiences of millions.

Dictator Trujillo Promises Free Elections In Dominican Republic

By Jack Anderson

Editor's Note — While Drew Pearson is on the West Coast his column is being written by his associate, Jack Anderson.

WASHINGTON — While President Eisenhower is giving the Dominican Republic a wide berth on his hopscotch tour of Latin America, dictator Trujillo is showing the first signs of relaxing his iron rule over the last surviving dictatorship in the Caribbean.

He has promised to invite the organization of American States, which takes a critical view of him, to oversee free elections in his tight little country within 15 months. Chatting with Florida Sen. The latest figures, however, show that the Soviet Union is throwing more than $3.6 billion around the world to aid "underdeveloped" countries, which sums could be much better spent on the Soviet people directly.

Credits granted by the Soviet Union to the United Arab Republic alone total $1,182,000,000, of which $304,000,000 went to Syria, and the rest Egypt, a large part of this for the Aswan Dam.

India gets steel mills from Russia, and the total aid is about $773,000,000 thus far. As for Indonesia, it has received $411,000,000, while $252,000,000 has gone to Afghanistan, and $257,000,000 to Iraq. Ethopia has gotten $112,000,000.

Even in points as far away as Latin America, the Soviets have put $104,000,000 in Argentina, and have promised $100,000,000 to Cuba.

The Soviet government grants credits, of course, to "satellite" countries inside the Soviet bloc, and these advances now amount to about $7.5 billion according to Moscow's own claims. Western experts, however, say this is an exaggeration and that the total runs to around $2.25 billion since 1956.

All this money could do much today for the Soviet people if used directly to improve their standard of living. Premier Khrushchev boasts of his program in speeches outside the Soviet Union. He said a few day ago in an address to the Indian Parliament:

"Our wealth, our industry, have been created within a historically short time by the intensive labor of the Soviet people. Although we have no surplus capital, we are rendering ever-increasing assistance to states needing such aid. At the present time the Soviet Union is tendering assistance in the construction of hundreds of industrial plants and power stations in underdeveloped countries.

"We want these countries to get on their own feet, we want them to create their own industry, capable of producing not only consumer goods but means of production as well. This will help underdeveloped countries to develop their own industrial base and speed up their economic development. . . .

"The Soviet Union's assistance in the economic development of underdeveloped countries mostly takes the form of credits and loans granted on most easy terms. We get no profit out of that, since we cannot and do not want to enrich ourselves at the expense of countries to which we are rendering assistance. We are guided by a sincere desire to help the peoples of former colonial countries in every way possible to attain real economic independence as soon as possible, and sharply raise their standard of life."

Much of the money loaned will never come back. The Soviet people will have to continue their "intensive labor" as they live in austerity. Families often are crowded into a single room. Millions of homes are without sanitary facilities on the premises.

Then why does the Moscow regime keep on exporting capital which could be better devoted to providing the necessities of life, not only to the people of the Soviet Union but to the Red Chinese? Plainly, the Communists believe that they can infiltrate and ultimately conquer many underdeveloped countries. They can succeed only if their own people are kept ignorant of what the leaders are doing. It might be asked, incidentally, if the various propaganda organizations in the free world, including America's own agencies, are stressing in broadcasts across the Iron Curtain this waste of the Soviet people's funds.

As for the United States, it is continuing to plan for about $4 billion a year of aid to other countries, both in military and economic programs. It is important to be competitive with the Soviet Union and to force Moscow to strain more and more to spend the Soviet people's substance. It's one way to hasten the day of internal revolt within Russia and China, which must come eventually if there is to be a relaxation of tension and an assurance of world peace.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

CAPITOL HILL — Capitol Hill, its grounds, buildings and their contents have been officially valued at $2,716,714,015.62. The total was arrived at in the course of a Congressional committee's inventory of all United States government-owned property.

One usually thinks in terms of buildings and grounds as making up the bulk of the dollar value of such inventories. However, this is not so in the case of the Capitol.

By far the largest single items is the $2,233,695,000 value placed on the books, periodicals and other manuscripts in the Library of Congress. The Library's collection is probably the most valuable and most extensive in the entire world.

Everything else on the Hill—buildings, grounds, equipment and supplies right down to paper clips comes to a relatively small, but nonetheless whopping total of $483,019,015.62.

The report is by far the most comprehensive listing of government assets ever undertaken. It includes up-to-date valuations of many items for the first time in the nation's history. Yet, some values are historic rather than actual. The White House grounds, in the heart of Washington, are carried on the books at $1,000. If they were for sale, the price would be several millions.

All federal government buildings and land in Washington are valued at $748,000,000, excluding Capitol Hill. The Capitol, its office buildings, garages, power plant, Supreme Court building, and other sundry pieces of real estate are worth $367,600,000.

Truly, government has become "big" business.

Who's The Market?

By Leslie Gould

What kind of people make up the stock market?

The biggest brokerage firm—Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith—"We the People"—to find the answer queried 357,000 of their customers.

Here are some of the things the firm found out:

Males outnumber the women 5 to 1.

The men are between 31 and 40. The women somewhat older—just how much so is "confidential."

About 60 per cent are in the $7,000 to $20,000 income bracket and their investment portfolio exceeds $10,000.

About 22 per cent are in the $4,000 to $7,000 bracket.

About 11 per cent have $20,000 to $50,000 income.

About 9 per cent make less than $4,000.

The average investor has been a shareowner only five years, which is a surprising fact.

The average investor's No. 1 interest is in capital gains—more than two-thirds of those polled stated this as their investment objective, against only 25 per cent who put "safety of capital" first. Only 10 per cent gave "liberal income" as their first requirement.

The emphasis on capital appreciation increases with the investor's income.

The ladies are more conservative—contrary to general opinion. They put safety first with capital gains second. Men overwhelmingly look for capital gains.

Most of the customers—80 per cent—made their first stock purchase on their own through a broker. About 10 per cent received their first stock as a gift or by inheritance. About 6 per cent first bought through an employe stock purchase plan.

Close to 80 per cent work for a living—about half are salaried.

About 20 per cent are professional people—doctors, lawyers, etc.

About 10 per cent are proprietors of a business.

Housewives account for 7 per cent.

About 11 per cent are retired.

The survey shows there is a bigger market to be developed in the under the 30 group—the ones who should be starting a dollar averaging program of investing. That is putting a fixed amount of dollars regularly in soundly selective stocks.

Only 10 per cent of the firm's customers are in the under 30 age group. The biggest is the 31 to 40 age bracket—about 26 per cent and the next biggest—about 25 per cent—in the 41 to 50 age group. Only 20 per cent are in the 51 to 60 age group and about 18 per cent are over 60.

The shareowners—there are more than 14 million—are the best market for American industry, and 90 per cent of those polled said high interest rates—contrary to political claims—did not stop them from buying a house, a car or a major appliance. The other 10 per cent said that they were going to make such purchases later.

When the first survey of its customers was made two years ago, 72 per cent predicted a Democrat would be elected President this year. The new survey shows a complete turnabout—more than 57 per cent now believe a Republican will win in November.

Women are found to be less active traders than the men. While 40 per cent of the men planned to both buy and sell stocks in the next six months, only 25 per cent of the women said they would trade. About 10 per cent of the men said they intended to sit tight—neither buy nor sell—but 21 per cent of the women expected to make no change in their investments.

Also interesting was this conclusion:

"With more investment experience, customers became more cautious."

Many Viruses Cause Respiratory Ailments

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The virus has become a convenient label for many illnesses, especially those that produce coldlike symptoms. Isolating viruses is a time consuming and costly procedure, and the disease subsides quickly. For those two reasons alone we are willing to accept the diagnosis and are only too glad to be well again.

I talked to a writer not long ago who had just returned from a two-day illness. "It was miserable," he said. "My head pounded and my abdomen ached. I felt like a dishrag but had no fever. My physician said it was a 'virus.'" This man was completely well by the end of 48 hours.

The virus is blamed also for epidemics of abdominal cramping and diarrhea that occur from time to time. Generalized aching, fever, and sore throat may coexist; severe fatigue often is the most distressing symptom. It is this "all gone" feeling that suggests a viral origin, probably stemming from the toxic properties of the organism.

Most viral infections attack the respiratory passageways. The common cold, influenza, and grippe are the best known by the layman. The ECHO virus is a frequent culprit. The adenovirus is another variety; the most marked manifestations are sore throat and reddened eyes.

Our modern influenza vaccine protects against four of the common viruses and, in this respect, is a good preventive. But it would have to contain at least 25 distinct viral antigens to protect against the majority of respiratory infections. Luck enters the picture, as the best vaccine will fail should the user come into contact with viruses not included in the vaccine.

Infectious mononucleosis, which has been dubbed the "kissing" disease, is an example of a viral disease that spreads throughout the body. Sore throat, some lethargy, and swollen glands in the neck are the commonest symptoms but the liver may become involved as well as the brain, skin, and other organs.

FALSE HEART

H. H. writes: Is there such a thing as an artificial heart?

REPLY

Yes. This machine is used to take over the job of pumping blood while the heart is undergoing surgical repair.

RADIOACTIVE GOLD

C. C. B. writes: How do radioactive gold treatments help recovery in a cancer patient?

REPLY

This treatment is used chiefly in cancers involving the abdominal and pleural (chest) cavities. Radioactive gold is injected into the space, where it reduces the amount of fluid in 25 to 30 per cent of cases. The cancer cells are not destroyed.

CHIN ELIMINATION

D. C. writes: Is there any way for a thin person to lose a double chin?

REPLY

Plastic surgery is the best way unless you gain weight and fill in the flesh on your second chin.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Biggest drawing card for New York's Yiddish theater is Molly Picon. Her recent limited engagement was sold out weeks in advance. Nevertheless, one devoted Picon fan subwayed all the way from the darkest Bronx and sought a ticket for the matinee. The box office treasurer reported, "We haven't had a ticket left for a month." The lady shook her fist in his face and shouted, "It's because of bad service like this that your Yiddish theater is dying!"

When Alan Jay Lerner, author of "My Fair Lady," was an undergraduate at Harvard, he wrote a musical for the Hasty Pudding Club about New York's ebullient mayor, Fiorello La Guardia (the subject, also, of a current hit on Broadway). La Guardia attended the opening of the Hasty Pudding effort, and later young Lerner rushed over to hear the "Little Flower's" comment. What Fiorello said was, "I envy you, young man — your mouth, not your talent!"

Romney Cops 19th Straight, Beall Trips Keyser, 62-58

Pioneers Belt Wardensville Quint, 115-49

Moorefield Beats Mathias, 67 To 46; Fort Ashby Wins

Romney High School's Pioneers racked up their 19th consecutive victory last night when they routed Wardensville High School in a Potomac Valley Conference tilt at Romney by the score of 115-49.

The win gave Coach Clyde Green's team a 16-0 mark in the P.V.C. The Pioneers can make it a perfect season in the conference by beating Capon Bridge Tuesday night at the latter place. Romney can close its regular campaign with a 21-0 record if it can dispose of Roosevelt-Wilson High School Wednesday night at Clarksburg.

Last night marked the fourth time this season that the Hampshire countians had scored 100 or more points in a game.

Bill Maphis led the assault with a 37-point splurge on 17 field goals and 3-3 fouls which upped his season total to 566 tallies in 18 contests. Stanley Shingleton racked up 23 points including 10 goals. Donnie Davis and John Blue garnered 14 points each and Dave Kirk collected 12.

Dixon Orndorff paced Wardensville with 15 markers.

Beall Gets Revenge

Beall High School squared accounts for the first setback of the 1959-60 campaign when it handed Keyser High School a 62-57 setback at Frostburg. The win gave Coach "Ebbie" Finzel's quint a 10-8 overall mark and a 4-3 record in the P.V.C. Keyser is 11-8 for the season and 10-6 in the league.

Jim Evans led the Frostburg offensive with nine goals and 7-8 fouls for a total of 25 points. Gary Keedy tossed in 22 points to pace the Golden Tornado.

Beall held a 10-point lead at 48-38 going into the final quarter and almost blew it in the closing minutes of play.

Jackets, Eagles Win

In other P.V.C. games last night, Moorefield's Yellowjackets trimmed Mathias by the score of 67-46, and Fort Ashby won at Elk Garden to the tune of 59-50.

John Fisher and Doug Yankey with 16 and 15 markers led Moorefield's scoring while Bob Westfall was high man for Mathias with 13.

Steed's 18 points was high for Fort Ashby while Gary Evans topped Elk Garden with 22.

The Elks lost Harvey, Shillinburg and Junkins on fouls in the final period and played the closing minute with only four players on the court. Price of Fort Ashby also fouled out.

Fort Ashby's Jayvees won the preliminary battle in overtime, 37-35.

Neal was voted the Most Valuable Player in the Tournament and along with Allen made the all-tournament team. Neal scored 81 points in the three games, Allen racked up 62 and Wendell Dick slammed in 25 points in the tourney opener. Neal's home is in Washington, D. C., Allen is from Fayetteville, W. Va., and Dick hails from Winchester, Va.

Sid Feder, 50, Taken By Death

Sports Writer Dies After Long Illness

VICTORIA, Tex. (UPI) — Sid Feder, a nationally known sports writer, newspaper columnist, and author, died Monday in a Victoria hospital after a long illness.

Feder, 50, was an Associated Press sports writer up to the mid 40s. He was one of the nation's best known boxing writers.

Feder was working as publicity director for the Victoria Rosebuds baseball team in the Texas League at the time of his death. He also wrote a column called "Longhorns and Short Tales" for the Victoria Advocate.

He was the author of two books, "Murder, Inc.," and "The Luciano Story." A third book called "The Brinks Holdup" is scheduled for publication in the fall.

Twentyone Guns Wins On Coast

ARCADIA, Calif. (UPI)—Twentyone Guns, ridden by George Taniguchi, won a neck-and-neck stretch duel Monday to take the $60,700 Washington's Birthday Handicap at Santa Anita Park.

Twenty one Guns laid back in the early stages but came to front at head of the stretch and outlasted Porter to win in a close finish.

The winner paid $15.60.

Porter, a lightly regarded horse in the mutuel field with Courtier, Endure and Spinney, paid $18.20.

Kong O' Turf was third and paid $10.40.

Whodunit, a 3-1 favorite as an entry with Nickel Boy, finished fourth. Nickel Boy, top-weighted at 120 pounds failed to get a call.

The winner's purse for Twentyone Guns, owned by Eyraud and Sons and trained by F.M. Smith, was $37,600.

Notre Dame Gets Tournament Berth

NEW YORK (UPI) — Notre Dame, with a 15-7 record, was selected Monday as one of the "at-large" teams for the NCAA basketball tournament.

The Irish, who earned an NCAA berth for the third time in the past four seasons, will meet Ohio University in the Mid-East Regional playoffs at Lexington, Ky., March 8. Ohio U. clinched the Mid-American Conference championship last weekend.

The University of Miami (Fla.), another at-large selection, will play the Ohio Valley Conference champion still to be determined, in the other half of the Lexington double-header.

Terps Win Meet

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—The University of Maryland, with 89 points, won the first annual Metropolitan Washington Collegiate Swimming championship Monday.

Other teams and their point totals were American 60, Howard 47, Georgetown 45, Catholic University 29, and Gallaudet 17.

Elliott Burch, trainer of Sword Dancer, once majored in English at Yale then switched to animal husbandry at the University of Kentucky.

Mountaineers Drop Varsity Gridders

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI)—Two members of the West Virginia University varsity football team have been dropped from school because of academic deficiencies, it was disclosed Monday.

Dean Ray O. Duncan of the School of Physical Education and Athletics said the players were quarterback John Keller and end Charles Downs, both sophomores.

Keller, a 5-foot-10, 170-pounder from Dunbar, shared the Mountaineers' punting duties last year with Danny Williams.

D.A.V. Drops Pair

The Cumberland D.A.V. dropped a 2-1 decision to the Outdoor Club last night in an Allegany County Men's Shuffleboard League match. Knierium headed the winners with 24 points while L. Arnone led the D.A.V. with 20.

In a Saturday night match, the Owls club scored a 2-1 victory over the D.A.V. Welsh was high scorer for the Owls with 21 tallies. William Wolfe headed the D.A.V. with 14.

West Liberty Meets Wesleyan In Series

BUCKHANNON, W. Va. (AP)—A best-of-three playoff series will open here Tuesday night between West Liberty's surprising Hilltoppers and West Virginia Wesleyan's Bobcats.

At stake will be a trip to Kansas City, Mo., next month to compete in the National Assn. of Intercollegiate Athletics championship tournament.

The best-of-three series will continue at the West Liberty field house Thursday night and a third game, if needed, will be Monday night at Glenville's gymnasium, a neutral court.

Abe Gibron Joins Skins, Gamecocks Land Tereshinski

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Redskins lost Assistant Coach Joe Tereshinski to the University of South Carolina Monday but added veteran Abe Gibron from the Chicago Bears.

Gibron, 35, has retired as a player after 10 seasons in pro football and will assist Head Coach Mike Nixon with Washington's line.

Tereshinski, a Redskin as player and coach since 1947, reportedly will work on South Carolina's offense under Coach Warren Giese. He is understood to have decided to make the shift from pro to college in order to be able to spend more time with his family.

An end at Georgia and with the Redskins, Tereshinski has coached Washington's ends and served as chief scout for the National Football League club.

The 36-year-old Tereshinski's depature still leaves a vacancy for Nixon to fill. Gibron was hired to replace Line Coach Ernie Hefferle, who recently became head coach at Boston College.

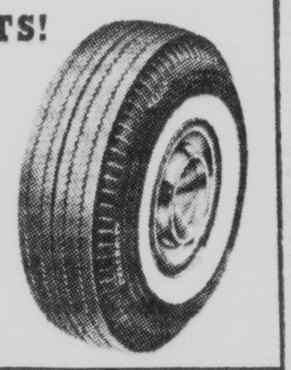

By hitting .377, Boston Red Sox rookie Carl Yastrzemski won the 1959 Carolina League batting title by a margin of 54 points. He starred at second base for Raleigh, N. C.

Romney Cops 19th Straight, Beall Trips Keyser, 62-58

Moorefield Beats Mathias, 67 To 46; Fort Ashby Wins

Romney High School's Pioneers racked up their 19th consecutive victory last night when they routed Wardensville High School in a Potomac Valley Conference tilt at Romney by the score of 115-49.

The win gave Coach Clyde Green's team a 16-0 mark in the P.V.C. The Pioneers can make it a perfect season in the conference by beating Capon Bridge Tuesday night at the latter place. Romney can close its regular campaign with a 21-0 record if it can dispose of Roosevelt-Wilson High School Wednesday night at Clarksburg.

Last night marked the fourth time this season that the Hampshire countians had scored 100 or more points in a game.

Bill Maphis led the assault with a 37-point splurge on 17 field goals and 3-3 fouls which upped his season total to 366 tallies in 18 contests. Stanley Shingleton racked up 23 points including 10 goals. Donnie Davis and John Blue garnered 14 points each and Dave Kirk collected 12.

Dixon Orndorff paced Wardensville with 15 markers.

Beall Gets Revenge

Beall High School squared accounts for the first setback of the 1959-60 campaign when it handed Keyser High School a 62-57 setback at Frostburg. The win gave Coach "Ebbie" Finzel's quint a 10-8 overall mark and a 4-3 record in the P.V.C. Keyser is 11-8 for the season and 10-6 in the league.

Jim Evans led the Frostburg offensive with nine goals and 7-8 fouls for a total of 25 points. Gary Keedy tossed in 22 points to pace the Golden Tornado.

Beall held a 10-point lead at 48-38 going into the final quarter and almost blew it in the closing minutes of play.

Jackets, Eagles Win

In other P.V.C. games last night, Moorefield's Yellowjackets trimmed Mathias by the score of 67-46, and Fort Ashby won at Elk Garden to the tune of 59-50.

John Fisher and Doug Yankey with 16 and 15 markers led Moorefield's scoring while Bob Westfall was high man for Mathias with 13.

Steed's 18 points was high for Fort Ashby while Gary Evans topped Elk Garden with 22.

The Elks lost Harvey, Shillinburg and Junkins on fouls in the final period and played the closing minute with only four players on the court. Price of Fort Ashby also fouled out.

Fort Ashby's Jayvees won the preliminary battle in overtime, 37-35.

SPARKLED IN TOURNEY—Frank Neal, John Allen and Wendell Dick, pictured left to right, were standouts for Potomac State College of Keyser last weekend when the Catamounts walloped Hagerstown, 110-34, Baltimore 78-54 and Montgomery 103-69 to win the Tri-State Junior College Tournament at Suitland, Md. Neal was voted the Most Valuable Player in the Tournament and along with Allen made the all-tournament team. Neal scored 81 points in the three games. Allen racked up 62 and Wendell Dick slammed in 25 points in the tourney opener. Neal's home is in Washington, D. C., Allen is from Fayetteville, W. Va., and Dick hails from Winchester, Va.

Sid Feder, 50, Taken By Death

Sports Writer Dies After Long Illness

VICTORIA, Tex. (UPI) — Sid Feder, a nationally known sports writer, newspaper columnist, and author, died Monday in a Victoria hospital after a long illness.

Feder, 50, was an Associated Press sports writer up to the mid 40s. He was one of the nation's best known boxing writers.

Feder was working as publicity director for the Victoria Rosebuds baseball team in the Texas League at the time of his death. He also wrote a column called "Longhorns and Short Tales" for the Victoria Advocate.

He was the author of two books, "Murder, Inc.," and "The Luciano Story." A third book called "The Brinks Holdup" is scheduled for publication in the fall.

Twentyone Guns Wins On Coast

ARCADIA, Calif. (UPI)—Twentyone Guns, ridden by George Taniguchi, won a neck-and-neck stretch duel Monday to take the $60,700 Washington's Birthday Handicap at Santa Anita Park.

Twenty one Guns laid back in the early stages but came to front at head of the stretch and outlasted Porter to win in a close finish.

The winner paid $15.60.

Porter, a lightly regarded horse in the mutuel field with Courtier, Endure and Spinney, paid $18.20.

Kong O' Turf was third and paid $10.40.

Whodunit, a 3-1 favorite as an entry with Nickel Boy, finished fourth. Nickel Boy, top-weighted at 120 pounds failed to get a call.

The winner's purse for Twentyone Guns, owned by Eyraud and Sons and trained by F.M. Smith, was $37,600.

Notre Dame Gets Tournament Berth

NEW YORK (UPI) — Notre Dame, with a 15-7 record, was selected Monday as one of the "at-large" teams for the NCAA basketball tournament.

The Irish, who earned an NCAA berth for the third time in the past four seasons, will meet Ohio University in the Mid-East Regional playoffs at Lexington, Ky., March 8. Ohio U. clinched the Mid-American Conference championship last weekend.

The University of Miami (Fla.), another at-large selection, will play the Ohio Valley Conference champion still to be determined, in the other half of the Lexington double-header.

Terps Win Meet

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—The University of Maryland, with 89 points, won the first annual Metropolitan Washington Collegiate Swimming championship Monday.

Other teams and their point totals were American 60, Howard 47, Georgetown 45, Catholic University 29, and Gallaudet 17.

Elliott Burch, trainer of Sword Dancer, once majored in English at Yale then switched to animal husbandry at the University of Kentucky.

Mountaineers Drop Varsity Gridders

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI)—Two members of the West Virginia University varsity football team have been dropped from school because of academic deficiencies, it was disclosed Monday.

Dean Ray O. Duncan of the School of Physical Education and Athletics said the players were quarterback John Keller and end Charles Downs, both sophomores.

Keller, a 5-foot-10, 170-pounder from Dunbar, shared the Mountaineers' punting duties last year with Danny Williams.

Downs, from Harrisville, considered a good prospect, saw limited action last season.

D.A.V. Drops Pair

The Cumberland D.A.V. dropped a 2-1 decision to the Outdoor Club last night in an Allegany County Men's Shuffleboard League match. Knierium headed the winners with 24 points while L. Arnone led the D.A.V. with 20.

In a Saturday night match, the Owls club scored a 2-1 victory over the D.A.V. Welsh was high scorer for the Owls with 21 tallies. William Wolfe headed the D.A.V. with 14.

A 32-point performance by Don Moran sparked the Old Germans to their 37th consecutive City Basketball League victory, as they downed the Forty & Eight Club last night at Fort Hill High School by the score of 95-52.

It was the 7th straight win of the 2nd half race for the Old Gees who copped the first half with 10-0 and 20 straight last season.

Evers Smith tossed in 26 points for the Forty & Eight quint.

The Old Exports stayed one game in the rear of the league leaders by whipping Roseland by the score of 81-61. Kenny Johnson, Gary Smith and Bob Wolford led the winners with 20, 19 and 16 points. Junior Eversole was high for Roseland with 21 markers.

Liberty Trust Company suffered its 7th straight loss of the second half at the hands of the Loyal Order of Moose by the score of 75-46.

Donnie Madden topped the Moose with 28 points while John Price dumped in 25 tallies for the Bankers.

A change in Thursday's schedule at Fort Hill was announced last night. The Old Export-Forty & Eight game is moved back an hour to 8:45 while the Old Germans and Moose contest has been moved up one hour to 7:45. Box scores:

West Liberty Meets Wesleyan In Series

BUCKHANNON, W. Va. (AP)—A best-of-three playoff series will open here Tuesday night between West Liberty's surprising Hilltoppers and West Virginia Wesleyan's Bobcats.

At stake will be a trip to Kansas City, Mo., next month to compete in the National Assn. of Intercollegiate Athletics championship tournament.

The best-of-three series will continue at the West Liberty field house Thursday night and a third game, if needed, will be Monday night at Glenville's gymnasium, a neutral court.

Abe Gibron Joins Skins, Gamecocks Land Tereshinski

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Redskins lost Assistant Coach Joe Tereshinski to the University of South Carolina Monday but added veteran Abe Gibron from the Chicago Bears.

Gibron, 35, has retired as a player after 10 seasons in pro football and will assist Head Coach Mike Nixon with Washington's line.

Tereshinski, a Redskin as player and coach since 1947, reportedly will work on South Carolina's offense under Coach Warren Giese. He is understood to have decided to make the shift from pro to college in order to be able to spend more time with his family.

An end at Georgia and with the Redskins, Tereshinski has coached Washington's ends and served as chief scout for the National Football League club.

The 36-year-old Tereshinski's depature still leaves a vacancy for Nixon to fill. Gibron was hired to replace Line Coach Ernie Hefferle, who recently became head coach at Boston College.

By hitting .377, Boston Red Sox rookie Carl Yastrzemski won the 1959 Carolina League batting title by a margin of 54 points. He starred at second base for Raleigh, N. C.

Russia Takes Overwhelming Lead In Winter Olympics

Thoma Wins For Germany In Ski Test

Buarnet Of France Is Downhill Victor, Carol Heiss Leads

By TED SMITS

SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (AP)—Russia wrapped up victory in the Winter Olympics Monday and Carol Heiss of Ozone Park, N.Y., virtually clinched the women's figure skating championship.

France, Russia, and Germany won the three gold medals that were up for grabs this sunny holiday. Thousands of automobiles poured into this 6,000-foot high valley and the rugged slopes were alive with spectators clad in all the hues of the rainbow.

Russia Doubles Score

With four days of competition completed and six to go, Russia with 86½ points had nearly doubled the score on the closest rival, Germany, with 48—and many of Russia's strongest events are still to come.

Monday's gold medal winners were:

Combined Nordic (ski jumping and 15-kilometer ski race) — Georg Thoma, West Germany, 457.952 points.

1,000-meter women's speed skating—Klara Guseva, Russia, 1:31.1.

Men's downhill ski race — Jean Buarnet, France, 2:06.

In women's figure skating, the contestants completed the fifth and last of the required figures, and Miss Heiss' aggregate score soared to 836.8 points. Her lead on the field was commanding. Tuesday comes the freestyle skating in which she is supreme.

Dressed in black and with a red ribbon in her hair, the 20-year-old New York University student cut an almost perfect symmetrical "Paragraph" on the ice with her silver blades.

This was the fifth and final figure — and the toughest—of the compulsory assignments and Carol flashed through it in a manner befitting a four-time world champion.

Conceded Title

The Olympic title, which she barely missed four years ago at Cortina, is conceded to her. The main competition is that for second place between Europe's champion, Sjoukje Dijkstra of Holland, and the two U.S. youngsters —Barbara Ann Roles of Temple City, Calif., and Laurence Owen of Winchester, Mass.

The big surprise of the day was the men's downhill, one of the blue ribbon ski events in which the daring contestants hit speeds of 70 miles an hour as they plummet down the two-mile course.

Buarnett is a veteran but was not ranked among the top contenders.

"I have expected I would win," he said afterwards. "This was my only chance and I was glad I could take it."

Hanspeter Lanig of Germany took second in 2:06.5 and Guy Perillat of France was third in 2:06.9.

Gorsuch Disqualified

Dave Gorsuch of Climax, Calif., made the best American showing when he shot down the hill in 2:11. This would have given him 14th place but he was later disqualified, throwing the top U. S. position to Gordon Eaton of Littleton, N.H., who was 16th in 2:14.

Tormod Knutsen of Norway took second in the Nordic combined and Nikolai Gusakov of Russia was third. Alfred Vincelette of San Francisco was 26th, the first American to finish in the 31-man field.

In the 1,000-meter speed skating event, Helga Haase of Germany, winner of the gold medal at 500 meters, took the silver medal with a time of 1:34.3. Tamaara Rylova of Russia was third with 1:34.8.

Bulldogs Seek Title In Game With Rebels

South High Could Upset Dope; Cadets Visit Fort Hill

What looms as the most important of the four games remaining on the schedule of the Cumberland Valley Athletic League will be staged in the Hub City tonight between Martinsburg's front-running Bulldogs and Nick Scallion's South Hagerstown Rebels.

Frederick (4-5) plays Fort Hill's Sentinels (0-8) here tonight but the game that is creating more interest locally is the one in Hagerstown because Allegany High (6-3) is only one game in the rear of the Bulldogs (7-2) and a defeat for the latter at the hands of the Rebels would enable the Campers to finish the season in a tie for first place if they can dispose of North Hagerstown at Campobello Wednesday night.

Coach Homer Brooks' Cadets will be playing their final league game tonight and they can make it 5-5 for the season if they sweep the series with the Sentinels, who dropped the opener, 53-46, and have yet to win in the league.

Frederick split even with Allegany, losing here, 51-48, and winning on its home court, 56-48.

Could Win It Tonight

Coach George Whitacre's Martinsburg quint could sew up its first league title with a victory tonight over the team it belted by the score of 60-31 early in the season. Frederic won the first title in the revived CVAL in 1957, Fort Hill finished on top in 1958 and North Hagerstown was the winner last year.

Southern's Highlanders will be angling for their 14th win of the season when they tackle the Petersburg Vikings tonight in a Potomac Valley Conference contest at Petersburg. The Garrett countians (13-3) hold an 84-72 decision over the Grant Countians who are 8-10 going into the final game of the regular season. In another P.V.C. game, Paw Paw's Pirates will host the Berkeley Springs High School Indians.

Mt. Savage At Hyndman

Hyndman's Hornets (10-7) will be out for revenge when they entertain Mt. Savage High School tonight. The Indians copped the first game of this series, 61-52, and have a 7-9 record with three games left to play.

Valley High's Black Knights, awaiting that "big one" with Bruce High on Friday, tackle the Huskies of Northern High tonight on the Valley court. Valley (12-7) will be shooting for a series sweep, having beaten the Huskies on their home court, 64-54.

Oldtown High goes to Romney to play the West Virginia School for the Deaf, Green Bank invades Thomas to play Mountaineer High and Bedford invades Somerset for other games on the Tuesday night card.

Coach "Mac" Norwood's Lions have beaten Oldtown, 67-48 and Bedford dropped a 68-33 decision to Somerset.

F. & R. Shufflers Win

Fisher & Robinette scored a 2-1 win over Pocahontas last night in an Allegany County Women's Shuffleboard League match. Agnes McCall paced the winners with 24 points while Rita Auvil was high scorer for Pocahontas with 25 markers.

Final Playoffs To Start Tonight In Rec Leagues

Jerry's Beauty Salon and Ballard's Cleaners will clash tonight at 8 o'clock in the first of a best-of-three final playoff series of the Men's Rec League at Allegany High School.

The second game is set for Thursday while the third, if necessary, will be staged next week.

Dunlop's Dunkers will play Diamond Bowling today in the opener of a best-of-three final playoff series in the High School Rec League at 7 p. m., at Allegany High School. The second game is carded for Thursday at 7 p. m., on the same court and the third, if necessary, will be played next week.

The teams finished the regular season in the following order:

MEN'S REC LEAGUE

	W.	L.
Ballards Cleaners	11	1
Hafer House	10	2
Pittsburgh Plate Glass	10	2
Jerry's Beauty Salon	10	2

Herbert Signs

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—The Kansas City Athletics announced Monday the signing of righthanded pitcher Ray Herbert, a 30-year-old veteran who had an 11-11 record last year with the American League baseball club.

Herbert is the 30th player to come to terms with the A's for the 1960 season.

U.S. Hockey Team Beats Sweden, 6-3

Russians Score Over Czechs, 8-5

By PAT MCNULTY
Associated Press Sports Writer

SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (AP) (AP)—Roger Christian, a carpenter from Minnesota, scored three goals Monday as the United States defeated Sweden 6-3 in the opening round of the olympic hockey championship tournament. Russia's defending champions downed a plucky Czechoslovakia sextet, 8-5, in the first game.

Canada met Germany in the windup of the day's competition.

Christian, in performing his hat trick, scored a goal in each of the three periods.

He got the Yanks off to a running start with the first goal of the game after three minutes on an assist from his brother, Billy, and the Americans quickly surged to a 4-0 lead.

The Swedes came back in the second period with two goals but Christian halted the rally by ramming in his second goal near the end of the period after his brother, Billy, had missed a shot.

The third came at 13:38 of the last period.

The other American goals were made by Robert McVey of Hamden, Conn.; Paul Johnson of West Paul, Minn., and Bob Cleary of Westwood, Mass.

Goalie Jack McCartan of St. Paul, Minn., with 36 saves did a great job in the United States nets.

Konstantin Loktev, a 26-year-old veteran left-winger led the Russians' precision-passing attack with the three goal hat trick. Uri Tsitsinov and Veniamin Aleksandrove scored two apiece for Russia.

It was clean but hard - fought contest. When it was over, the players from the two communist lands slapped each other on the backs and shook hands.

Aaron Receives Salary Increase

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Henry Aaron, National League's batting leader agreed Monday to terms with the Milwaukee Braves at a salary increase estimated at $20,000.

The Mobile, Ala., slugger who won his second batting title last season agreed by telephone to a contract calling for more than $50,000.

Last year his salary was estimated at $37,500.

Aaron, 26, last year hit .355 and won the league's slugging title with a percentage of .634. He had 400 total bases. He also won the batting championship in 1956 with a .328 average.

Barry MacKay Beats Savitt For Net Title

Captures Five-Set Final In New York

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Big Barry MacKay outblasted Dick Savitt, 6-2, 2-6, 10-12, 6-1, 6-4 Monday and won the National Indoor Tennis Championship.

It was strictly a battle of big services and MacKay held the edge, especially in the last two sets when Savitt, a part-time player these days, appeared to wilt.

This was MacKay's second big victory over Savitt in the last eight days. A week ago Sunday he whipped Savitt in the final of the Buffalo indoor tournament.

Each of these power hitters smashed over ace after ace and in the end, MacKay had 23 and Savitt 28. But it was MacKay who was the steadier. He had the better of it when the ball was in play.

Savitt, from New York, is a two-time winner of the tournament, and lost the final last year to Alex Olmedo, who since has turned professional. Savitt won in 1952 and 1958 and knew every crack in the boards of the 7th Regiment Tennis Club.

In the first set there were two breaks by MacKay — in the second and eighth games. At that time, it looked as though Savitt was going to go down in a hurry. He wasn't covering the court and many of his returns were mere setups for MacKay.

But at the start of the second set, Savitt must have given himself a talking to because he broke MacKay's delivery in the first game and again in the seventh.

Russia Takes Overwhelming Lead In Winter Olympics

Thoma Wins For Germany In Ski Test

Buarnet Of France Is Downhill Victor, Carol Heiss Leads

By TED SMITS

SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (AP)—Russia wrapped up victory in the Winter Olympics Monday and Carol Heiss of Ozone Park, N.Y., virtually clinched the women's figure skating championship.

France, Russia, and Germany won the three gold medals that were up for grabs this sunny holiday. Thousands of automobiles poured into this 6,000-foot high valley and the rugged slopes were alive with spectators clad in all the hues of the rainbow.

Russia Doubles Score

With four days of competition completed and six to go, Russia with 86½ points had nearly doubled the score on the closest rival, Germany, with 48—and many of Russia's strongest events are still to come.

Monday's gold medal winners were:

Combined Nordic (ski jumping and 15-kilometer ski race) — Georg Thoma, West Germany, 457.952 points.

1,000-meter women's speed skating—Klara Guseva, Russia, 1:31.1.

Men's downhill ski race — Jean Buarnet, France, 2:06.

In women's figure skating, the contestants completed the fifth and last of the required figures, and Miss Heiss' aggregate score soared to 836.8 points. Her lead on the field was commanding. Tuesday comes the freestyle skating in which she is supreme.

Dressed in black and with a red ribbon in her hair, the 20-year-old New York University student cut an almost perfect symmetrical "Paragraph" on the ice with her silver blades.

This was the fifth and final figure — and the toughest—of the compulsory assignments and Carol flashed through it in a manner befitting a four-time world champion.

Conceded Title

The Olympic title, which she barely missed four years ago at Cortina, is conceded to her. The main competition is that for second place between Europe's champion, Sjoukje Dijkstra of Holland, and the two U.S. youngsters —Barbara Ann Roles of Temple City, Calif., and Laurence Owen of Winchester, Mass.

The big surprise of the day was the men's downhill, one of the blue ribbon ski events in which the daring contestants hit speeds of 70 miles an hour as they plummet down the two-mile course.

Buarnett is a veteran but was not ranked among the top contenders.

"I have expected I would win," he said afterwards. "This was my only chance and I was glad I could take it."

Hanspeter Lanig of Germany took second in 2:06.5 and Guy Perillat of France was third in 2:06.9.

Gorsuch Disqualified

Dave Gorsuch of Climax, Calif., made the best American showing when he shot down the hill in 2:11. This would have given him 14th place but he was later disqualified, throwing the top U. S. position to Gordon Eaton of Littleton, N.H., who was 16th in 2:14.

Tormod Knutsen of Norway took second in the Nordic combined and Nikolai Gusakov of Russia was third. Alfred Vincelette of San Francisco was 26th, the first American to finish in the 31-man field.

In the 1,000-meter speed skating event, Helga Haase of Germany, winner of the gold medal at 500 meters, took the silver medal with a time of 1:34.3. Tamaara Rylova of Russia was third with 1:34.8.

Winter Olympics Medal Winners

SQUAW VALLEY (UPI) — The medal standings in the winter Olympics (gold for first places, silver for second and bronze for third):

Sweden	2	1	0
Austria	0	1	2
United States	0	1	2
Poland	0	1	1
Finland	0	1	0
Norway	0	1	0

Squaw Valley Events Today

SQUAW VALLEY (UPI)—Schedule of events for the sixth day, Tuesday, Feb. 23, of the VIII Winter Olympic Games (all times are Eastern Standard):

11 a.m.—Men's 15 kilometer special cross-country skiing.

12 noon — Ladies, 3,000 meter speed skating.

1 p.m.—Ladies' giant slalom skiing.

3:30 p.m.—Ladies' free-style figure skating.

6:30 p.m.— Victory ceremonies.

Hockey:

2 P.M. — Finland vs. Japan (consolation)

There are no championship hockey games scheduled for Tuesday, which was set aside as a rest day for the six title round teams.

Bulldogs Seek Title In Game With Rebels

South High Could Upset Dope; Cadets Visit Fort Hill

What looms as the most important of the four games remaining on the schedule of the Cumberland Valley Athletic League will be staged in the Hub City tonight between Martinsburg's front-running Bulldogs and Nick Scallion's South Hagerstown Rebels.

Frederick (4-5) plays Fort Hill's Sentinels (0-8) here tonight but the game that is creating more interest locally is the one in Hagerstown because Allegany High (6-3) is only one game in the rear of the Bulldogs (7-2) and a defeat for the latter at the hands of the Rebels would enable the Campers to finish the season in a tie for first place if they can dispose of North Hagerstown at Campobello Wednesday night.

Coach Homer Brooks' Cadets will be playing their final league game tonight and they can make it 5-5 for the season if they sweep the series with the Sentinels, who dropped the opener, 53-46, and have yet to win in the league.

Frederick split even with Allegany, losing here, 51-48, and winning on its home court, 56-48.

Could Win It Tonight

Coach George Whitacre's Martinsburg quint could sew up its first league title with a victory tonight over the team it belted by the score of 60-31 early in the season. Frederic won the first title in the revived CVAL in 1957, Fort Hill finished on top in 1958 and North Hagerstown was the winner last year.

Southern's Highlanders will be angling for their 14th win of the season when they tackle the Petersburg Vikings tonight in a Potomac Valley Conference contest at Petersburg. The Garrett countians (13-3) hold an 84-72 decision over the Grant Countians who are 8-10 going into the final game of the regular season. In another P.V.C. game, Paw Paw's Pirates will host the Berkeley Springs High School Indians.

Mt. Savage At Hyndman

Hyndman's Hornets (10-7) will be out for revenge when they entertain Mt. Savage High School tonight. The Indians copped the first game of this series, 61-52, and have a 7-9 record with three games left to play.

Valley High's Black Knights, awaiting that "big one" with Bruce High on Friday, tackle the Huskies of Northern High tonight on the Valley court. Valley (12-7) will be shooting for a series sweep, having beaten the Huskies on their home court, 64-54.

Oldtown High goes to Romney to play the West Virginia School for the Deaf, Green Bank invades Thomas to play Mountaineer High and Bedford invades Somerset for other games on the Tuesday night card.

Coach "Mac" Norwood's Lions have beaten Oldtown, 67-48 and Bedford dropped a 68-33 decision to Somerset.

F. & R. Shufflers Win

Fisher & Robinette scored a 2-1 win over Pocahontas last night in an Allegany County Women's Shuffleboard League match. Agnes McCall paced the winners with 24 points while Rita Auvil was high scorer for Pocahontas with 25 markers.

Final Playoffs To Start Tonight In Rec Leagues

Jerry's Beauty Salon and Ballard's Cleaners will clash tonight at 8 o'clock in the first of a best-of-three final playoff series of the Men's Rec League at Allegany High School.

The second game is set for Thursday while the third, if necessary, will be staged next week.

Dunlop's Dunkers will play Diamond Bowling today in the opener of a best-of-three final playoff series in the High School Rec League at 7 p. m., at Allegany High School. The second game is carded for Thursday at 7 p. m., on the same court and the third, if necessary, will be played next week.

The teams finished the regular season in the following order:

	W.	L.
Ballards Cleaners	11	1
Hafer House	10	2
Pittsburgh Plate Glass	10	2
Jerry's Beauty Salon	10	2
Yoder's Plumbers	8	4

Herbert Signs

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—The Kansas City Athletics announced Monday the signing of righthanded pitcher Ray Herbert, a 30-year-old veteran who had an 11-11 record last year with the American League baseball club.

Herbert is the 30th player to come to terms with the A's for the 1960 season.

U.S. Hockey Team Beats Sweden, 6-3

Russians Score Over Czechs, 8-5

By PAT MCNULTY
Associated Press Sports Writer

SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (AP) (AP)—Roger Christian, a carpenter from Minnesota, scored three goals Monday as the United States defeated Sweden 6-3 in the opening round of the olympic hockey championship tournament. Russia's defending champions downed a plucky Czechoslovakia sextet, 8-5, in the first game.

Canada met Germany in the windup of the day's competition.

Christian, in performing his hat trick, scored a goal in each of the three periods.

He got the Yanks off to a running start with the first goal of the game after three minutes on an assist from his brother, Billy, and the Americans quickly surged to a 4-0 lead.

The Swedes came back in the second period with two goals but Christian halted the rally by ramming in his second goal near the end of the period after his brother, Billy, had missed a shot.

The third came at 13:38 of the last period.

The other American goals were made by Robert McVey of Hamden, Conn.; Paul Johnson of West Paul, Minn., and Bob Cleary of Westwood, Mass.

Goalie Jack McCartan of St. Paul, Minn., with 36 saves did a great job in the United States nets.

Konstantin Loktev, a 26-year-old veteran left-winger led the Russians' precision-passing attack with the three goal hat trick. Uri Tsitsinov and Veniamin Aleksandrove scored two apiece for Russia.

It was clean but hard - fought contest. When it was over, the players from the two communist lands slapped each other on the backs and shook hands.

Aaron Receives Salary Increase

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Henry Aaron, National League's batting leader agreed Monday to terms with the Milwaukee Braves at a salary increase estimated at $20,000.

The Mobile, Ala., slugger who won his second batting title last season agreed by telephone to a contract calling for more than $50,000.

Last year his salary was estimated at $37,500.

Aaron, 26, last year hit .355 and won the league's slugging title with a percentage of .634. He had 400 total bases. He also won the batting championship in 1956 with a .328 average.

Barry MacKay Beats Savitt For Net Title

Captures Five-Set Final In New York

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Big Barry MacKay outblasted Dick Savitt, 6-2, 2-6, 10-12, 6-1, 6-4 Monday and won the National Indoor Tennis Championship.

It was strictly a battle of big services and MacKay held the edge, especially in the last two sets when Savitt, a part-time player these days, appeared to wilt.

This was MacKay's second big victory over Savitt in the last eight days. A week ago Sunday he whipped Savitt in the final of the Buffalo indoor tournament.

Each of these power hitters smashed over ace after ace and in the end, MacKay had 23 and Savitt 28. But it was MacKay who was the steadier. He had the better of it when the ball was in play.

Savitt, from New York, is a two-time winner of the tournament, and lost the final last year to Alex Olmedo, who since has turned professional. Savitt won in 1952 and 1958 and knew every crack in the boards of the 7th Regiment Tennis Club.

In the first set there were two breaks by MacKay — in the second and eighth games. At that time, it looked as though Savitt was going to go down in a hurry. He wasn't covering the court and many of his returns were mere setups for MacKay.

But at the start of the second set, Savitt must have given himself a talking to because he broke MacKay's delivery in the first game and again in the seventh.

Point Standings For Olympics

SQUAW VALLEY (UPI) — The unofficial point standings in the Winter Olympic games (points are awarded on the basis of 10 for a first place, 5 for a second, 4 for a third, 3 for a fourth, 2 for a fifth and 1 for a sixth):

State Police Asked To Find Parsons Couple

Isners, Rosemary, Missing For Week

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Department of Public Assistance Director Thomas R. Egbert may decide Tuesday to ask State Police to find Forrest and Edith Isner, missing from their Parsons home with their three - year - old foster child, Rosemary, for one week.

The Isners, their 13-year-old daughter, Linda, and Rosemary drove away Monday night, three days after Gov. Cecil H. Underwood ordered the DPA to take steps to find new adoptive parents for the little girl.

The disappearance was confirmed Friday night by Egbert who said officials did not know whether the Isners were merely on a vacation trip or planning to take up residence in another state in a last-ditch attempt to retain custody of the child.

The Isners, who obtained foster-home custody of the child since she was one-week old, have been trying to gain permanent custody for many months. After a long court struggle, the Supreme Court ordered them to return the child to the DPA for adoption.

The Isners appealed to Underwood who Feb. 12 sided with the high court and ordered the DPA to start preparing Rosemary for separation from the Isners.

Egbert said the Isners apparently cooperated with a case worker Monday in attempting to condition the child for separation from the couple which has cared for her since she was one week old.

However, a close friend of the Isners said Mrs. Isner took Underwood's long - awaited decision "pretty hard." Commenting on the disappearance, the friend said, "I would have done the same thing."

Some of the states officials believe the Isners may have gone where an uncle of Mrs. Isner's resides: Tennessee, residence of Mrs. Isner's father, and California, where one of the Isners' married daughters lives. There also was speculation that the couple might have gone to Washington, D. C., the home of another married daughter.

Egbert said if the Isners were merely on a trip, no charges would be brought because technically they had not broken any DPA regulations. However, it was not determined whether kidnaping or other charges would be filed against the couple if located in another state and refused to return.

LONACONING — The case o James Henry McKenzie, 14-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Josep Ralph McKenzie, 76 West Mai Street, is living proof that th Allegany - Garrett County Hea Association is helping to provi new hope for young hearts.

Young McKenzie, best know to his relatives and friends a "Jim Boy," was classed as blue baby at the time of hi birth January 4, 1946. He wa not considered a typical blu baby as he was born without th right ventricle in his heart. Th blue color was observed on hi hands, head and feet.

When the youngster was thre years and nine months old, i October 1949, he was taken t Johns Hopkins Hospital in Balti more for the fifth time and two specialists who had become fa mous for their operations upon blue babies, Dr. Helen B. Taus sig and Dr. Alfred Blalock, per formed a four-hour operation upon the tot. The surgery in volved transfer of the main artery of his right arm which provided a near-normal function for the boy's circulatory system.

Just 30 minutes after the operation, his lips were returning to their natural pink color.

The Allegany-Garrett Heart Association came to the assistance of the young Lonaconing boy in November 1957 when it began supplying him with his daily needs of penicillin.

On July 12 of this year, Jim Boy has a date to return to the Johns Hopkins Hospital for another operation which Mrs. McKenzie says will involve the main artery of the heart.

The fourth of the McKenzies' six children, Jim Boy is now in the seventh grade of St. Joseph's School in Midland. His health is not strong but he is able to live a very normal life. His heart difficulty affected his vision with the result that the sight of his right eye is very poor. He has undergone three different operations upon his eye at the Wilmer Eye Clinics of Johns Hopkins Hospital. The youngster also was born with a broken arm, which has added to his difficulties.

The oldest of the six McKenzie children suffered rheumatic fever at the age of 17 years. However, she is now Mrs. Everett Spiker Jr., 22 years old and the mother of two children.

Mrs. Ora Mae Lewis, executive secretary of the Allegan-Garrett Heart Association, pointed out yesterday that no one in Maryland need go without heart surgery for lack of funds. Just as arrangements will be made to take care of the cost of Jim Boy's upcoming operation, so will it be done with others lacking the funds.

Mrs. McKenzie has helped with a number of previous Heart Fund drives because of her personal interest in the program but illness will prevent her from doing so this year. She urges all of her friends and neighbors to remember the case of her Jim Boy and give generously to the Heart Fund. Heart Sunday will be observed throughout the two counties February 28.

Bad Weather Interrupts YWA Focus Week

FROSTBURG — A skit entitled "Presentation of YWA Ideals" was the introduction to the annual observance of YWA Focus Week by the Young Woman's Missionary Auxiliaries at First English Baptist Church this past week emphasizing the aid of "Putting the 'Miss' in Missions."

The Anne Hasseltine YWA for girls of college age was honored at a covered dish supper Monday evening at which time the auxiliary held its first meeting of organization with Mrs. Mary Virginia Alderton, co-counselor in charge, assisted by Mrs. Doris Ward, YWA director.

The Annie Armstrong Circle was in charge of the meal and is fostering the group by supplying literature for it. Election of officers was held for the coming year.

The high school YWA, which has been active for many years, filled the week with many activities, such as: Monday and Wednesday afternoons, and Tuesday night, the girls met to work on several projects now under way. New Storm May Miss W.Va. Area

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—U. S. Weather forecasters said Monday a new southwest storm center may miss West Virginia on its northward trek.

But, the forecasters said chances are instead of snow it will bring rain in southern West Virginia Wednesday, and a mixture of snow and rain over the northern half of the state.

The next 12 hours will determine what's in store for West Virginia, the forecasters said at 4 p.m. Monday. Earlier they had said the Mountain State would likely be in for another good dousing of snow Tuesday afternoon.

But this forecast was altered when the storm suddenly became stationary Monday morning. Until it begins moving there is no sure way of predicting its course.

Meanwhile, a high pressure system over much of the eastern part of the nation. It sent temperatures in the upper 30s in West Virginia Monday resulted in much of the, snow remaining from last Thursday's storm to melt.

State Road Commission spokesman said main highways in the state were clear. But he cautioned a temperature drop Monday night might leave icy spots where melted snow had run across highways. State Police urged motorists to drive with caution.

Commercial transportation in the state was back at a near normal run Monday. Only air line schedules into Elkins were cancelled. There snow drifts remained on the runways.

All but one of the 23 counties closing schools last Friday as a result of the storm opened their doors Monday. Summers County education leaders said students would resume their studies Tuesday.

Spokesmen for light and telephone companies in the state said the major portion of service disrupted by the storm had been restored. Only in isolated instances were lines still down.

State Police Asked To Find Parsons Couple

Isners, Rosemary, Missing For Week

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Department of Public Assistance Director Thomas R. Egbert may decide Tuesday to ask State Police to find Forrest and Edith Isner, missing from their Parsons home with their three - year - old foster child, Rosemary, for one week.

The Isners, their 13-year-old daughter, Linda, and Rosemary drove away Monday night, three days after Gov. Cecil H. Underwood ordered the DPA to take steps to find new adoptive parents for the little girl.

The disappearance was confirmed Friday night by Egbert who said officials did not know whether the Isners were merely on a vacation trip or planning to take up residence in another state in a last-ditch attempt to retain custody of the child.

The Isners, who obtained foster-home custody of the child since she was one-week old, have been trying to gain permanent custody for many months. After a long court struggle, the Supreme Court ordered them to return the child to the DPA for adoption.

The Isners appealed to Underwood who Feb. 12 sided with the high court and ordered the DPA to start preparing Rosemary for separation from the Isners.

Egbert said the Isners apparently cooperated with a case worker Monday in attempting to condition the child for separation from the couple which has cared for her since she was one week old.

However, a close friend of the Isners said Mrs. Isner took Underwood's long - awaited decision "pretty hard." Commenting on the disappearance, the friend said, "I would have done the same thing."

Some of the states officials believe the Isners may have gone where an uncle of Mrs. Isner's resides; Tennessee, residence of Mrs. Isner's father, and California, where one of the Isners' married daughters lives. There also was speculation that the couple might have gone to Washington, D. C., the home of another married daughter.

Egbert said if the Isners were merely on a trip, no charges would be brought because technically they had not broken any DPA regulations. However, it was not determined whether kidnaping or other charges would be filed against the couple if located in another state and refused to return.

Luke Paper Mill Worker Honored On Retirement

Lonaconing Youngster Is Living Proof Heart Fund Benefits Cardiac Victims

JAMES H. McKENZIE

LONACONING — The case of James Henry McKenzie, 14-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ralph McKenzie, 76 West Main Street, is living proof that the Allegany - Garrett County Heart Association is helping to provide new hope for young hearts.

State Road Commission spokesman said main highways in the state were clear. But he cautioned a temperature drop Monday night might leave icy spots where melted snow had run across highways. State Police urged motorists to drive with caution.

Commercial transportation in the state was back at a near normal run Monday. Only air line schedules into Elkins were cancelled. There snow drifts remained on the runways.

All but one of the 23 counties closing schools last Friday as a result of the storm opened their doors Monday. Summers County education leaders said students would resume their studies Tuesday.

Spokesmen for light and telephone companies in the state said the major portion of service disrupted by the storm had been restored. Only in isolated instances were lines still down.

Lonaconing Episcopalians Will Host Youth Assembly

LONACONING—St. Peter's Episcopal Church will be host parish for The Allegany Assembly of Young People on Sunday, March 6. Approximately 100 young people and their sponsors are expected to attend the evening service and meeting at 4 p. m.

Refreshments will be served and a program will be held in the parish house following the church service and meeting.

Rev. Leslee E. Schwindt, vicar of St. Peter's Church, will attend the Diocesan Clergy Retreat at Claggett Center, Buckeystown, February 25 and 26. Rev. H. Martin P. Davidson, rector of St. John's Church, Frostburg, will be leader of this Retreat.

Advisory Board meeting was held Friday, in the parish house. It was decided to change their meeting time to the second Sunday of each month after the 10 a. m. service.

A covered dish dinner will be held in the parish house Wednesday, after the Holy Communion service for Feast Day of St. Mathias at 6 p. m.

Mrs. Herbert P. Staup and Mrs. Roland C. Staup are hostesses for the February card party of the Women of St. Peter's. Bridge and 500 will be played tonight at 8 o'clock in the parish house. This will be the final party sponsored by the women until after Easter.

Well Baby Clinics Held Twice Month At Westernport

WESTERNPORT — Well Baby Clinics will be held at Westernport Health Center the first and second Tuesdays of each month from 9 a. m. to noon, according to Mrs. Marie Fromhart, county health nurse.

The babies are given physical examinations at these clinics. Immunization and booster shots of polio vaccine are also given to pre-school children.

The Allegany County Lay Health Group will meet today at 8 p. m. in the recreation room of the Labor Temple, 125 South Liberty Street, Cumberland.

Members who wish to attend are requested to call Mrs. Thomas Whelan. A social period for cards and games will follow the meeting.

Surplus Foods To Be Distributed

FROSTBURG — Distribution of surplus food to persons in the Frostburg area will be made at the National Guard Armory there on Wednesday between 2 and 4 p. m., according to Grant A. Wiebel, supervisor of the donable foods program in the county.

Wiebel said the food had been scheduled to be distributed last Friday but the big snowstorm prevented all but half a dozen people from getting to the Armory. There are several hundred persons eligible in the Frostburg area.

11 Keyser Musicians Attend Band Clinic

KEYSER — Eleven members of the Keyser High School band, selected by Nunzio Barbera, director, attended a band clinic Friday and Saturday in Charles Town.

Participants were N. Ernest Barbera, William Athey and Ralph Bailey, trumpets; John Niner, trombone; Robert Welling and Martha Jo Keller, percussion; Janet Summers, June Brown and Ervin Fink, saxaphones; Carol Machamer, baritone, and Vicki Kephart, horn.

Teen Club Plans Swimming Party

FROSTBURG — The Teen Club of Braddock Playground met a recent evening at the home of Mrs. George Hochard. Fred Davis presided at the business session. Plans were made to hold a swimming party Saturday from 6 to 10:30 p. m. at the YMCA in Cumberland. Tickets may be purchased from Wilda Spiker, Freddy Davis or Mrs. Hochard.

An officers meeting will be held today at 7 p. m.

Card Club Meets

MT. SAVAGE — The GN Card Club of Calla Hill met recently at the home of Mrs. Edith Lancaster. Refreshments were served and prizes were won by Mrs. Rosemary Melvin, Mrs. Mary Greene and Mrs. Freda McKenzie. Mrs. Vivian Mullaney and Mrs. Melvin were guests. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Thelma Green, March 10.

Lions To Entertain

WESTERNPORT — Tri-Towns Lions Club will hold a Ladies Night dance for the members and their guests Friday evening February 26 at Jake's Place.

Elks Arrange Bowling Match

FROSTBURG — The Frostburg Lodge No. 470, BPO Elks will be host to the Cumberland Elks at a bowling match to be held at Chuckles Bowling Alley Saturday at 7 p. m. All Elks should meet at the bowling alley. Later in the evening a dance will be held in the Star Lite room of the Elks Home.

Miss Baer Pledged To College Sorority

FROSTBURG — Anna Grace Baer, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Adam Baer, Frost Avenue, pledged into Chapter Alpha Pho of the Alpha Gama Delta International Sorority at Temple University this week. Miss Baer is in her first year of dental hygiene at Temple. She attended Juniata College for her preprofessional college work.

Judy Marshall Marks Birthday

LONACONING — A birthday dinner was held to honor Miss Judy Marshall on her twentieth birthday, Thursday evening at her home.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Bradley Marshall served the guests a baked ham dinner at their home on West Main Street. A Valentine bouquet of rer roses decorated the room.

Guests included Miss Rosalie Llewellyn, Miss Sandy Dillon, Mrs. Florence B. Johnson, Miss Sally Kelly and Miss Barbara Ann Mowbray.

Entertains Dorcas Class

ELLERSLIE — Dorcas Bible Class met at the home of Mrs. B. F. Hartman. Miss Lillian Cook was in charge of devotions and gave a reading from the Upper Room — "What Am I Doing With My Life," and read the prayer. Donation was given on the movie projector. Eighty-five dollars was realized from the recent dinner. Refreshments were served to 10 members by Mrs. Marie Simpkins and Mrs. Anna Lowery.

Prepare For Trip To England

Mrs. Carl Beachy, 92 Hill Street, and her two children, Dawn, age two and one-half years, and Chris, age one year, are pictured looking toward luggage prepared for their departure Monday for England where they will join Airman 1/C Carl Beachy, who is stationed at R.A.F. Alconbury, Huntingdonshire. The Beachy family will be stationed in England for 3 years. Mrs. Beachy is the former Miss Connie Hamilton, daughter of Mrs. Lillian Dando Hamilton, with whom she has been residing, and Benjamin Hamilton, Oldtown. Her husband is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Beachy, Grantsville.

Woman To Woman

By PATRICIA MCCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — A new primer on fashion faces up to differences in padding and bone structure among American females.

The booklet, "How To Be Well Dressed", contains fashion tips for the tall, the short, the plump and the thin woman.

It even considers the women who are extra-long-waisted with short legs and the ones who are the reverse — extra-short-waisted with long legs.

The primer is part of an extensive and long range community service program of basic fashion education started by the International Ladies Garment Workers Union.

Authors of the high fashion primer for all American women are Eleanor Lambert and Diane Papert. Miss Lambert, fashion authority, is the woman who originated the "ten best dressed" sweepstakes in the female fashion field.

Specifications Outlined

Capsuled, here's what the experts prescribe for women of specific body types:

If you are tall—proportion your height with a longer jacket, tunic or three-quarter length coat, a wide belt or a bold color contrast. In-between prints are for you, not too bold, but never tiny. Don't resign yourself to flat shoes. A moderate heel is more becoming to legs and morale.

If you are short—think "tall" and wear vertical lines with the emphasis high—say a broad white collar or a bright scarf. High hats and heels are good buildups. Slim skirts, single color outfits, accessories scaled to your size, short jackets and rather short skirts are good. Best if your belt matches, and keep it narrow.

If you are plump — you'll only bulge out below and above if you squeeze in your waist. Thick tweeds and gaudy prints fatten. If your neck is short, gravitate to the new collarless coats and suits, wear earrings and an upswept hairdo, but no necklace. Tailored lines, dark colors, unshiny fabrics, conservative dark - ground prints are best for you. Flared skirts will flatter you more than straight ones, but keep hipline narrow and smooth. Avoid round or oval necklines, puff sleeves and sleevelessness.

Emphasize Simplicity

If you are extra-long - waisted with short legs — concentrate the interest of your costume above the bosom. A white collar, a draped neckline, a colored yoke, a bright scarf accomplish this. Wide belts and sashes, deep set-in waistbands all give a "rise" to the waistline and make the legs look longer.

If you are extra-short - waisted with long legs—the slimmer skirt or the full skirt without petticoats looks more elegant and more balanced. Use every device to give yourself a lengthened torso: the fitted bodice that moulds past the waist to the hipbone, the low set-in belt, the skirt that drapes to one side.

Regardless of your build, the experts urge you to remember that simplicity is a key consideration when striving for the "best-dressed" look.

"The fussy costume is as out-of-date, as indigestible, as the ten course dinner," authorities Lambert and Papert said.

School Bus Marker Asked

Members of the Mayor and Council yesterday agreed with a local resident who said Queen City Transit Lines vehicles used exclusively by children going to and from schools should be plainly marked.

The suggestion was made by Calvin S. Keiter, 601 Bedford Street, who said he meant the proposal for safety's sake and not as a criticism of Queen City's service. The transit line buses for schools take on no other passengers and students are charged a special fare, it was pointed out.

Water Commissioner G. Ray Light said he thought it a matter for the Allegany County Board of Education to decide but Mayor J. Edwin Keech added that if buses are designated for school children only they should be marked.

Mr. Keiter said if the buses are not marked, automobiles would not, in his opinion, be required to stop while the buses are loading and unloading as is required for regular school vehicles under state law.

Chief of Police B. Frank Gaffney said all such regulations are covered by state law and the transit company must mark its buses used for school purposes. As for complying with the stop law when loading or unloading, he said it would be a matter of common sense to stop when children are crossing a road or highway after leaving a bus, marked or unmarked.

UAR Makes Charge

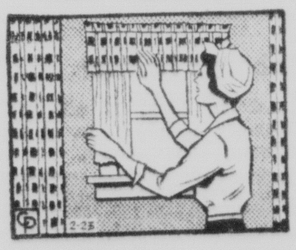

GAZA, UAR (UPI)—The United Arab Republic has charged that nine Israeli planes violated Gaza's air space on Thursday.

The charge was disclosed indirectly in an announcement that United Nations observers and Egyptian officers conducted an investigation.

To Inspect Refineries

MILAN, Italy (UPI)—Moroccan Premier Ibrahim Abdullah arrived here to inspect a number of Italian oil refineries.

WIFE PRESERVERS

A small window can often be curtained to match a large one by making a valance for it from any extra material in the hem of the large pair of curtains. Use a blending solid color for the small curtains and a valance for the big windows.

Says Unions Support

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell says Vice President Richard M. Nixon has "very strong" support from rank-and-file union members.

Mitchell also declared that he was not a candidate for the No. 2 spot on the Republican ticket with Nixon, unchallenged GOP contender for the presidential nomination.

"I think with the rank-and-file of labor the vice president, because of his tremendous prestige; carries a great deal of weight, in spite of the opposition personally of some of the labor leaders," Mitchell said.

Leaves For Vienna

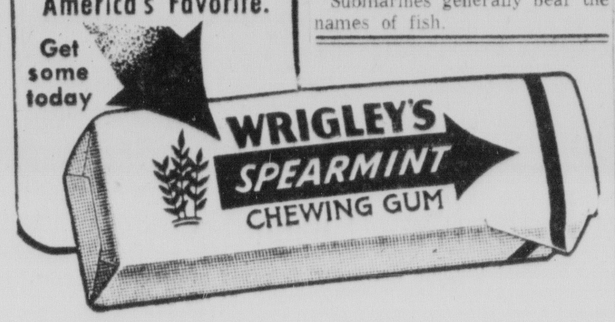

VARAZDIN, Yugoslavia (UPI)—Franz Cardinal Koenig of Vienna, injured here in a motor crash Feb. 13, left Monday by helicopter for Vienna and further medical treatment.

Cardinal Koenig was seriously injured while traveling to Zagreb for the funeral of Aloysius Cardinal Stepinac.

THE LITTLE WOMAN

"Look, isn't that the nice accountant who saved you all that money on your income tax last year?"

Hollywood

I must say she doesn't seem to be bothered by her layoff.

Now she says she's fascinated by the role Dick Powell is talking to her about in "Big River, Big Man". She'd play a fiery Mexican girl who murders three people, and since she's already mastered the accent required, all she has to do is practice up on mayhem.

The conception of Julius Caesar as rotund, not too attractive, is completely untrue says Walter Wanger who has been doing a lot of research. Caesar was a sexy boy and is said to have fathered a child by Cleopatra, according to Walter. He has been trying to get Larry Olivier for the role of Caesar in his "Cleopatra", so you can see how Wanger and Rouben Mamoulian, the director, picture the great Roman.

I had heard that Michael Rennie was wanted for the role. "We have talked to a number of people," said Walter "but we're hoping to get Olivier."

Producer Charlie Brackett is increasingly amazed by the interest aroused in his tongue-in-cheek treatment of science-fiction in "Journey to the Center of the Earth." Such intellectuals as Aldous Huxley, Christopher Isherwood and others have written long letters, but the pay-off came from Romain Gary, French consul and novelist (he wrote "Lady L").

Gary writes Charlie in great detail protesting the killing of the duck near the end of the picture and tells how the duck's life could have been spared. This gives Charlie a feeling of guilt—but not too much since the movie is cleaning up.

Funny man, caustic, cynical Henry Morgan, is changing his luck by joining the "Murder, Inc." company. Bert Balaban, who is making this underworld tale for 20th, has persuaded Morgan to play Burton Turkus, the assistant district attorney who wrote the inside story of this operation of gangland's greats.

With May Britt playing Stuart Whitman's wife, casting of the principal roles is completed.

Woman To Woman

By PATRICIA MCCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — A new primer on fashion faces up to differences in padding and bone structure among American females.

The booklet, "How To Be Well Dressed", contains fashion tips for the tall, the short, the plump and the thin woman.

It even considers the women who are extra-long-waisted with short legs and the ones who are the reverse — extra-short-waisted with long legs.

The primer is part of an extensive and long range community service program of basic fashion education started by the International Ladies Garment Workers Union.

Authors of the high fashion primer for all American women are Eleanor Lambert and Diane Papert. Miss Lambert, fashion authority, is the woman who originated the "ten best dressed" sweepstakes in the female fashion field.

Specifications Outlined

Capsuled, here's what the experts prescribe for women of specific body types:

If you are tall—proportion your height with a longer jacket, tunic or three-quarter length coat, a wide belt or a bold color contrast. In-between prints are for you, not too bold, but never tiny. Don't resign yourself to flat shoes. A moderate heel is more becoming to legs and morale.

If you are short—think "tall" and wear vertical lines with the emphasis high—say a broad white collar or a bright scarf. High hats and heels are good buildups. Slim skirts, single color outfits, accessories scaled to your size, short jackets and rather short skirts are good. Best if your belt matches, and keep it narrow.

If you are plump — you'll only bulge out below and above if you squeeze in your waist. Thick tweeds and gaudy prints fatten. If your neck is short, gravitate to the new collarless coats and suits, wear earrings and an upswept hairdo, but no necklace. Tailored lines, dark colors, unshiny fabrics, conservative dark - ground prints are best for you. Flared skirts will flatter you more than straight ones, but keep hipline narrow and smooth. Avoid round or oval necklines, puff sleeves and sleevelessness.

Emphasize Simplicity

If you are extra-long - waisted with short legs — concentrate the interest of your costume above the bosom. A white collar, a draped neckline, a colored yoke, a bright scarf accomplish this. Wide belts and sashes, deep set-in waistbands all give a "rise" to the waistline and make the legs look longer.

If you are extra-short - waisted with long legs—the slimmer skirt or the full skirt without petticoats looks more elegant and more balanced. Use every device to give yourself a lengthened torso: the fitted bodice that moulds past the waist to the hipbone, the low set-in belt, the skirt that drapes to one side.

Regardless of your build, the experts urge you to remember that simplicity is a key consideration when striving for the "best-dressed" look.

"The fussy costume is as out-of-date, as indigestible, as the ten course dinner," authorities Lambert and Papert said.

School Bus Marker Asked

Members of the Mayor and Council yesterday agreed with a local resident who said Queen City Transit Lines vehicles used exclusively by children going to and from schools should be plainly marked.

The suggestion was made by Calvin S. Keiter, 601 Bedford Street, who said he meant the proposal for safety's sake and not as a criticism of Queen City's service. The transit line buses for schools take on no other passengers and students are charged a special fare, it was pointed out.

Water Commissioner G. Ray Light said he thought it a matter for the Allegany County Board of Education to decide but Mayor J. Edwin Keech added that if buses are designated for school children only they should be marked.

Mr. Keiter said if the buses are not marked, automobiles would not, in his opinion, be required to stop while the buses are loading and unloading as is required for regular school vehicles under state law.

Chief of Police B. Frank Gaffney said all such regulations are covered by state law and the transit company must mark its buses used for school purposes. As for complying with the stop law when loading or unloading, he said it would be a matter of common sense to stop when children are crossing a road or highway after leaving a bus, marked or unmarked.

Says Unions Support

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell says Vice President Richard M. Nixon has "very strong" support from rank-and-file union members.

Mitchell also declared that he was not a candidate for the No. 2 spot on the Republican ticket with Nixon, unchallenged GOP contender for the presidential nomination.

"I think with the rank-and-file of labor the vice president, because of his tremendous prestige; carries a great deal of weight, in spite of the opposition personally of some of the labor leaders," Mitchell said.

Two City Crews To Speed Street Program Here

Will Fill Holes, Do Light Surface Work

Plans for expediting the beginning of a long-range street construction and resurfacing program were made yesterday as Street Commissioner John J. Long conferred with heads of the Engineering department.

Definite plans were made for proceeding this spring on a program of resurfacing 11 aging streets and for getting a number of other streets in the Mapleside section "out of the mud."

Meeting with Mr. Long to discuss the program were C. R. Nuzum, city engineer; Franklin J. Blaney, assistant engineer — sanitation, and Carl Rickard, assistant engineer — streets and planning.

Plans were made for Street Department crews to repair, with like materials, and to level holes in the streets which are to be resurfaced.

Will Keep Ahead

This Street Department crew will work well ahead of the contractor who gets the award for applying the two-inch course of blacktop during the resurfacing work. Officials estimate another inch of blacktop will be needed in leveling the streets.

Officials believe that the plan to use city forces to fill holes will result in a considerable saving of money, since contractors would be hard put to bid on patching work, since there is no way to know how much must be done until a hole is dug out.

Considerable labor is involved, as crews will have to dig out the holes, replace the base and then level the area with concrete or blacktop.

Street Work Set

Mr. Long told the engineers that the Street Department wants another crew to move in to surface streets, chiefly in the Mapleside section.

He said light surface treatment will be used on the streets, along with a rolled curb and gutter built of blacktop. Avondale Avenue has been selected as the first street to be so treated.

Mr. Long asked the engineers to prepare a list of dirt streets which will be suitable for light surfacing, with costs shared 50-50 between property owners and the city.

Use Every Dollar

The Street Commissioner said he plans to use every available dollar for the light surfacing work, and hopes to "do a lot of it."

He explained that it is urgent that something be done for citizens on some of the streets, who have been paying city taxes for up to 30 years and are still living on unimproved streets.

Mr. Blaney was asked to make a study of catch basins, sewers or inlet structures on the streets which are to be improved this year, so sewer crews can do any needed construction or repair work before contractors move in.

At Mr. Long's request, Mr. Nuzum has informed all utilities of the streets which are to be improved, and asked them to make any needed improvements or line installations in advance.

Power and telephone officials have advised they have no construction or repair plans on the streets and the gas company will report back as soon as its engi-

Award Presented By Firemen

Edgar J. Young, assistant fire chief of the LaVale Volunteer Fire Company, Saturday night was named "fireman-of-the-year" during the 27th annual dinner held in the fire hall. However, because of illness, he was hospitalized and unable to attend the presentation. Shown above left to right are Ralph M. Race, Frostburg, toastmaster at the dinner, Henry F. Wintermeyer, president of the fire company, who accepted the plaque from Fire Chief James Loar, right. Second from the right is E. Wade Thomas, of Keyser, assistant fire marshal of West Virginia, who was guest speaker. About 70 volunteers and members of the Auxiliary unit attended the dinner program. Fire Chief James Loar gave the annual fire report.

Flying Group Discusses Plan For May Rally

Cross Country Event Proposed

The Cumberland Flying Association discussed plans for a cross-country rally the latter part of May when they met recently at the Municipal Airport at Wiley Ford.

George Nash, special activities chairman, said that prizes will be awarded for precision flying based on aircraft manufacturers specifications. Points will be awarded for various phases of the rally and then totaled to determine the prize winners.

Edward Roberson presented to the group for examination a flight plan and flight log sheet for use in the cross-country planning. He prepared plans and decided to have copies made available for local and transient pilots. The plans are a tabulation of pertinent facts, useful in cross-country flying. They will be available at the next meeting at the airport.

In the absence of William C. Holbrook, chairman, Dr. W. Royce Hodges, E. V. Rosenmarkle and Dr. Robert K. Poling made some suggestions on the procurement of radio equipment at the airport for use in learning weather data prior to planned flights from here.

The equipment will be further discussed at the next meeting at 7:30 p. m. March 17 at which time films from the Air Force and Piper Aircraft Corporation will be shown.

An educational committee chairman was named and his function will be to procure speakers and educational materials for future meetings.

The recent meeting was conducted by Eugene M. Light, chairman. Two films, "Air Traffic Control," an Air Force flim and "To Save a Life," furnished by the Aircraft Owners and Pilots Association, were shown to the 24 members present.

Scout Executive Board Meets Today

The executive board of Potomac Council, Boy Scouts, will meet today at 7:30 p. m. at the new headquarters, 417 North Mechanic Street.

A guest of the meeting will be James H. Gelwicks, national director of activities for Boy Scouts. Mr. Gelwicks formerly served this area as a representative from Region III in Philadelphia, Pa.

Optimists Meet Today

The Optimist Club of Bedford Road will hold a regular weekly dinner meeting this evening at the fire hall.

LaVale Assistant Chief Named 'Fireman Of Year'

Edgar J. Young, assistant fire chief of the LaVale Volunteer Fire Company, was named "fireman-of-the-year" during the 27th annual dinner held at the fire hall on Saturday night.

A member of the volunteer company for about four years, Mr. Young was selected primarily for his active work as chairman of the fire prevention committe. He was cited for putting many hours in fire prevention work and stressing the need for it to residents of the community.

Through his efforts, displays, posters, floats, demonstrations and inspections of the two schools were set up as part of the important phase of the fire company's activities.

He was instrumental in organizing the first Sparky unit in Maryland. Last year during the state firemen's convention in Ocean City, the Maryland State Volunteer Firemen's Association honored Mr. Young by presenting him with a trophy for best promotion of fire prevention in Maryland.

The LaVale Fire Company placed sixth in the nation in fire prevention for communities under 5,000 persons. The company also placed fourth in Maryland.

Guest speaker for the evening was E. Wade Thomas, of Keyser, assistant fire marshal of West Virginia. He compared volunteer firemen to a fish in a bowl in that the firefighters who are always in the public eye must be extremely careful of their actions and mannerisms as public servants.

Toastmaster was Ralph M. Race, who introduced the speakers including Albert Salvato, who is now fire prevention committee chairman.

In efforts to reach all residents of the community, Mr. Salvato and his committee plan to get assistance from the LaVale Civic Improvement Group, Boy Scouts, Lions Club, Parent-Teachers Association, churches and other organizations.

He said the aim of the committee is to have a fire-free month during each month of the year. The committee also aims to stress the importance of fire prevention to the community welfare.

Invocation was given by Rev. James Perry, pastor of the LaVale Methodist Church. Rev. Marius Elsener OFM. Cap., pastor of SS. Peter and Paul Church, gave the benediction. Fire Chief James Loar gave his annual report.

Guests included John J. Rowan, president of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners; County Commissioner William A. Wilson; Lloyd Buchanan, chairman of the LaVale Civic Improvement Group; members of the Allegany-Garrett Counties Volunteer Firemen's Association; and fire captains from volunteer companies in Frostburg, Bowling Green and Cresaptown.

Westbound B&O Track Is Opened

The westbound track of the B&O Railroad on the outskirts of Oakland, blocked by the derailment of two freight trains on Sunday afternoon, was expected to be reopened by last midnight.

It was not known when the eastbound track would be open. Both main tracks of the railroad were blocked when 66 cars derailed on the west end of the community. No one was injured.

The westbound National Limited (Train No. 1) which left Keyser at 9:58 p. m. and the Diplomat (Train No. 3) which left Keyser at 12:21 a. m. were scheduled to travel by way of Oakland although some delay was anticipated.

Last night Train Number 12 (eastbound) was rerouted by way of Grafton, W. Va., Fairmont, W. Va., and Connellsville, Pa., to Cumberland.

Beginning this morning eastbound trains are expected to go back on regular schedule and travel through Oakland on the westbound track until both main lines are opened.

Heavy snow drifts and cold weather hampered the efforts of wreck crews from Cumberland and Grafton, who were working to get the two lines reopened.

The two trains were passing each other when they sideswiped and derailed.

SA Leader Cites Aid To Travelers

The scope of the Salvation Army's program last Saturday in assisting snowbound and stymied travelers was explained to the SA's advisory board yesterday by Captain Fred Overton, commanding officer, at the board's monthly meeting at the Fort Cumberland Hotel.

Captain Overton and Lt. Richard McConniel were notified about 3 a. m. Saturday by city police that a number of westbound travelers had been turned back along U. S. Route 40 at Frostburg and needed lodgings.

Through the assistance of the Red Cross, which provided 16 disaster bunks, the Salvation Army was able to accommodate about 65 lodgers the rest of that night. More than 100 meals, breakfast and lunch, were served Saturday at the Citadel by the Home League Ladies.

Capt. Overton and Lt. McConniel Saturday morning loaded their station wagon with coffee and sandwiches and headed west on Route 40 to aid the snowbound travelers. They finally reached Longstretch in Garrett County about 2 p. m. and provided coffee and sandwiches for many persons who had been stranded in their cars.

The Salvation Army officer pointed out that Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Layman, who reside along Route 40 in Garrett County, had fed a number of travelers and housed eight of them in their home overnight.

The two officers were on the job more than 12 hours before finally returning home.

Water Use Normal

Water consumption averaged 14,930,000 daily last week, Franklin J. Blaney, assistant city engineer and superintendent of the Lake Gordon filter plant, told the Mayor and Council yesterday. Several inches of water was flowing over both Lake Gordon and Lake Koon.

Light Snow Again Falls In Garrett

Main Highways Are Open For Travel

A light snow began falling in Garrett County by late afternoon yesterday, but weary road crews are hopeful it will not amount to much as the work of digging out from last week's paralyzing storm is nearly completed.

State Road Commission officials recalled their crews at the close of the work day yesterday and reported all main highways are open to two-way traffic in Western Maryland.

A small amount of "touching up" will complete the ob of opening the principal roads in Garrett County, SRC spokesmen said, adding that U.S. Route 40 is clear and that neither chains nor snow tires are recommended now for travel over the principal east-west artery throughout the county.

Some secondary roads still have patches of packed snow where snow treads might be necessary, the SRC said, but the principal task now facing work crews is the widening of the highways. Route 495 between Grantsville and Swanton was the last highway to be cleared for travel. Paul DeWitt of Oakland, county roads supervisor, said last night that more than 90 per cent of the Garrett County secondary roads are open, although many still are available for "one-way traffic only," but he added that the county road crews are maintaining a 24-hour schedule in an effort to clear the highways.

The light snowfall hasn't caused any addtional trouble, Mr. DeWitt pointed out, but the county department is girding itself for the possibility of another bad storm.

The main task remaining ahead for the crews is the widening of most of the secondary roads and the clearing of certain small back roads which are still clogged with huge drifts.

Winds which caused considerable drifting during the main storm last weekend have died down and no new drifting is reported, Garrett officials said. The county still has 32 trucks, eight graders, two blowers and nine bulldozers working to clean up the snow blanket.

A bright sun and rather moderate temperatures were helpful in improving all major traffic conditions. Garrett County had a low of seven yesterday morning, but a high of 28 degrees was recorded in the afternoon.

In West Virginia and Pennsylvania all main thoroughfares were reported open and traffic was back to normal. All stranded persons who were stopped by the heavy snowfall have moved on, officials said, noting that traffic on U.S. 50 over Allegheny Front and on the Pennsylvania Turnpike is back to normal.

Cumberland had a trace of snow early yesterday morning. Temperatures ranged from a low of 24 to a high of 35 in the Queen City and the forecast is for continued cold and clearing weather in this area.

Police Check Number Of Minor Thefts

City Police are investigating two burglaries and a number of minor thefts which occurred over the weekend.

Detective Thomas See said the Cumberland Lodge 271, Loyal Order of Moose, on Beall Street and Viola's Restaurant, 213 Valley Street, were broken into Monday morning.

The officer said the intruders entered the Moose Home by breaking a glass door on the second floor, went to the first floor and smashed two coin machines. Officials reported about $10 in cash and a box of cigars missing.

The restaurant on Valley Street was broken into through a second-floor window. Approximately $10 in cash was taken there also, police said.

Other complaints received included:

Robert Rosamond, 9 Ashbury Avenue, LaVale, reported someone stole two hubcaps and two rear view mirrors from his automobile. The items are valued at $20.

Frederick Hillebrecht, 312 Washington Street, told police someone took two full-size disc hubcaps from his car, valued at $32.

John Walley, 129 Elder Street, reported that a pair of eye glasses and two flashlights are missing from his car which was parked in the rear of the Masonic Temple. He estimated his loss at $70.50.

Police also were told that a city dump truck, housed in Constitution Park, was damaged with two front headlights smashed, the windshield broken and the wiring pulled loose from the dashboard and rear lights.

Police said last night no new leads have been turned up in the cases.

Conservation Stamp Will Be Issued April 18

Water—one of life's most necessary resources—will be featured by a new commemorative postage stamp that will be issued at the seventh National Watershed Congress in Washington, D. C., on April 18.

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield, Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson, Secretary of the Interior Fred A. Seaton and other prominent national figures will participate in the stamp issuance ceremony to help focus public attention on the dependence of the country and its people on water resources.

The new three-color four cent stamp will be the latest addition to the series of conservation commemorative stamps issued by the Post Office. Earlier stamps depict wildlife and soil conservation themes.

Hundreds of thousands of requests for first-day covers of the new stamp—both on plain envelopes and on the "official" envelope with the water resources design—will be received from stamp collectors and others interested in stamps and in water resources.

A postal substation will be set up in the watershed congress headquarters, the Statler-Hilton Hotel, to handle the requests and to cancel the stamps with a special cancellation device that will be used only in Washington on the first day of issue. The stamps will go on sale in other post offices across the country on the following day, April 19.

The two-panel stamp will portray a closeup view of a drop of water falling upon a leaf, symbolizing watershed influences upon water supply. This design will lead the eye to the right-hand panel which will depict an actual watershed panorama, showing a town and farm in the foreground, dependent on an upstream watershed with its contour-plowed farm and forest lands for flood protection and water storage.

Gov. Tawes' Forces Stand Firm Twice

By LOUIS G. PANOS

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The Senate thwarted two attempts at compromise by amendment tonight and gave tentative approval to the administration bill to give veteran Maryland teachers a $300-a-year raise.

The vote came after a 90-minute debate including mention of the sword of Damocles, Ebenezer Scrooge, Pickett's charge at Gettysburg and Abraham Lincoln.

In the end Gov. Tawes' forces held, defeating one compromise amendment by a 20-8 vote and the next by 22-7 margin.

The measure is similar to a House bill already passed by that chamber and now under consideration by the Senate Finance Committee.

Opponents of the $4,300,000-a-year administration bill acknowledged defeat in their efforts to pass a rival measure which had been fostered by the Maryland State Teachers Assn. and would have cost about four times as much.

Sen. Edward S. Northrop (D-Montgomery), majority floor leader, shepherded the administration bill to semi-final approval with assistance from Sen. William S. James (D-Harford), head of a study committee which drafted it.

They insisted the State was in no position to commit itself to the more costly measure or to either of the compromise proposals.

Sen. John Parran Jr. (D-Charles), supporter of the first of these, called it "a sincere attempt . . . to accomplish a realistic compromise" and a step toward meeting the shortage of teachers.

It would have provided increases for all teachers, ranging from an average of $213 per teacher in Baltimore County to $497 in Calvert.

James declared this amendment was patently unconstitutional because, even though it delayed the effective date of the teacher-pay raise until July 1, 1961, it was an appropriation measure. Such a measure, he noted, cannot be constitutionally acted upon until the Legislature has considered the budget.

When the amendment was dumped by a 21-7 vote, Sen. Harry T. Phoebus (R-Somerset) offered a new proposal. This would have given a $200-a-year increase to all teachers not covered by the $300-a-year increase provided in the administration bill for those with at least 10 years of experience.

Sen. Aaron Baer (D-Balto 5th), explaining his vote against the Parran amendment, said he did not believe that "the Sword of Damocles will fall down on those who have the temerity to vote for the James bill and against this amendment."

Baer also declared he refused to believe those would cast Gov. Tawes in the role of "an Ebenezer Scrooge" on teacher-pay legislation. He said he was convinced the governor was supporting the best plan consistent with sound fiscal policy.

Sen. Robert P. Dean (D-Queen Annes) used Pickett's charge at Gettysburg to explain his vote, saying he believes history has taught it is better "to run and come back to fight again next year."

Abraham Lincoln was dragged into the debate by Phoebus, who told of a "freckle-faced boy" he met during the weekend. He said the youngster looked like the great emancipator, but was actually a teacher who complained to the senator about having only $12 to last him until the end of the month.

Last House Bill Would Up Salaries

160th Proposal This Session

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The last bill introduced in the House of Delegates Monday night before restrictions were imposed would double the salary of legislators, subject to approval by the voters in November.

The 160th bill received by the House was introduced by Democratic Dels. Lee and Cook of Montgomery County. It calls for the legislative salaries up from $1,800 to $3,600 a year starting in 1963.

From now until the end of the session scheduled for March 3, bills may be introduced in either the House or Senate only with permission of three-fifths of the members.

The eager delegates wasted no time in invoking the rule for permission. Two more bills were introduced as soon as the House convened for its night session, bringing the total number to 162.

The 162 bills in the House so far are 17 more than at the previous 30-day session in 1958. The 121 in the Senate are 25 fewer than two years ago.

The lowest number ever received since the 30-day session was inaugurated in 1950 was 103 in the Senate and 115 in the House. That was in 1952.

Boyd Payton Will Install TWUA Officers

Thomas To Take Oath As President

Boyd E. Payton, Carolinas director of the Textile Workers Union of America, AFL-CIO, will function as installing officer when newly elected officers of Celanese Local 1874 are sworn into office here Thursday night.

The ceremony will be held at 8 p. m. and mark the first installation to be held in the union's new headquarters at 418 North Centre Street.

Mr. Payton was employed in the Chemical department of the Amcelle plant for 17 years and served for a period as president prior to his employment as a field representative of the TWUA in 1942.

He is an elected vice president of the TWUA and has served in the positions of Upper South director and Southern Regional director of the TWUA, and resides in Charlotte, N. C., where he has his headquarters.

Mr. Payton will be accompanied by James A. Blackwell, a member of the Educational division of the TWUA's Southern division. He was stationed in Cumberland for a number of years while serving as a TWUA field representative.

Heading the Celanese union officers who will be obligated is John G. Thomas, who early this year was returned to office for his fourth term as president.

James Stewart, vice president, will be beginning his second term in that office and Charles F. Davis will begin his sixth term as secretary-treasurer. Francis Harvey will be beginning his 12th term as warden.

Also to be installed are six members of the Executive board, Stanley Morgan, Floyd Grady, Robert Blair, James Filsinger, Mrs. Lillian Burch and Carl Ryan, and the five trustees, Homer Schade, James McGann, Robert Jones, William Donahue and Earl Walker.

House Defers Final Ballot

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Opponents of reapportionment of the Maryland House tried again Monday night to force a final vote on the issue and failed.

Del. Hanna (D-Wicomico) wanted to know why the bill wasn't on the passage calendar after having passed second reading last Friday.

Speaker Wilkinson (D - Prince Georges) said he was advised by the chief clerk that it wasn't in the required printed form and wouldn't be until Tuesday.

Hanna then asked if there was a handwritten version in the House that might be substituted. Del. Del. Merryweather (D-Dorchester) said he "happened" to have one.

Del. Mandel D - Balto 5th) promptly moved that a vote be delayed until Tuesday. His motion prevailed 66-43 and the decision was put off a day.

The House did pass stricter mandatory penalties for hit-run drivers. The bill sent to the Senate would increase the mandatory minimum for 30 days to 3 years. It now is 30 days to one year.

The House also gave final approval to a bill to reduce from 20 to 10 days the notice of application by a voter for an absentee ballot.

Two City Crews To Speed Street Program Here

Will Fill Holes, Do Light Surface Work

Plans for expediting the beginning of a long-range street construction and resurfacing program were made yesterday as Street Commissioner John J. Long conferred with heads of the Engineering department.

Definite plans were made for proceeding this spring on a program of resurfacing 11 aging streets and for getting a number of other streets in the Mapleside section "out of the mud."

Meeting with Mr. Long to discuss the program were C. R. Nuzum, city engineer; Franklin J. Blaney, assistant engineer — sanitation, and Carl Rickard, assistant engineer — streets and planning.

Plans were made for Street Department crews to repair, with like materials, and to level holes in the streets which are to be resurfaced.

Will Keep Ahead

This Street Department crew will work well ahead of the contractor who gets the award for applying the two-inch course of blacktop during the resurfacing work. Officials estimate another inch of blacktop will be needed in leveling the streets.

Officials believe that the plan to use city forces to fill holes will result in a considerable saving of money, since contractors would be hard put to bid on patching work, since there is no way to know how much must be done until a hole is dug out.

Considerable labor is involved, as crews will have to dig out the holes, replace the base and then level the area with concrete or blacktop.

Street Work Set

Mr. Long told the engineers that the Street Department wants another crew to move in to surface streets, chiefly in the Mapleside section.

He said light surface treatment will be used on the streets, along with a rolled curb and gutter built of blacktop. Avondale Avenue has been selected as the first street to be so treated.

Mr. Long asked the engineers to prepare a list of dirt streets which will be suitable for light surfacing, with costs shared 50-50 between property owners and the city.

Use Every Dollar

The Street Commissioner said he plans to use every available dollar for the light surfacing work, and hopes to "do a lot of it."

He explained that it is urgent that something be done for citizens on some of the streets, who have been paying city taxes for up to 30 years and are still living on unimproved streets.

Mr. Blaney was asked to make a study of catch basins, sewers or inlet structures on the streets which are to be improved this year, so sewer crews can do any needed construction or repair work before contractors move in.

At Mr. Long's request, Mr. Nuzum has informed all utilities of the streets which are to be improved, and asked them to make any needed improvements or line installations in advance.

Power and telephone officials have advised they have no construction or repair plans on the streets and the gas company will report back as soon as its engi-

Police Check Number Of Minor Thefts

City Police are investigating two burglaries and a number of minor thefts which occurred over the weekend.

Detective Thomas See said the Cumberland Lodge 271, Loyal Order of Moose, on Beall Street and Viola's Restaurant, 213 Valley Street, were broken into Monday morning.

The officer said the intruders entered the Moose Home by breaking a glass door on the second floor, went to the first floor and smashed two coin machines. Officials reported about $10 in cash and a box of cigars missing.

The restaurant on Valley Street was broken into through a second-floor window. Approximately $10 in cash was taken there also, police said.

Other complaints received included:

Robert Rosamond, 9 Ashbury Avenue, LaVale, reported someone stole two hubcaps and two rear view mirrors from his automobile. The items are valued at $20.

Frederick Hillebrecht, 312 Washington Street, told police someone took two full-size disc hubcaps from his car, valued at $32.

John Walley, 129 Elder Street, reported that a pair of eye glasses and two flashlights are missing from his car which was parked in the rear of the Masonic Temple. He estimated his loss at $70.50.

Police also were told that a city dump truck, housed in Constitution Park, was damaged with two front headlights smashed, the windshield broken and the wiring pulled loose from the dashboard and rear lights.

Police said last night no new leads have been turned up in the cases.

Award Presented By Firemen

Edgar J. Young, assistant fire chief of the LaVale Volunteer Fire Company, Saturday night was named "fireman-of-the-year" during the 27th annual dinner held in the fire hall. However, because of illness, he was hospitalized and unable to attend the presentation. Shown above left to right are Ralph M. Race, Frostburg, toastmaster at the dinner, Henry F. Wintermeyer, president of the fire company, who accepted the plaque from Fire Chief James Loar, right. Second from the right is E. Wade Thomas, of Keyser, assistant fire marshal of West Virginia, who was guest speaker. About 70 volunteers and members of the Auxiliary unit attended the dinner program. Fire Chief James Loar gave the annual fire report.

Flying Group Discusses Plan For May Rally

Cross Country Event Proposed

The Cumberland Flying Association discussed plans for a cross-country rally the latter part of May when they met recently at the Municipal Airport at Wiley Ford.

George Nash, special activities chairman, said that prizes will be awarded for precision flying based on aircraft manufacturers specifications. Points will be awarded for various phases of the rally and then totaled to determine the prize winners.

Edward Roberson presented to the group for examination a flight plan and flight log sheet for use in the cross-country planning. He prepared plans and decided to have copies made available for local and transient pilots. The plans are a tabulation of pertinent facts, useful in cross-country flying. They will be available at the next meeting at the airport.

In the absence of William C. Holbrook, chairman, Dr. W. Royce Hodges, E. V. Rosenmarkle and Dr. Robert K. Poling made some suggestions on the procurement of radio equipment at the airport for use in learning weather data prior to planned flights from here.

The equipment will be further discussed at the next meeting at 7:30 p. m. March 17 at which time films from the Air Force and Piper Aircraft Corporation will be shown.

An educational committee chairman was named and his function will be to procure speakers and educational materials for future meetings.

The recent meeting was conducted by Eugene M. Light, chairman. Two films, "Air Traffic Control," an Air Force flim and "To Save a Life," furnished by the Aircraft Owners and Pilots Association, were shown to the 24 members present.

Scout Executive Board Meets Today

The executive board of Potomac Council, Boy Scouts, will meet today at 7:30 p. m. at the new headquarters, 417 North Mechanic Street.

A guest of the meeting will be James H. Gelwicks, national director of activities for Boy Scouts. Mr. Gelwicks formerly served this area as a representative from Region III in Philadelphia, Pa.

Optimists Meet Today

The Optimist Club of Bedford Road will hold a regular weekly dinner meeting this evening at the fire hall.

LaVale Assistant Chief Named 'Fireman Of Year'

Edgar J. Young, assistant fire chief of the LaVale Volunteer Fire Company, was named "fireman-of-the-year" during the 27th annual dinner held at the fire hall on Saturday night.

A member of the volunteer company for about four years, Mr. Young was selected primarily for his active work as chairman of the fire prevention committe. He was cited for putting many hours in fire prevention work and stressing the need for it to residents of the community.

Through his efforts, displays, posters, floats, demonstrations and inspections of the two schools were set up as part of the important phase of the fire company's activities.

He was instrumental in organizing the first Sparky unit in Maryland. Last year during the state firemen's convention in Ocean City, the Maryland State Volunteer Firemen's Association honored Mr. Young by presenting him with a trophy for best promotion of fire prevention in Maryland.

The LaVale Fire Company placed sixth in the nation in fire prevention for communities under 5,000 persons. The company also placed fourth in Maryland.

Guest speaker for the evening was E. Wade Thomas, of Keyser, assistant fire marshal of West Virginia. He compared volunteer firemen to a fish in a bowl in that the firefighters who are always in the public eye must be extremely careful of their actions and mannerisms as public servants.

Toastmaster was Ralph M. Race, who introduced the speakers including Albert Salvato, who is now fire prevention committee chairman.

In efforts to reach all residents of the community, Mr. Salvato and his committee plan to get assistance from the LaVale Civic Improvement Group, Boy Scouts, Lions Club, Parent-Teachers Association, churches and other organizations.

He said the aim of the committee is to have a fire-free month during each month of the year. The committee also aims to stress the importance of fire prevention to the community welfare.

Invocation was given by Rev. James Perry, pastor of the LaVale Methodist Church. Rev. Marius Elsener OFM. Cap., pastor of SS. Peter and Paul Church, gave the benediction. Fire Chief James Loar gave his annual report.

Guests included John J. Rowan, president of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners; County Commissioner William A. Wilson; Lloyd Buchanan, chairman of the LaVale Civic Improvement Group; members of the Allegany-Garrett Counties Volunteer Firemen's Association; and fire captains from volunteer companies in Frostburg, Bowling Green and Cresaptown.

Westbound B&O Track Is Opened

The westbound track of the B&O Railroad on the outskirts of Oakland, blocked by the derailment of two freight trains on Sunday afternoon, was expected to be reopened by last midnight.

It was not known when the eastbound track would be open. Both main tracks of the railroad were blocked when 66 cars derailed on the west end of the community. No one was injured.

The westbound National Limited (Train No. 1) which left Keyser at 9:58 p. m. and the Diplomat (Train No. 3) which left Keyser at 12:21 a. m. were scheduled to travel by way of Oakland although some delay was anticipated.

Last night Train Number 12 (eastbound) was rerouted by way of Grafton, W. Va., Fairmont, W. Va., and Connellsville, Pa., to Cumberland.

Beginning this morning eastbound trains are expected to go back on regular schedule and travel through Oakland on the westbound track until both main lines are opened.

Heavy snow drifts and cold weather hampered the efforts of wreck crews from Cumberland and Grafton, who were working to get the two lines reopened.

The two trains were passing each other when they sideswiped and derailed.

SA Leader Cites Aid To Travelers

The scope of the Salvation Army's program last Saturday in assisting snowbound and stymied travelers was explained to the SA's advisory board yesterday by Captain Fred Overton, commanding officer, at the board's monthly meeting at the Fort Cumberland Hotel.

Captain Overton and Lt. Richard McConniel were notified about 3 a. m. Saturday by city police that a number of westbound travelers had been turned back along U. S. Route 40 at Frostburg and needed lodgings.

Through the assistance of the Red Cross, which provided 16 disaster bunks, the Salvation Army was able to accommodate about 65 lodgers the rest of that night. More than 100 meals, breakfast and lunch, were served Saturday at the Citadel by the Home League Ladies.

Capt. Overton and Lt. McConniel Saturday morning loaded their station wagon with coffee and sandwiches and headed west on Route 40 to aid the snowbound travelers. They finally reached Longstretch in Garrett County about 2 p. m. and provided coffee and sandwiches for many persons who had been stranded in their cars.

The Salvation Army officer pointed out that Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Layman, who reside along Route 40 in Garrett County, had fed a number of travelers and housed eight of them in their home overnight.

The two officers were on the job more than 12 hours before finally returning home.

Water Use Normal

Water consumption averaged 14,930,000 daily last week, Franklin J. Blaney, assistant city engineer and superintendent of the Lake Gordon filter plant, told the Mayor and Council yesterday. Several inches of water was flowing over both Lake Gordon and Lake Koon.

Light Snow Again Falls In Garrett

Main Highways Are Open For Travel

A light snow began falling in Garrett County by late afternoon yesterday, but weary road crews are hopeful it will not amount to much as the work of digging out from last week's paralyzing storm is nearly completed.

State Road Commission officials recalled their crews at the close of the work day yesterday and reported all main highways are open to two-way traffic in Western Maryland.

A small amount of "touching up" will complete the ob of opening the principal roads in Garrett County, SRC spokesmen said, adding that U.S. Route 40 is clear and that neither chains nor snow tires are recommended now for travel over the principal east-west artery throughout the county.

Some secondary roads still have patches of packed snow where snow treads might be necessary, the SRC said, but the principal task now facing work crews is the widening of the highways. Route 495 between Grantsville and Swanton was the last highway to be cleared for travel. Paul DeWitt of Oakland, county roads supervisor, said last night that more than 90 per cent of the Garrett County secondary roads are open, although many still are available for "one-way traffic only," but he added that the county road crews are maintaining a 24-hour schedule in an effort to clear the highways.

The light snowfall hasn't caused any addtional trouble, Mr. DeWitt pointed out, but the county department is girding itself for the possibility of another bad storm.

The main task remaining ahead for the crews is the widening of most of the secondary roads and the clearing of certain small back roads which are still clogged with huge drifts.

Winds which caused considerable drifting during the main storm last weekend have died down and no new drifting is reported, Garrett officials said. The county still has 32 trucks, eight graders, two blowers and nine bulldozers working to clean up the snow blanket.

A bright sun and rather moderate temperatures were helpful in improving all major traffic conditions. Garrett County had a low of seven yesterday morning, but a high of 28 degrees was recorded in the afternoon.

In West Virginia and Pennsylvania all main thoroughfares were reported open and traffic was back to normal. All stranded persons who were stopped by the heavy snowfall have moved on, officials said, noting that traffic on U.S. 50 over Allegheny Front and on the Pennsylvania Turnpike is back to normal.

Cumberland had a trace of snow early yesterday morning. Temperatures ranged from a low of 24 to a high of 35 in the Queen City and the forecast is for continued cold and clearing weather in this area.

Conservation Stamp Will Be Issued April 18

Water—one of life's most necessary resources—will be featured by a new commemorative postage stamp that will be issued at the seventh National Watershed Congress in Washington, D. C., on April 18.

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield, Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson, Secretary of the Interior Fred A. eaton and other prominent national figures will participate in the stamp issuance ceremony to help focus public attention on the dependence of the country and its people on ater resources.

The new three-color four cent stamp will be the latest addition to the series of conservation commemorative stamps issued by the Post Office. Earlier stamps depict wildlife and soil conservation themes.

Hundreds of thousands of requests for first-day cover: of the new stamp—both on plain envelopes and on the "official" envelope with the water resources design—will be received from stamp collectors and others interested in stamps and in water resources.

A postal substation will be set up in the watershed congress headquarters, the Statler-Hilton Hotel, to handle the requests and to cancel the stamps with a special cancellation device that will be used only in Washington on the first day of issue. The stamps will go on sale in other post offices across the country on the following day, April 19.

The two-panel stamp will portray a closeup view of a drop of water falling upon a leaf, symbolizing watershed influences upon water supply. This design will lead the eye to the right-hand panel which will depict an actual watershed panorama, showing a town and farm in the foreground, dependent on an upstream watershed with its contour-plowed farm and forest lands for flood protection and water storage.

Mr. Payton will be accompanied by James A. Blackwell, a member of the Educational division of the TWUA's Southern division. He was stationed in Cumberland for a number of years while serving as a TWUA field representative.

Heading the Celanese union officers who will be obligated is John G. Thomas, who early this year was returned to office for his fourth term as president.

James Stewart, vice president, will be beginning his second term in that office and Charles F. Davis will begin his sixth term as secretary-treasurer. Francis Harvey will be beginning his 12th term as warden.

Also to be installed are six members of the Executive board, Stanley Morgan, Floyd Grady, Robert Blair, James Filsinger, Mrs. Lillian Burch and Carl Ryan, and the five trustees, Homer Schade, James McGann, Robert Jones, William Donahue and Earl Walker.

House Defers Final Ballot

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Opponents of reapportionment of the Maryland House tried again Monday night to force a final vote on the issue and failed.

Del. Hanna (D-Wicomico) wanted to know why the bill wasn't on the passage calendar after having passed second reading last Friday.

Speaker Wilkinson (D-Prince Georges) said he was advised by the chief clerk that it wasn't in the required printed form and wouldn't be until Tuesday.

Hanna then asked if there was a handwritten version in the House that might be substituted. Del. Del. Merryweather (D-Dorchester) said he "happened" to have one.

Del. Mandel D-Balto 5th) promptly moved that a vote be delayed until Tuesday. His motion prevailed 66-43 and the decision was put off a day.

The House did pass stricter mandatory penalties for hit-run drivers. The bill sent to the Senate would increase the mandatory minimum for 30 days to 3 years. It now is 30 days to one year.

The House also gave final approval to a bill to reduce from 20 to 10 days the notice of application by a voter for an absentee ballot.
